U. S. 1st Army Bursts Thru Siegfried Line in New Sector

PATTON DRIVES INTO REICH ON 24 MILE FRONT

Crosses Two Rivers at 10 Points.

PARIS, Feb. 7 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Patton's United States 3d army thrust elements of four divisions across the Our and Sure rivers into Germany from Luxemburg at 10 places on a 24 mile front today.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' United States 1st army burst thru the last main zone of the Siegfried line defenses in the Olef river sector near Schleiden. This gave the allies their second puncture of the permanent Siegfried line defenses in the central sector of the western front.

First army doughboys, moving up in a heavy rain, cracked the Siegfried emplacements' innermost belt by capturing Hellenthal, two and one-half miles southwest of Schleiden and pouring across the Olef.

Cross at Several Points.

The 3d army's four divisions which made the river crossings into Germany were the 5th infantry, the 17th air borne, infantry of the 6th armored, and the 80th infantry. Some of these divisions crossed at several different points along the two rivers forming the Luxemburg-Germany boundary and resistance varied greatly.

On the north the 80th division took the town of Bettel, on the Sure river 4½ miles northeast of Diekirch. The river there was about 135 feet wide in contrast with its normal 50 to 60. Mud along both banks hampered operations.

The 80th made another crossing just northwest of the German town of Wallendorf against stronger artillery fire. In both crossings many assault boats were lost, but more were swept away by the swift current than were lost to enemy fire.

The 5th division, crossing the Sure in the Echternach-Bollendorf area, met the heaviest resistance and made the day's biggest penetration by the 3d army, one mile.

Draw Are Around Pruem.

Third army forces already in Germany also exploited the breach they had made in the Siegfried line's permanent works east of St. Vith, making gains of a mile southeastward thru the Schnee Eifel hills and taking Wascheid, three and one-half miles north of the strongpoint of Pruem.

These forces formed an arc around Pruem as close as three miles on the west down to seven miles away on the southwest with the capture of Hollnig.

On the United States 1st army front the 78th infantry division repulsed two small German attacks and advanced within some 500 yards of Schmidt and were about two miles north of the Schwammenuel dam, largest of the reservoirs controling the Roer river waters. The Urft dam, second largest, has been captured by the Americans who also control the nearby Paulushof dam.

Offensive Shaping Up.

The deepest of the Siegfried line's permanent fortifications in that area are between Schmidt and the Roer.

The American 1st and 3d armies in the 12th army group under Lt. Gen. Bradley thus were already thru the German's most vaunted permanent defenses at two points besides the original 35 mile wide Aachen gap, and standing at or inside the line's concrete emplacement zone for another 10 miles.

The allies appeared to be mounting an offensive to smash Germany's western defenses, which Hitler has weakened by troop shifts to the eastern front.

On the Alsatian front, American 3d infantry division troops operating under French 1st army command, stormed and took the old Rhine river fortress city of Neuf Breisach, taking more than 1,200 prisoners and clearing the Rhine bank for five miles to the south.

Reveal Vital Role of 2 Dams in Nazi Plans

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

Two Roer river dams, one of which the American 1st army has captured and the other which it is nearing, form an important part of Germany's western defenses. They have constituted one of the most difficult obstacles faced by American commanders.

As long as the Germans held the dams, about 25 miles south of Juelich, they were able to control the height and flow of the Roer, which made crossing of the last natural barrier before the Cologne plain hazardous. Thus when the vanguards of the American 9th and 1st armies reached the lower Roer along a 50 mile front, they were halted to await the destruction or capture of the dams. The delay allowed Field Marshal Von Rundstedt time to mount his Ardennes offensive.

The story of the two dams, and their far reaching effects upon American strategy has been cloaked in secrecy for months on the order of Lt. Gen. Bradley, commander of the 12th army group.

One Built by Hitler.

The smaller of the two and farthest upstream is the Urft dam which the Americans now hold. It was built in 1904 and was one of the engineering marvels of Europe. It is 160 feet high, built of stone capped with concrete, and erbated a picturesque lake six miles long with 45 million metric tons of water. [The metric ton is 2,200 pounds.]

The second dam, the Schwammenuel, two miles downstream to the north, was built under Hitler's regime and is an example of the manner in which the German command began preparations more than seven years ago for a war in which the borders of the reich might be defended by something other than concrete and steel fortifications. The dam is 800 feet thick at the base and 180 feet high with a concrete core over which were pyramided millions of tons of earth. The dam backs up 110 million metric tons of water.

Yesterday's battle front reports said 1st army troops had driven within two miles on the north of the dam.

Has Explosive Chambers.

The dam, as in the case of similar structures built under Hitler, is equipped with explosive chambers to facilitate its destruction for defensive purposes.

The capture of German maps and studies of the dams gave the allied high command its first warning of the role the edifices might play in the fight to reach the Rhine.

It was obvious that the enemy could use the dams in two ways—if the 1st and 9th armies crossed the river, they could blow the dams and cause a flood certain to wash away American communications, leaving the bridgeheads across the stream at the mercy of German counterattacks. Or, by manipulation of the sluice gates, they could cause an unending series of small floods sufficient to wipe out temporary bridges, imposing an almost hopeless burden on the engineer units

REVOKE YANK'S DEATH PENALTY

Camp Roberts, Cal., Feb. 7 [Special].—The death sentence imposed by a court-martial last Saturday on Pvt. Henry Weber, 27, of Vancouver, Wash., for refusing to drill was revoked today and he was sentenced to dishonorable discharge from the army, to be followed by life imprisonment at hard labor.

Army sources said the commanding general at the camp had directed the court to reconsider its verdict and that it reconvened, revoked its initial judgment, and imposed the new sentence.

Death by hanging had been decreed originally for Weber, who was found guilty of violating the 64th article of war in refusing to obey an order of his superior officer to "shoulder that gun." Weber argued for 45 minutes with two officers, it was said, finally refusing to engage in drill and declaring he would rather be shot than take up arms.

Wife Protests.

Severity of the sentence brought repercussions in congress and drew protest from his wife, Mrs. Grace Weber of Vancouver, mother of their 3 year old son, who said her husband did not believe in killing his fellow man and had asked to be assigned to a medical unit. At Portland, Ore., where she conferred today with an American civil liberties official, Mrs. Weber termed her husband's new sentence "still outrageous, because he has committed no crime." She said she was "more determined than ever" to fight "for justice for my husband."

She explained that her understanding of the term "conscientious objector" is that it can refer "to any person whose deep personal convictions, either religious or political, are opposed to taking life.

Opposes Killing.

Had Henry received the proper information at the start, he should never have been inducted into the army at all, under these circumstances," she said.

Weber explained his objections to carrying arms in an interview yesterday with Ernest K. Bennett, a staff photographer for the Associated Press, who went to the camp to take a picture of him.

"I am interested in a world in which all men can live peaceably," Weber told Bennett. "To be a good soldier you have to learn to hate and to kill. I am willing to do anything I can to get the war over as long as I do not have to kill other people."

Quebec Legislature Convenes; Asserts Rights Under Crown

QUEBEC, Feb. 7 (AP).—French-speaking Quebec, at odds with most of the rest of Canada on the issue of conscription, convened its 22d legislature today with frequent reference to provincial autonomy.

Both in age-old ritual and in a statement of policy announced by the new Union Nationale government of Premier Maurice Duplessis, Quebec reasserted rights originally granted by the British crown and jealously observed today in the strife over the issue of drafting troops to fight abroad.

Opposes King Policies.

The Duplessis government, elected last August on a platform of provincial autonomy and of opposition to the wartime policies of dominion Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King's government in Ottawa, said in the traditional speech from the throne:

"In order to be able to give to both the provincial administration and legislature the family, social, and national orientation which the government proposes, it is necessary that the province be able to exercise in all their integrity the rights, prerogatives, and liberties recognized by the British North America act [counterpart of the American Constitution].

"The government considers that it belongs neither to a majority of the provinces, nor the Ottawa government, to bring changes to the Canadian constitution."

Speaks from Throne.

The speech added that the government "believes that administrative and legislative decentralization is the very essence of the federative pact, whereas centralization is in the nature of Hitlerism which is deeply repugnant to the province of Quebec."

On the British parliamentary pattern, also followed in the federal parliament in Ottawa but observed in such detail by none of Canada's eight other provinces, the government announced its policy and legislative program in an address from the throne read ceremoniously by the direct representative of King George VI., Lt. Gov. Eugene Fiset.

Bishops Attend.

Bishop Coadjutor Omer Plante and the Rt. Rev. Philip Carrington, lord bishop of Quebec, attended today's ceremony as representatives of the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches, respectively.

The ritual stresses the ancient authority of the British monarch as king of Canada, tho this in Canada, as in England, is largely symbolic today. The lieutenant governor, as representative of the king, summoned the assembly, representing the people, to appear before him.

The members of the lower house thereupon appeared before the lieutenant governor in the council chamber, but the speaker of the council, Alphonse Raymond, said to them in words unchanged thru the years:

"The honorable lieutenant governor does not see fit to declare the cause of his summoning the present session until the speaker of the legislative assembly shall have been chosen according to law."

Speaker Elected.

With these words the assembly members trooped back to their own chamber. Premier Duplessis nominated a speaker, Alexander Tache, and he was elected, but according to tradition he protested on the theory that he might suffer bodily harm at the hands of the king. This rite stems from the days of Charles I. of England, when the people's representatives were not always in favor at court.

Duplessis then walked over to Tache and, taking his arm, led him away toward the upper house, where he stood before the throne and said he would try to carry out his duties faithfully.

MANILA, Feb. 8 [Thursday]—(AP).—The fire ravaged business district of Manila has been cleared of Japanese demolition squads by Yanks now holding all the area north of the Pasig river, but American troops still are held up in the Pasay suburbs at the southeast edge of the city by continued resistance at Nichols field. Japanese artillery shelled northern Manila all day yesterday.

Gen. MacArthur announced the slow progress in a bulletin today which listed enemy casualties in the Luzon campaign at 48,000. American casualties for the corresponding four week period were reported as 7,076, including 1,609 killed.

The 1st cavalry and 37th divisions won all northern Manila and Quezon City.

Still Pockets in North.

Fred Hampson, Associated Press correspondent, relayed field reports stating there still were a few small pockets of the enemy in the north sector of Manila. He said Japanese troops were in the center of the city south of the Pasig and began burning part of it Wednesday. This district contains the Manila hotel, the Army and Navy club, the high commissioner's residence and other historic buildings.

[Arthur Feldman, Blue network correspondent, said American soldiers viewing the fire scarred sectors could be heard saying angrily, "O. K., if that's the way the Japs want to play, let's burn every city in Japan to the ground. Let the B-29s really go to work."]

The 11th airborne division still was mopping up in the vicinity of Nichols field.

All Bridges Blown Up.

All bridges across the Pasig river, which divides Manila, have been blown up by the enemy, MacArthur announced. This undoubtedly will hamper the American advance into

Nazis Ask for Swing Records

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, PARIS, Feb. 7 [Reuters].—Germans around the French Atlantic ports don't want to fight—all they want are some new Benny Goodman and Count Basie swing records.

Maj. Charles M. Parr came back from truce talks near St. Nazaire with this information which he attributed to a German air force lieutenant who "asked me if I could bring the records next time we held a parley."

Parr, who has had frequent contact with the Germans during the truce talks on the evacuation of civilians from the Lorient and St. Nazaire pockets, said the Germans complained when they were shelled, have front line distilleries and try to be friendly.

Want to Return as Heroes.

"The Germans there want to sit out this war," Parr said, "they want to keep alive until Germany is defeated, then return to the reich as heroes—the last members of the Wehrmacht to hold out."

A German captain, Parr said, wanted the allies to install a telephone line between a German office at St. Nazaire and an allied office at Nantes, so he could have a chat with the French or American commanders whenever any truce or other problems arose.

Fast Mail Service

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Feb. 7.—One hundred thousand German troops pocketed in western French ports get better mail service than American and French units besieging them. They receive mail deliveries from Germany four or five times weekly by plane. When they needed a throat specialist one was parachuted to them, but he proved to be of no use, because the parachute did not open.

The American 66th division and French troops, however, were constantly shelling and jabbing at the pockets, to kill as many as possible of the would be heroes, before Germany surrendered. Parr said:

"We concentrate on harassing and anti-personnel fire. At Lorient we look right down their throats. We pinpointed their movie theater and laid down concentrations, five minutes before and after the showing time of the big picture, to catch the crowds in the streets."

That, he said, forced the Germans to set up projectors in bunkers where only 50 could see the show at a time.

Main Battle for Berlin Is On, Say Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 8 [Thursday]—(AP).—Soviet troops, with seven bridgeheads over the Oder river a little more than 30 miles east and northeast of Berlin, have begun the main battle for the Nazi capital, German broadcasts indicated last night.

The Germans said the latest of the series of crossings in this key sector on the shortest route to Berlin, none of which has been confirmed by Moscow, was established south of the fortress city of Kuestrin yesterday, and from it the soviets began shelling the Berlin-Kuestrin railroad.

The nightly soviet war bulletin reported only that Marshal Zhukov's 1st White Russian army was mopping up the Germans east of the Oder and had captured nine towns, north and south of Kuestrin, including Guestebese, on the river's east bank 33 miles northeast of Berlin; Zaekerick, little less than five miles farther northwest, and Kunersdorf, three miles east of Frankfurt, scene of the great German defeat by the Russians in 1759.

Railway Under Shell Fire.

Moscow's bulletin announced that 15,460 prisoners had been taken on the eastern front Sunday and Monday, and that since Jan. 11 eight German generals had been killed, and five generals and four top ranking colonels had been captured.

More than 50 towns were taken in the westward drive in Silesia, the bulletin reported.

Yesterday's German high command announcement stated without elaboration that the Russians had been "able to widen a little" their bridgeheads both in Silesia and near Kuestrin.

German military commentators also turned their attention once more to Zhukov's right wing in Pomerania, announcing that Pyritz, 22 miles southwest of the Baltic port of Stettin, had been lost to the soviets and then regained, while Russian pressure continued on a 90-mile front extending eastward from Schwedt, 33 miles south of Stettin, thru Pyritz, Arnswalde, and Deutsch Krone.

Moscow was withholding news of this front even before it imposed silence on Zhukov's operations in the Kuestrin-Frankfurt sector.

Drive On in Silesia.

Marshal Konev's 1st Ukraine army in Silesia left the Oder river farther behind in its new offensive, which dispatches from Moscow said appeared to be aimed at clearing the valley of the upper Oder as far west as the Sudeten passes.

"This Russian drive seems to be aimed straight west," the German radio commented, "probably against the industrial area of Schweidnitz and Wuenschelburg." Schweidnitz is 42 miles west of Brieg and Wuenschelburg is 23 miles south of Schweidnitz on the Czechoslovak border.

There were no fresh German reports of the soviet bridgehead near Steinau, Silesia, which the Nazis announced they had evacuated. This still had not been confirmed by the Russians, but it was possible that a soviet force north of besieged Breslau might link up with forces southeast of the Silesian capital even before that city is captured.

Further advances in East Prussia and in besieged Budapest were reported by the Russian command.

10 Killed in Crash

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—Ten passengers, including six members of the British foreign office, were killed when a plane carrying some of Prime Minister Churchill's aids crashed while en route to the "big three" conference, it was announced tonight. Five passengers were listed as missing and presumed killed, and five others were injured. A woman typist, Miss P. M. Sullivan, was listed among those killed. Air Commodore H. A. C. Sanderson, of the air ministry, was listed among the injured. Those missing and believed killed were Capt. W. H. Finch, of the war office, and four crew members.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Premier Stalin, meeting in the Black sea area, have reached "complete agreement" on joint military operations for the windup of the war against Germany.

This was announced simultaneously today in Washington, London, and Moscow.

"Discussions of problems involved in establishing a secure peace have also begun," said the release issued here by the White House.

The first official disclosure made of the gathering of the big three listed these political questions now under consideration:

1. "Joint plans for the occupation and control of Germany."
2. "Political and economic problems of liberated Europe."
3. "Proposals for the earliest possible establishment of a permanent international organization to maintain peace."

Site Still a Secret.

There was no designation of the place of the historic gathering nor was there any indication of how long the conference would last.

But the fact that at this point a detailed declaration of subjects under discussion should be made indicated strong hopes among the conferees for a high degree of success.

Their purpose, the announcement said, "is to concert plans for completing the defeat of the common enemy and for building, with their allies, firm foundations for a lasting peace. Meetings are proceeding continuously."

It seemed entirely possible that Gen. De Gaulle of France might be asked to participate in discussions having to do with plans for the control of Germany. De Gaulle has assailed the failure to include France in international talks on the future of Europe.

The statement made it clear that the political discussions were just getting under way at the time it was dispatched and that left open the possibility of a call to the French leader.

Accompanied by Aids.

It was stated that the three chiefs of state are accompanied by their foreign secretaries, their chiefs of staff and other advisers.

It had already been known that Secretary of State Stettinius, Adm. William D. Leahy, Presidential chief of staff, and Harry Hopkins were with Mr. Roosevelt. His other advisers included James F. Byrnes, war mobilizer, a member of his official family.

The announcement's reference to the presence of chiefs of staff indicated that Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Adm. King, navy chief, also were participating in the talks.

Gen. Arnold, chief of the army air forces, is not among those present, however. He was disclosed today to have gone to a convalescent hospital to recuperate from overwork.

Several States on Sea.

While that part of the Black sea area in which the big three are meeting was not described, there had been speculation here that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill probably would go to a Russian place, because that would allow Stalin to continue his personal direction of the Red army offensive on the eastern front. Nevertheless, it must be remembered that Romania, Bulgaria, and Turkey also are on the Black sea.

"The President of the United States of America, the premier of the soviet union, and the prime minister of Great Britain, accompanied by their chiefs of staff, the three foreign secretaries and other advisers, are now meeting in the Black sea area.

"Their purpose is to concert plans for completing the defeat of the common enemy and for building, with their allies, firm foundations for a lasting peace. Meetings are proceeding continuously.

"The conference began with military discussions. The present situation on all the European fronts has been reviewed and the fullest information interchanged.

Agree on Blows at Nazis.

"There is complete agreement for joint military operations in the final phase of the war against Nazi Germany. The military staffs of the three governments are now engaged in working out jointly the detailed plans.

"Discussions of problems involved in establishing a secure peace have also begun. These discussions will cover joint plans for the occupation and control of Germany, the political and economic problems of liberated Europe, and proposals for the earliest possible establishment of a permanent international organization to maintain peace.

Hint Reich Breakup.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill was said tonight to have taken to the Big Three conference reports from inside the reich of possible disintegration in the northern sections of Germany both militarily and politically.

As a result of this information it was considered possible that the allied leaders had decided the time was ripe for launching massive assaults from the east and the west in an all-out, final, coördinated offensive to conclude the war now.

Churchill was expected also to urge the conference to postpone settlement of Europe's frontiers until France can be included in the deliberations.

A few hours before official disclosure that the conference is in progress, Minister of State Richard Law told the house of commons that Britain believed the question of new European boundaries "must be decided later by all powers together."

In Washington, D. C., Acting Secretary of State Joseph Grew reaffirmed the United States' "full realization of France's vital interest in the solution of the German problem and the part which France will inevitably play in maintaining the future peace."

Poland Biggest Problem.

Altho the big three entered the meeting more or less agreed on most frontier problems, especially those concerning the lopping off of German territory, the biggest issue remained Poland's borders.

Russia's extension of her frontier westward at the expense of Poland was expected to be discussed thoroly.

The proposal that France should sit in on future conferences was made when the question was raised by inquiry in commons whether the government indorsed what was quoted as "the official statement made by Gen. De Gaulle in Paris on Jan. 25 that both the east and west banks of the Rhine must belong to France."

Law replied that all accounts he had seen of De Gaulle's press conference on that date did not say both banks must belong to France. He said that the French provisional government leader had "referred only to the military occupation of certain areas by French forces."

HITLER TO QUIT, PAPEN TO RULE, SWEDEN HEARS

Report Fuehrer Will Be President.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 7 (AP).—Reports published here today said Hitler was planning to relinquish his dictatorship of Germany with a view to bidding for peace, and that Franz von Papen was scheduled to become chancellor, with Hitler as president.

Franz von Papen.

Possibly Nazi-inspired, the reports met an attitude of skepticism in informed quarters here. They were circulated by the Free German news service, which has not proved too reliable in the past.

Some observers said the reports sounded like trial balloons sent up to test allied reaction to a government so revamped.

Schacht to Head Finance.

The reports, printed by three Stockholm newspapers, also said Dr. Hjalmar Schacht would be finance minister and Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch minister of war.

Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank, was said to have been released a few days ago from prison where he had been reported held since July 24. Brauchitsch was among the German generals rumored executed after the July assassination attempt on Hitler.

Aftonbladet said Germany's government would be moved to southern Germany, perhaps to Dresden.

M'ARTHUR'S CENSORS HELP TO SPEED NEWS OF FALL OF MANILA

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 7.—American newspaper readers can thank Col. L. A. Diller, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's public relations officer, for the swift and complete coverage of the fall of Manila. Correspondents of the principal news agencies and two major newspapers, including THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, arrived in Manila with the first armored column at 7 p. m. Saturday.

They worked the remainder of the night gathering facts and pounding out their stories. On Sunday, however, they found communications to the rear had been cut by the Japs, leaving no way of getting the stories out. But a way was found. At 1 o'clock Monday night a courier reached headquarters and dumped a package containing all the stories on the desk of Maj. Earl Hoff, press censor. Maj. Hoff at once sensed the importance of the contents. He awakened Maj. Phil North, chief press censor, who called Col. Diller.

The colonel ordered every effort made for prompt clearance of copy. Censorship was done rapidly. Maj. North alone censored 18,000 words, making only a few deletions. Meanwhile a courier plane was ordered held in readiness to speed the copy to the rear for transmission. At 6 p. m. Monday, Manila time, the first flash went over the wireless.

Rocket Bombs Hit Jap Ship in Volcanos Convoy

MANILA'S BISHOP RECALLS THOSE DAYS IN CHICAGO

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 7.—Altho they made early abortive attempts to control the Filipinos' religious life by importing a bishop, priests, and nuns, the Nipponese never actively interfered with the practice of religion on Luzon, Archbishop Michael J. O'Doherty of Manila, said today.

The Jap clerics were ordered home in 1942 after they had proved unpopular with the Filipinos, the Archbishop said, adding: "I guess the people were fairly well satisfied with their own bishops."

The 70 year old churchman, whose American friends had been concerned over his personal safety, escaped death recently when an American bomb exploded in the bedroom of his palace. He chuckled over the occurrence which found him in safe quarters at the Manila Dominican seminary.

"I wasn't so vexed," he said. "There were five anti-aircraft guns right by my house and the area was a legitimate military target. My windows were blown out by an earlier bombing and friends talked me into moving."

Recalls Chicago Visit.

Archbishop O'Doherty recalled his visit to Chicago in 1930 when he went to the city hall to call on an old schoolmate, John Alcock, then chief of police.

"I made the call with the Rev. Michael Gilmartin, pastor of St. Anselm's church," he said. "We were received by several men whose duty apparently was to keep mendicant clergymen away from the chief. They wanted to know if we wouldn't talk to somebody else.

"But when I sent my card up things started happening fast. We were escorted thru lots of corridors and into Alcock's office. There we found all the captains lined up. The chief shook hands with me and then roared at the captains:

"'You guys wouldn't ever believe I went to school with the archbishop!'"

Vouches for Jap Priests.

The archbishop's relations with the Japanese were cool but scrupulously correct. Church usage compelled him to recognize Bishop Taguchi of Osaka, Japan, when the latter came to Manila. The bishop vouched for the three Japanese Catholic priests, four nuns, and 20 young women who went into the provinces to instruct the teaching sisters in Japanese which was compulsory in schools.

Radio Listening Forbidden.

"The news fast was the worst," the archbishop said. "We weren't allowed to listen to the radio and the only news we had came from the Manila Tribune, a Jap propaganda sheet."

He turned down insistent Japanese invitations to go to Baguio for "protection" as the American invasion was nearing. When the invitation was refused, the Japanese pressed their demand. It was suggested to them that kidnaping of a high church official would have a bad effect. "And you may be sure of that," the archbishop commented. The Japs withdrew their demand.

Marshal Antonescu's Wife Seized as War Criminal

SUPERFORTS HIT INDO CHINA AND THAILAND BASES

20TH BOMBER COMMAND HDQ., India, Feb. 7 (AP).—Winging out in strength on a double header mission, B-29s today hit Japanese targets at Saigon and destroyed the vital Rama VI bridge just west of Bangkok, which had carried the bulk of enemy supplies to Burma.

"Good to excellent" results were reported by bomber crews on the mission to erase the bridge. Bombing was visual and observed results will not be something to make Japanese commanders on the Burma fronts, already desperately short of supplies, rest easier.

The Rama VI bridge is a 1,400 foot long structure over the Menam river and is the most vital link in the Bangkok-Moulmein railroad. It was hit before by B-29s in a training mission, but was not put out of operation.

The bombing of Saigon was impeded by a sudden shift in weather which blanketed the target. Bombing results were not observed.

MOTHER HEARS MANILA YANKS SAVED HER SON

Another Chicago family had reassuring news yesterday regarding civilian internees in the Santo Tomas university prison at Manila, P. I. Mrs. Albert Doolan of 4427 Berkeley av., whose son, Roy G.

Doolan, 43; his wife, and 9 year old son, Roy Jr., are believed to be Santo Tomas internees, received a telephone call from the offics of the Standard Oil company in New York.

The official quoted a cable, sent by a Philippines representative of the firm that read: "All Socony people are well."

No specific mention was made of Roy or his family, but Mrs. Doolan said she believed he was among civilians rescued by American forces this week.

A. C. McArthur, president of the Maywood Bataan clan, sent a telegram yesterday to Vincent H. Spensley of Albuquerque, N. M., head of the Federated Bataan Clubs of America, urging that the national organization, thru its 39 local groups, arrange thanksgiving services in churches of all denominations next Sunday.

Japs Fight Australians Driving Into New Britain

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 7 [Reuters].—The Australian push north along the coast of New Britain is meeting strong opposition, said a report from New Guinea today. The Japanese are holding up the Australian advance northward along the west coast of Bougainville, but strong pockets of Japanese resistance have been wiped out in the swamps to the south.

MacARTHUR SEEN FAVORED FOR 'ON TO TOKYO' DRIVE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur's "On to Tokyo" cry has given rise to speculation among military people here that he may well get from President Roosevelt the assignment to invade Japan.

Actually the idea that the liberator of Manila probably would want to go beyond the Philippines has hit some of the ranking officers here as a bit surprising, but logical. It fits in with the indicated development of the final stage of the war to crush Japan.

Role Seen for Stilwell.

The task is three-fold: To keep command of the seas and the ocean supply lines leading to Japan and the China coast, to invade Japan, and to invade China.

The odds-on favorite for the China invasion assignment, despite his recent run-in with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, is Gen. Stilwell, the army's new ground forces commander. Stilwell knows the Chinese better than any other top flight American officer and is considered to be best equipped to plan the future grand scale operations in China.

But that assignment is a full time job that may continue, even assuming it starts first, long after the invasion of Japan. The Chinese and Japanese drives will be separate operations, raising entirely different problems of strategy and supply. This is why speculation now centers on MacArthur for the top role in what will be the climactic Pacific offensive.

Nimitz Third in Triumvirate.

The third of the leading characters is Adm. Nimitz, whose responsibilities are those of crushing what remains of the Japanese fleet while maintaining control of the seas to support the large land operations in the Philippines and elsewhere.

The development of the Pacific war now must depend to a greater degree than ever before on what happens in Europe. This is particularly true as to timing.

The conquest of all Luzon Island will make available to the Pacific command the large mass of land required for concentrating masses of men and supplies for the final move to crush Japan. But getting those masses of men to Luzon will be possible only after victory over Germany allows the release of American and allied forces from Europe.

Japanese shelling of northern Manila caused some injuries in the Santo Tomas internment camp where 3,700 internees were freed last Sunday. The internees crowded to the rear of buildings and huddled against walls and prayed that shell fire would not destroy their newly won freedom.

Army internee doctors and nurses attended the wounded in the camp hospitals. There was no immediate announcement of the number wounded, or their names.

Yank Artillery Replies.

American artillery in the distance replied to the Japanese fire, throwing shells into the area south of the Pasig river.

American bombers dropped a second load of 204 tons of bombs on Corregidor fortress. Many Japanese fleeing Manila are believed seeking refuge on the island.

MacArthur announced that Yank forces in the north made steady progress in cleaning the Japanese from the central Luzon plain in the San Jose-Lupao-Munoz area. He said his forward elements were operating near Rizal, on the eastern fringe of the plain nine miles southeast of captured San Jose.

M'ARTHUR BACK IN MANILA

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 7.—Gen. MacArthur came back to Manila today. Disdaining the role of victor, he rode quietly into the city he was forced to abandon in December, 1941. Few recognized him. Occasionally Filipinos would loose delighted shrieks and screaming crowds would form. But they were hushed by soldiers.

MacArthur's first act was to visit Bilibid prison, where hundreds of American soldiers died under Japanese mistreatment.

From there he went to Santo Tomas internment camp, where approximately 3,700 civilian internees were released by the first armored column to reach the city. Here he received a riotous demonstration—one girl even kissed him.

Flags Run Up.

American and Filipino flags were run up in his honor and an interned orchestra leader sounded colors on his trumpet. The tune had been hummed to him by an American officer.

[Another dispatch said a Jap shell exploded within 100 feet of MacArthur as he ended his visit to the camp.]

Accompanied by carbine-carrying generals and two jeeps, MacArthur toured Manila's streets. He found the asphalt paving badly pitted after three years of neglect. High tension wires were down and trolleys ran on disused tracks. Ragged and hungry people stood in front of burned buildings in the business district.

The general visited Malacanan palace, home of the Philippine president. For half an hour he walked thru the rooms of the palace, where he often had visited the late President Manuel Quezon before the war.

Sees Chicagoan in Action.

He strolled past burned-out Japanese cars and trucks on Aviles street toward Manila bay and watched while Pvt. Angelo Demopoulos of 3503 W. Chicago av., Chicago, and Pvt. Charles Hoerst of Cincinnati, O., fired mortars at the enemy across Pasig river.

He and his generals walked up as far as the barricade. Not a shot was fired. Half an hour later, however, the street was raked by Japanese bullets and a Filipino civilian was wounded.

ULSTER FIGHTS BRITISH RADIO SLUR ON WOMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 7.—After angry debate, the Northern Ireland house of commons has instructed the prime minister, Basil S. Brooke, to protest to the British Broadcasting corporation against a program in which a woman said women in Ulster "are looked upon by many men not only as inferiors but almost as property, part of farm stock, as it were."

Members of the North Ireland parliament said the broadcast, which was called "Wives as Chattels," was hostile and ill chosen. One added: "The talk was a libel on the women of Ulster. I wonder what the people of Britain will think about Ulster when they hear it suggested our wives and daughters are chattels?"

Friends Send Food to Manila Internees by 'Package Line'

SANTO TOMAS, MANILA, Feb. 8 [Thursday]—(AP).—When Santo Tomas internees wanted extra food, money or friends brought into the internment camp from outside, they passed the word to Bill Chittick, and he usually managed it.

Chittick, of Salem, Ore., was vice president and general manager of the Western Equipment and Supply company in Manila before the war. In the camp he held the job of running the front gate liaison and supervising the "package line"—a system thru which food and other things could be sent into the camp by friends, houseboys, and other servants.

Often the package line meant the difference between starvation and survival. But it was abolished by the Japanese army in February, 1944.

Throw Packages Over.

In the early days of the camp, outside friends and servants threw packages over the walls. Later the Japanese inaugurated the line and an inspection system. They examined the packages in conjunction with the representatives of the internees—Chittick and his crew.

In this position, Chittick was able to build up a pipe line and send food and clothing orders out sub rosa. The Japanese didn't greatly care so long as there were "no incidents at the gate."

The package line reached full flower in mid-1942 when 900 outsiders were sending supplies to internees. Most of the internees had unlimited credit.

Jap Guards Bribed.

As the food situation in Manila tightened, package line traffic lessened and restrictions mounted. It finally grew into a smuggling business, with Chittick and his coworkers operating on behalf of others. Bribery and cajolery of the Japanese guards was the best weapon.

Chittick thinks he managed to keep the line working because the Japanese get a kick out of beating their own rules. Often Chittick caught a guard pilfering and went in for polite blackmail to keep the precious system operating.

Among the internees assisting Chittick were two Chicagoans, Selmer Oftedahl, whose sister, Mrs. Laura T. Pedersen, lives at 1212 Fair Oaks av., Oak Park, and James Christensen, address not given, and Harold Davison of Milwaukee.

Will Be Sent Home

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—Gen. MacArthur has informed the war and state departments that persons liberated in the Philippines will come home as soon as the military situation permits.

MacArthur has also advised Washington that "he has taken all appropriate measures to provide for the welfare of all United Nations citizens [liberated] and that those relief measures will be continued thruout the period of military administration by the civil affairs authorities of the army."

IN MANILA 30 YEARS.

Members of Oftedahl's family said last night that he has been in Manila for 30 years as an executive of the Philippine Islands Telephone and Telegraph company. Believed to be with him in Santo Tomas prison are his wife and daughter, Mary, 18. The last word from Oftedahl was a Jap-censored card addressed to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Stone, of Fort Wayne, Ind., a nephew, John M. Pedersen, of 3335 N. New England av., said. Oftedahl last visited here in 1938.

CIVILIANS FLEE MANILA AS FIRE SWEEPS HOMES

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 7.—Mass evacuation of Manila by its civilian population is on as the city still burns today.

One man led a pig. Four boys carried a crippled woman in a chair. A woman carried two sleeping children, each still wearing dresses she had made from American flags as greeting to troops.

The Japs began destruction of parts of the city four days ago, on the day before the first American troops arrived. The fires developed in scattered areas but were almost out when the Japs began destroying the downtown area, one of the most modern in the world. Its reenforced concrete, streamlined, air conditioned buildings were almost all erected in the past 20 years.

Explosions Rock City.

Monday afternoon there were violent explosions—the Japs had used those buildings as ammunition warehouses, knowing American bombers would not hammer downtown Manila.

By dark the entire area was one mass of fire. From a roof top a half mile away the city was one big inferno. The heaviest explosions came about 8 p. m., rocking houses five miles away. Men in camps 30 miles from Manila said they felt the concussion.

Old timers who saw the Chicago fire of 1871 may have an idea of what parts of Manila went thru that night. But on top of the fire the war was imposed. During the first hours machine gun, rifle, and mortar bursts added to the woes.

Internees Are Evacuated.

The main danger was from the downtown fire. During the evening the wind off the bay fed new buildings to the flames. The fire spread a couple of blocks every hour. It came toward Bilibid prison. All American prisoners and internees freed by the 37th division on the previous day, were piled into trucks and hurried into the suburbs. Four hundred had to be carried on stretchers.

Tours Burned District.

About dawn two Filipino youths, Raphael and Benafacio, and I began walking thru the still crackling streets past the seven story Luxury Avenue hotel, past the Ideal theater, where the Jap picture, "The Wild Cat," was advertised but will never be shown, past small shops that border all the major business areas.

On the Escolta, Peacock's big department store had been turned into a concrete and steel skeleton. The Filipino Stock exchange, still only half finished as the war had found it, was gutted.

Bullets Amid Ruins.

As we walked back, Filipinos began drifting into the ruins, crawling thru barricades of railroad ties and past Japanese pillboxes with which the Japs had tried to turn the city into a fortress, stumbling over twisted steel and bits of concrete and bloated safes hurled into the street by the explosions.

Manuel, one of the firemen, told how Filipino firemen were playing two pitiful sprays of water on the fire to prevent it from jumping the plaza when Japanese dressed in civilian clothes climbed into Santa Cruz church tower and fired onto the firemen with machine guns, injuring eight.

The firemen killed two of the Japs but withdrew, admitting both the Japs and the fire were too much.

BRITISH MEET NEW JAP RESISTANCE ON MANDALAY FRONT

KANDY, Ceylon, Feb. 7 (AP).—British troops still are encountering Japanese resistance in the triangle formed by the confluence of the Irrawaddy and Chindwin rivers in Burma, 40 miles west of Mandalay, an allied bulletin said today.

But progress was reported in clearing the area east of Myinmu on the north bank of the Irrawaddy, 25 miles west of the enemy stronghold of Sagaing.

In north Burma, the American Mars task force and the Chinese 38th division were heavily engaged in hills west of the Burma road, while troops of the 50th Chinese division captured a village on the south bank of the Shweli river.

GEN. MacARTHUR WON'T LET WIFE DISCUSS VICTORY

BRISBANE, Australia, Feb. 7 (AP).—Even the fall of Manila couldn't break Mrs. Douglas MacArthur's policy of public silence, imposed by the general on their arrival in Australia three years ago.

Mrs. MacArthur's aide today answered a series of questions submitted to her on her reaction to the fall of Manilla and the general's new motto—"On to Tokyo." The aide's formal comment said:

"Mrs. MacArthur has never made a statement for publication. She cannot now alter that policy without authority from general headquarters in Manila." General headquarters in Manila means MacArthur himself.

IKE RIDES UP TO FRONT ON NAZIS' ROAD TO VICTORY

Germans Forgot Highway Has Two Directions.

WITH THE SUPREME COMMANDER IN BELGIUM, Feb. 7 (AP).—Gen. Eisenhower yesterday sped eastward on a chewed-up ribbon of road the Germans once labeled "der weg zum sieg"—the road to victory.

Pounding over the same break-thru route the Nazis used between Houffalize and Marche last December, the supreme commander's five star sedan passed silent relics of perhaps the gravest—and costliest—battle of the western front.

With Lt. Gen. Bradley, 12th army group commander, "Ike" saw the gaping German artillery craters, smashed skeletons of C-47s and bomb-wrecked houses his troops used as last ditch fortresses.

Sees Graveyards of Tanks.

The car whizzed by ugly mile by mile graveyard of mutilated Tiger and Sherman tanks, blasted ME-109s and Thunderbolts, charred Nazi troop carriers, and burned out United States six-by-sixes, upset volkswagons and torn American jeeps.

The narrow breakthru road snaked thru tiny Belgian villages—Bande, Raymont, Herbaimont—then widened into what was left of Bastogne.

Where once the air was shattered by the crack of mortars and the boom of long toms, where once a one star general had answered "nuts" to a German demand for immediate surrender, all was quiet.

Meets Patton.

In a scarred barracks the supreme commander met Lt. Gen. Patton, 3d army commander. As they talked quietly before a map, the only sound outside was the scraping of wooden cartwheels. Bastogne's evacuees were coming home.

Gen. Eisenhower's sedan turned north, sliced thru the center of the bulge and into Houffalize, joining point of his 1st and 3d armies a month ago.

Hours later, the supreme commander reached an advance headquarters.

"Der weg zum sieg" was a road to victory, he believed. The Germans just forgot it had two directions.

MIDWEST PILOTS HELP PARALYZE NAZI RAILWAYS

'Locomotive Busters' Bag 40 Trains.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY, Feb. 7.—"Locomotive busters" smashed 40 engines and hundreds of freight cars between the front and the Rhine in the last 36 hours as the American air force concentrated on paralyzing enemy transport during the few hours of clear visibility.

This aviation service has the double purpose of preventing extensive shifting of troops from the west front to the east front and to impede enemy efforts to mass reserves.

Chicagoans on Raids.

With the Nazis hoarding the remnants of their air force few enemy planes are downed by the Yanks and our losses are negligible except from anti-aircraft fire.

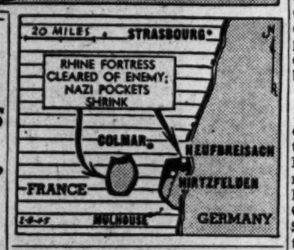
Among Chicagoland pilots on these locomotive shattering raids are Lieutenants Edward Purdy, South Wilmington, Ill.; Floyd Todd, Rockford, Ill.; William Craig, Flora, Ill.; Raymond Neal, Anderson, Ind.; Frank Smith, Rockford, Ill.; Glen Swartout, Hillsboro, Ia., and Capt. John Sheldon Clark, Clarinda, Ia.

Pilots shooting up motor vehicles and tanks spotted on highways include Lieutenants Robert Brulle, 3141 N. Kenneth av., Chicago; Clair Cullinan, Clarion, Ia.; Forrest Erpn, Champaign, Ill.; Davis McClure, Bloomington, Ill.; Russell Oplinger, Decatur, Ill.; John Pictor, Peoria, Ill.; Maurice Fogel, 1508 W. 68th st., Chicago, and Jack Kaufman, 5131 Cornelia av., Chicago.

These Men Hit Bridges.

Pilots attacking bridges, overpasses, and viaducts include Lieutenants Helmar Erickson, Mason City, Ia.; Vernon Cleaves, 3034 Hickory rd., Homewood, Ill.; David Harding, Rockford, Ill.; Raymond Hunt, Kempton, Ind.; Carl Johnson, 641 Glenview rd., Highland Park, Ill.; Forrest Marvel, Misawaka, Ind.; William Sondag, Shenandoah, Ia., and Robert Truitt, Springfield, Ill.

Yanks are angry at the enemy's economizing tactics in refusing to take to the air and the lack of aerial combats is preventing the Americans from bagging victims and rolling up scores to become aces.



YANKS GET BIG 3 NEWS, THEN GO ON WITH PLAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN LIBERATED TERRITORY, Feb 7.—Yank soldiers on leave and in a rest area in Red Cross canteens, cafes, movies, and orderly rooms tonight snapped to attention and silence when the radio speaker said, "The most important announcement is coming up immediately."

A voice then intoned that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and Marshal Stalin are meeting "somewhere in the Black sea area" and made the usual statement about complete accord on military and political plans and aims for perpetual peace.

The G. I.s in this rest spot grinned, shrugged their shoulders, and resumed reading their comics, shaking dice, playing rummy, or drinking beer. "I thought it meant the end of the war," one soldier said sadly. Another added, "Where in hell is the Black sea?"

Doolittle Names Aid in 8th Air Force Operations

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Eugene L. Eubank has been appointed assistant deputy commander for operations of the United States 8th air force, Lt. Gen. Doolittle announced today. Eubank will work with Maj. Gen. Orvil A. Anderson, deputy commander for operations.

Report Head of Hitler's Court Killed in Berlin Raid

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 7 (AP).—Swedish correspondents reported tonight that Roland Freisler, president of Hitler's people's court, which has sentenced thousands of Germany's enemies to death, was killed in Saturday's air raid on Berlin.

BRITISH·HEAVIES BOMB NAZIS IN 2 RHINE TOWNS

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—More than 700 British heavy bombers poured high explosives on Kleve and Goch between the Maas [Meuse] and Rhine rivers tonight.

The heavies hit Nazi troops and equipment in the two towns. Mosquitos hit Magdeburg, Kassel, Mainz, Coblenz, Bonn, Hanover, Duesseldorf, and Duisburg in multiple strikes. Thick banks of clouds over the continent kept Britain based bombers grounded during daylight.

Four engined heavies of the Italy based United States 15th air force blasted Nazi oil refineries in the Vienna area—the most important remaining German motor fuel source since the Red army seized a large part of the Silesian oil fields. Targets were at Moosbierbaum, 22 miles northwest of Vienna, and Lobau and Schwechat, seven miles southeast of the former Austrian capital. The United States 12th air force continued assaults on railway lines thru the Brenner pass and into southern Austria and Yugoslavia.

DISCLOSE VITAL ROLE OF 2 DAMS IN NAZIS' PLANS

Total destruction or the dams, according to engineering estimates, would unleash a flood between two and four miles wide and nearly 18 feet deep, which would engulf scores of towns and industries sweeping the Roer valley for 50 miles before entering the Maas river at Roermond.

It would take about two hours for the 18 foot wave to reach Dueren and two more to reach Juelich. In this area the flood would overwhelm 14 textile factories, 20 paper mills and a dozen metal works, all employing more than 20,000 workers. The source of electric power for hundreds of square miles in the industrial Rhineland would be destroyed. The flood would take nearly 14 hours to recede.

After the fall of Aachen last fall a special party searched the power company offices and seized the engineer who built the Schwammenuel dam. Under a pile of papers on a desk they found a detailed study prepared by German army engineers of the probable effects of blowing both dams.

Nazis Near a Blunder.

The report evidently had been ordered after the R. A. F. destroyed the Eder and Mohne dams in the Ruhr. Discovery of the report almost resulted in surprising the Nazis in a colossal blunder. The German engineers asserted that the Schwammenuel dam was impervious to bombing and could not be destroyed if kept below 60 million tons, even if the upper Urft dam was blown, releasing its 45 million tons into the Schwammenuel reservoir.

However, they warned, if the larger dam was kept full to its 110 million capacity it would not withstand an additional load from the Urft dam.

In December allied air reconnaissance photographs showed the Schwammenuel level had been allowed to rise far above the maximum set in the Nazi engineering reports. On Dec. 2 an attack by specially trained R. A. F. dam busters was ordered on the Urft structure in an effort to spill its 45 million tons downstream and breach the larger dam.

Germans Open Sluice Gates.

In vain the British flyers poured thousands of pounds of dynamite upon the target area, using torpedoes as well as block busters. Had they succeeded, thousands of German troops on the west side of Roer facing the northern flank of the 9th army and the British 2d army would have been cut off. From Linnich to Kirchberg, where Americans were ranged on the river bank, the way to the Cologne plain would have been open as soon as the flood receded. When the air attacks failed the Germans hurriedly opened the sluice gates and lowered the Schwammenuel reservoir to the safety level.

On Dec. 3 and 4 the dam busters tried in vain to crack the Schwammenuel dam. There was no further use in attacking the Urft structure, since its flood would not thereafter have washed out the Schwammenuel. Abandonment of the air blows on these strategically important structures left American commanders the sole alternative of capturing them by land assault.

Official German War Reports

Western Front.

Wednesday's official German war report of fighting on the western front as broadcast by Berlin said:

"Our troops repulsed British forces who were fiercely attacking on the lower Roer. On the upper reaches of the river American attacks failed. They scored one insignificant breach. On both sides of the Schnee Eifel [wooded hills] fighting for pillbox groups and inhabited places increased in scale and intensity. Strong enemy artillery fire is reported from the Sure and Moselle [river] fronts.

"In upper Alsace [near Colmar] our troops were successfully withdrawn to a smaller bridgehead. There they repulsed between Neuf Breisach and the Rhine the enemy who was attacking in a southerly direction. Strong enemy attacks against Ensisheim were also smashed in counter-attack."

Russian Front

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—The German war bulletin on eastern front action as broadcast by Berlin said:

"The defenders of Budapest yesterday smashed all enemy attacks.

"In the southern Pomerania and West Prussia enemy pressure to the north in the areas of Pyritz, Arnswalde, and Deutsch Krone increased.

"Northwest of Schwedt enemy attacks were warded off.

"The garrisons of Graudens and Elbing continue to hold out against strong enemy onslaughts. In East Prussia, Russian break-thru attempts made at the same focal points as before were checked in fierce fighting. Near Landsberg, German troops threw back the Russians.

"In the Samland [Latvia] Russian attacks slackened.

"Our naval forces effectively supported the heavy fighting of the ground forces in Samland and on Feb. 6 successfully intervened in the defensive battle for Elbing for the first time."

SAARLAUTERN A GHOST TOWN; G.I.S GLAD OF IT

Escape Much Sniping and Shelling.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAARLAUTERN, Germany, Feb. 7.—When you enter this town soldiers with bayonets fixed halt you and demand the password in a businesslike fashion. Other men, whose rifles also carry bayonets, stop you at both ends of a bridge. If your vehicle isn't marked in a certain fashion they forbid you to take it across the river. The men also adopt secret precautions for night time recognition.

The precautions seem a little melodramatic unless you knew that altho the Americans entered Saarlautern two months ago, quickly mopped up the west bank of the river and part of the east, the Germans still hold positions both in Fraulautern and Saarlautern-Roden—suburbs on the east bank.

In some places there was only a single block between houses occupied by the Yanks and houses occupied by the Germans so it's understandable why each side often sends out night patrols and why nobody is taking any extra chances.

Battle of Artillery.

Except for the patrols — which sometimes run into trouble or occasional machine gun fire—the Saarlautern "battle" is largely one of artillery and mortars.

Saarlautern is a ghost town and during a visit of several hours we saw only two civilians—one a French policeman and the other a girl standing inexplicably in a doorway of a seemingly deserted house in a wrecked street. But the G. I.s are happy here. Despite the terrific amount of wreckage, broken windows, shattered roofs, riddled walls, and blasted trees, the Yanks have managed to find comfortable places to live and fixed them up with whatever they could find in the way of "luxuries."

Lt. Waldron J. Winter, Belleville, Ill., company commander, said his men have two meals daily at varied hours so the Germans can't know when the men will be eating and send over a barrage. Winter said also it is the first time all his men have had beds—some with innerspring mattresses—and that there are stoves in all foxholes at their outposts.

Danger from Civilians.

He said the men like the fact Saarlautern is a ghost town because in other German towns, where civilians are present, his men always have felt it was more than coincidence that they were shelled whenever they were in mess line and sniped at more frequently than usual.

On the way from town we passed a line of G. I.s heading for chow, each carrying a new china plate, passed a house in which a soldier pianist was playing "Does Your Heart Beat for Me?" and then passed a former department store whose only apparent item of stock was one American tank destroyer standing just inside the front door.

On the edge of town we again were challenged by a young man with a bayonet who turned out to be Pvt. Rubin Holt, whose wife, Muriel, lives at 1417 S. Drake av., Chicago, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abrum Holt, at 1547 S. Kildare av.

YANKS PUSH INTO GERMAN LINES IN BOLOGNA SECTOR

ROME, Feb. 7 (AP).—The strongest American attack in Italy since October has driven 600 yards into German lines southeast of Bologna and gained its initial objectives, headquarters announced today.

Front line dispatches said the attack did not constitute a large scale offensive. Headquarters described it as aiming at "limited objectives."

However, it was the allies' biggest offensive gesture since bad weather settled over the front last fall.

The men moved thru thawing snow over mountainous terrain against German strongpoints. Thick mine fields were encountered.

[Berlin described the American drive as "a violent new offensive along the whole Bologna-Faenza front" with the capture of Bologna as the first objective.]

Allied advances also continued in the Serchio valley near the west coast. The vilages of Monte Bono and Renaiso, east of the Serchio river, were occupied against only light opposition.

Since the beginning of the purge, 471 sentences of death have been pronounced.

MERCHANT SHIP PAY FAR AHEAD OF THAT IN NAVY

Bonus and Overtime Rate Help CIO Seamen.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 7.—Who gets the most pay for risking their lives in war zones—the navy or merchant seamen? Always good for an argument when seafaring men meet, the subject was analyzed today by a survey of authoritative figures. The survey showed the civilian seamen ahead by a fat margin of dollars and cents.

Merchant crews owe their advantage to a higher base pay in most categories but mainly to the bonuses awarded them when their ships enter war zones and to the extra pay they receive for overtime work.

Their wage and bonus scales have been raised largely thru the influence of the Communist-ridden National Maritime union, a CIO affiliate headed by Joseph Curran who is high in the councils of the CIO political action committee and took a large part in the fourth term campaign of President Roosevelt.

Figures Tell Story.

While navy men have the advantage of a number of government benefits, they rate considerably below merchant sailors in monetary rewards for their labor and risks, it was shown by a study of figures obtained from the navy, the United States maritime commission, and one of the largest steamship companies.

The principal bonus paid merchant crews is the "voyage" reward for their ships entering danger zones. This is dependent upon the degree of danger and ranges up to 100 per cent of base pay. The top bonus is paid for service in the South Pacific around the Gilbert Islands, in the Mediterranean sea, and in the coastal areas of England and France. The lowest bonus is 33⅓ per cent for service in Pacific waters of comparative safety around New Zealand. They receive 66⅔ per cent in all other areas except inland waters of the western hemisphere, for which no bonus is paid.

Extras Add Some More.

Then there are the extras, starting with $5 a day paid by the United States to all merchant crewmen who draw the 100 per cent voyage bonus. Another bonus of $125 is paid to each crew member of ships sunk or substantially damaged by enemy attack or on which any person is killed or seriously injured thru attack, or which are otherwise subjected to "extreme and immediate" danger of destruction. And still another 10 per cent of base pay is added if a dry cargo vessel carries more than 50 tons of certain explosives. For loading or unloading such cargo, a merchant seaman also received $2.50 an hour more than his usual pay.

The average navy seaman first class, who comprise the majority of the navy armed guards on merchant ships, draws $79.20 a month—$66 base pay and $13.20 for sea duty. The lowest paid member of the merchant crew in the maritime commission tabulation—a cadet—received an average of $185 for a month's work.

Wide Variance Shown.

But the ordinary seamen of merchant crews, whose work, navy men said, is comparable to the navy's seaman first class, drew $223 a month. And the able seamen, the largest group aboard Liberty ships in the maritime commission tabulation, were paid an average of $242 a month.

The average master of a merchant ship was shown to have drawn $402 a month in wages, $308 in bonuses, and $2 in other compensation—a total of $712. This is exactly the monthly pay of the average navy commodore who would command all merchant ships in the largest convoy. But most convoys are commanded by navy men in lower salary brackets, thus in most instances every merchant ship master in a convoy receives more money than the navy commander of the convoy.

How long voyages swell the compensation of merchant crews was shown in the steamship line's figures on pay for a six months' trip between New York and European ports. Six able seamen received $2,090 each—$620 in regular wages, $1,342 in bonuses and $128 in overtime. In addition to food and lodging, the company even provided cigarets on the trip. A navy seaman first class would have been paid about $480 for such a trip, little more than the average of $347 a month the merchant seaman received.

Splendid Cough Relief Is Easily Mixed at Home

No Cooking. Makes Big Saving.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen. Once tried, you'll never be without it.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

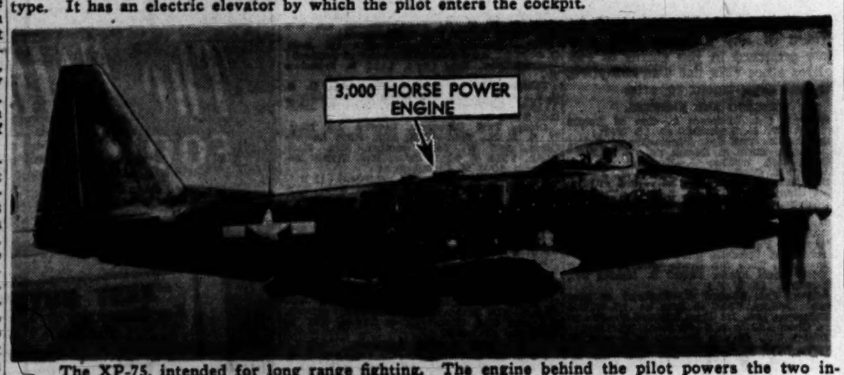
Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you sleep. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

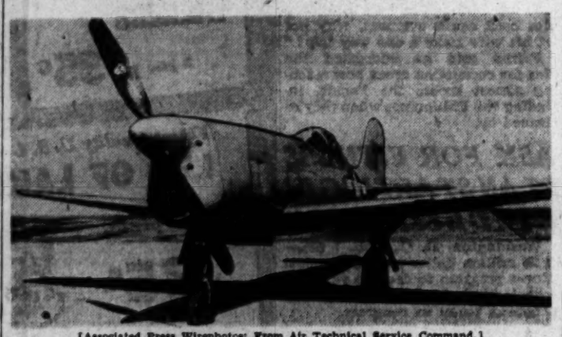
Experimental War Planes Tested by the Army

The army's twin tail pusher type experimental plane, the XP-54, called a modified flying bomb type. It has an electric elevator by which the pilot enters the cockpit.



The XP-75, intended for long range fighting. The engine behind the pilot powers the two in-line counter rotating propellers in front of him.

The XP-67, a bat winged, twin engine, long range interceptor fighter used by army to test "flying wing" theories. The plane has six .37 mm. cannon.



[Associated Press Wirephotos: From Air Technical Service Command.]

Former Secrets

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—The Curtiss-Wright XP-55 Ascender is only the first of a dozen or more experimental fighter planes which may be disclosed in detail to the public soon. The army air forces has dropped them from its list of projects classified as deep secrets.

Few of the new experimental fighters are as radical in design as the Ascender, which has sharply swept back wings, its engine in the afterpart of the fuselage, its elevators in the nose instead of the tail, and its rudders near the end of the wings.

Among other declassified models are:

The McDonnell XP-67, a bat wing, twin engine plane, not as radical as the XP-55.

The Bell XP-77, a small, all wood fighter.

FORT SHERIDAN BAND WINNER OF ARMY CONTEST

The 344th army service forces band, stationed at Fort Sheridan, has been judged winner in a nation-wide competition sponsored by the army. This band is heard regularly on the Fort Sheridan on Parade program broadcast over W-G-N at 3:15 p. m. Saturdays. More than 100 army bands participated in the competition. The committee choosing the winners was headed by Benny Goodman and Woody Herman, orchestra leaders, and Deems Taylor, music critic, composer, and author.

Yesterday the band journeyed to NBC studios to make V-discs, transcriptions to be sent to American service men overseas. Some 300,000 discs are distributed each month. These are aired thru overseas stations or loudspeaker installations.

Maj. Gen. Byron, director of the special service division, and Maj. Gen. Reynolds, commanding officer of the 6th service command, participated in the recording session. T/Sgt. Carmen Dello conducts the band and Corp. Bob Eberly, formerly with Jimmy Dorsey, sings with it.

FOOD RACKETEER ONLY PILGRIM IN FRANCE TODAY

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISIEUX, France, Feb. 7.—As soon as you cross the Seine from Rouen and head for lower Normandy, French road patrols stop your car with increasing frequency.

Arrow points to Lisieux.

To a greater extent even than on the north bank of the Seine, lower Normandy has butter, cheese, meats, and fats, and in an effort to stop black marketeers, economic police make heavy seizures of produce from cars, trucks, and vehicles they stop along the road.

Bag Small Buyer.

The small operator—the individual who got away to the country to do a little huckstering on his own—is caught in the same net with the big time black market operator who buys butter from the peasants in this rich Normandy region at $1 a kilogram [about 2 1-5 pounds] and sells it in Paris for $14.

I was stopped five or six times by French police in a 60 mile stretch of road, altho my car had "THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE" painted on the windshield and I was in military uniform.

Lisieux is a mass of ruins, 95 per cent destroyed, lying on the edge of last summer's battlefields.

Still a Market Center.

Before the war pilgrimages were made to Lisieux from all over France and from many parts of the world to the shrine of St. Therese. Now the pilgrimages are by black marketeers in search of butter, cheese, eggs, and meat, for Lisieux still remains a marketing center despite its destruction.

Trucks come all the way from Paris to load up with black market produce. They are usually armed with valid papers, obtained in devious ways.

At the Lisieux railway station police examine the baggage of all departing civilians. Fortunes are being made by food racketeers operating along what has come to be known as the "butter road," between this region of Normandy and Paris.

40,000 Homeless at Caen.

Farther along, the town of Caen is almost completely in ruins. It also is a center of black marketing. In the half crumbling butcher shops there is much meat.

Forty thousand of Caen's 73,000 population are said to be homeless. It is estimated that 0,000 houses, shattered by last summer's bombardments, might be repaired, but no cement is available. Wood for roofing also is lacking because the sawmills are without electricity.

LONDON PAPER ADMONISHED ON 'BIG 3' HEADLINE

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—A London newspaper's headline labeling as "official" Walter Citrine's announcement yesterday that the big three already were in session drew from British censorship an admonition that this label was "entirely inaccurate" and the headline was withdrawn from later editions, it was learned today.

The Daily Mail's diplomatic correspondent quoted Whitehall authorities as saying that Citrine "was not authorized to make such a statement."

Official efforts to disavow any responsibility for the Citrine disclosure—the accuracy of which has not been denied—were evidences of a desire not to have Britain blamed for breaking one of the most closely guarded official secrets in years.

BRITISH PROTEST NOD BY LABOR TO EX-AXIS LANDS

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—British protests over the proposed inclusion of the one-time axis partners, Finland, Bulgaria, Romania, and Italy, in the world trade union conference threw the two day old meeting into a turmoil tonight before routine preliminaries had been cleared.

The report of the standing orders committee recommending that the four former axis partners and the provisional Polish government in Warsaw be invited to send delegates precipitated the first rift in the conference, which is expected to decide among other things labor's attitude toward the peace settlement.

Calls Plan Premature.

Walter Citrine, head of the British delegation, demanded that the report be returned to committee for reconsideration and denounced the recommendations as "premature and directly contrary to the considered policies" of the labor leaders who convened the congress.

A spirited debate among Russian, French, Spanish, and English speaking delegates was in the offing when the day's session ended. The report was presented at the insistence of Russian, American, and French delegates.

Supports Wallace.

Earlier Reid Robinson, a CIO vice president speaking in the absence of Sidney Hillman, told the congress of "our successful campaign in returning to the Presidency of the United States Franklin Delano Roosevelt." Robinson added the CIO would not rest until Henry Wallace "sits securely in the office to which President Roosevelt has appointed him—and as secretary of commerce helps to realize the goal of 60,000,000 jobs in the United States and world-wide good neighborly relations."

PAPER TO GET WPB HEARING ON PLEA FOR PLANT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Members of the California congressional delegation are expected to attend a war production board hearing tomorrow concerning the application of the Rio Vista [Cal.] River News for materials to replace its building, which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The regional WPB office has denied priorities for new materials on the ground the weekly newspaper is not essential to the war.

John B. Long, general manager of the California Newspaper Publishers' association, will attend the hearing, which will be held by the reviewing committee of WPB's construction division.

Long has enlisted the aid of California senators and representatives and has been given blanket authority by the Publishers' association to "go to any lengths" to help the newspaper obtain the materials it needs. The association has protested to the WPB's printing and publishing division the denial of priorities.

Wife's Burns Fatal; Mate Charged with Neglect

Mrs. Gertrude Mayo, 44, of 1 W. Erie st., died yesterday in County hospital of burns suffered in her apartment Jan. 27. Her husband, Herbert, is being held on a disorderly conduct charge. Police said he did not provide medical attention for his wife until a week after she was burned. Mayo said she suffered the burns when her dress caught fire from a cigaret which she was smoking. Mayo is to appear at the inquest into her death in the county morgue at 9:30 a. m. today.

EX-SOLDIER'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE VOIDED ON PLEA OF HIS WIFE

A divorce suit by Gerald DeNise, 25, of 2515 N. Neva av., a discharged soldier, was dismissed yesterday when his wife, Ruth, 29, of Kings Mountain, Ky., complained to Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court that she had not been given proper service. The divorce had been granted Tuesday, but the decree was not signed. Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker, representing Mrs. DeNise, said her husband wanted a divorce "just so he can remarry his first wife." Mrs. DeNise was granted support of $10 a week for her son, Gerald Jr., 2.

SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK

Salvage

Coincidental with our expanded drive here at Schenley's to salvage paper cartons in which our merchandise is shipped, comes a very interesting letter from the Civilian Defense Volunteer Office in New York—on the need for salvaging waste paper of all kinds.

The WPB-CDVO Salvage Division finds that a great deal of paper is being wasted, not always carelessly, but because many people are uninformed on the types of paper that must be saved. They find that so many people don't know that paper is used, not only as a wrapping for essential war supplies, but in the actual making of them. For instance, twenty-five tons of paper are used in the blueprints of one battleship; paper is used in the making of bombs, bomb flares, bomb shells, weather parachutes, helmets, life jackets and camouflages. In all, paper has twenty-eight hundred war uses.

We are told that scrap paper also means small pieces of paper which we are in the habit of ignoring. We should save our egg cartons, empty boxes, box tops, wrapping paper, envelopes, old circulars, old calendars, etc. We find one single example extremely interesting. Let us take New York, where we have about seven million people. If every one of us would contribute one used envelope a day, one day's total of these old envelopes would be sufficient to make seventy-five thousand blood plasma containers.

You didn't know that—now, did you? We confess we didn't. And we're going to do something about it, and you will, too, won't you?

7 WAR PLANTS CALL 281 MEN TO MAKE SHELLS

Seven Chicago war plants engaged in the manufacture of mortar shells need 281 workers immediately, Col. John Slezak, chief of the Chicago ordnance district, said yesterday. Increased use of mortars in all theaters of war has resulted in a production schedule of 33 million shells in 1945. This is three times the 1944 demand.

Col. Slezak said the normal rate of mortar shell fire is 18 a minute, but in many battles soldiers and marines have been able to launch as many as 35.

The plants needing workers include the Paul Machine Tool and Die Works, 4600 S. Kedzie av.; Ingersoll Steel and Disc division of Borg-Warner corporation, 1000 W. 120th st.; Ammunition Container corporation, Harvey; Clearing Machine corporation, 6499 W. 65th st.; Verson Allsteel Press company, 1355 E. 93d st.; Great Lakes Spring corporation, 6401 W. 65th st.; National Can corporation, 6000 W. 51st st.

LET WIFE OF G.I. JOIN HIM ABROAD, BACHELOR URGES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—James G. Fulton, a bachelor, a navy man, and the newest member of congress, today suggested sending wives of fighting men overseas to be with them everywhere but in combat areas.

The Pennsylvania Republican, who has just taken over his house seat after serving as deck officer for an aircraft carrier in the Pacific, said in an interview: "I don't see why my idea wouldn't work. I know it would be a great morale builder.

"Instead of taking a man from overseas and sending him home for a 30 day furlough and then sending him back again overseas, why not let his wife make a one way trip?"

Fulton said he advocated

MAYOR HERALDS AUDITORIUM AS CITY PLAY SPOT

Temple of Youth May Be War Memorial.

BY AL CHASE.

Plans to preserve Chicago's historic Auditorium theater and hotel building, now used as a service men's center, from post-war wreckers by converting it into a great permanent recreation center for Chicagoans were outlined yesterday by Mayor Kelly. Instead of closing it six months after war ends, as has been suggested, the mayor said it should be acquired by the city or park board and made on outstanding monument to Chicago's generous treatment of men in uniform.

Both returning soldiers and sailors and the civilian youth of Chicago thru many post-war years will need a great center for recreation and social activities, the mayor asserted; a gathering place that will furnish clean, well managed amusement and at the same time help solve the city's juvenile delinquency problem.

City Also Needs Theater.

The big Auditorium theater, in the center of the Auditorium building, admitted to be one of the finest playhouses in the world in design, acoustics, and comfort, also is needed by Chicago as a permanent home of civic, national, theatrical, and musical activities, the mayor explained.

Purchase of the famous old structure with funds supplied by the proposed 60 million dollar park board bond issue to be voted on next June was tentatively suggested as a method of acquiring it. A settlement of the $1,300,000 unpaid taxes probably could be effected with the county, if the city bought the property, the mayor said. The building is tax free and rent free while being used for service men.

Unsurpassed War Memorial.

"Conversion of the Auditorium, known all over the world for its service men's center activities, into a great permanent recreational and social center for the youth of Chicago—both returning veterans and civilians — will be an unsurpassed war memorial for this city," said the mayor.

"When the 400,000 or more Chicago boys come back from war they'll need a central gathering place where they can meet their old buddies, have good, clean amusement without having to go to taverns, and where they can meet outsiders. It should be a relaxing spot for Chicago boys and girls, a builder up of good citizenship."

Mrs. Kelly Indorses Plan.

Mrs. Kelly, the mayor's wife, an active figure in the establishment and management of Chicago's four service men's centers, made this comment on the proposed plan to preserve the Auditorium property: "This is one of the most important duties faced by Chicago for its post-war program—save this historic and valuable asset for the younger generation."

Operation of the proposed recreation center, the only one of its kind in a large metropolitan area, could best be handled by the Chicago park board, the mayor said.

"But no matter who manages it, the important thing is to assure its permanency," he said. "Chicago can't afford to lose it—it's one of this city's greatest cultural assets."

TEACHER DECRIES UNION'S ACTION ON INTERLOCHEN

A member of last summer's Interlochen faculty, Richard Schoenbohm, director of the vocal department, Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind., last night called the musicians' union action in listing Interlochen as "unfair" as "interference with one of the noblest educational enterprises in America."

Schoenbohm, who said he returned to Interlochen to teach last summer after an absence of several seasons, said: "A union may be fine in some ways. It may help adults, but when it begins to harm the young people who are to be tomorrow's adults—that is a price we can't afford.

"Interlochen is one of the most inspirational organizations in the United States, and I can't understand any one [Petrillo] with the nerve to interfere with one of the noblest educational enterprises in America. As a teacher, I can vouch that the entire camp is designed for one purpose—an educational institution."

He said he would return to Interlochen despite the union ruling, but expressed the opinion that the federation action, if successful, might make a real difference to such faculty members as symphony orchestra musicians who must keep up their union affiliation to remain at work.

ACCUSED SPY'S PLANS TO RADIO SECRETS TOLD

Colepaugh's Training in Berlin Related.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—An FBI agent testified today that William Colepaugh, 26, an American citizen on military trial as a German spy, told him he came to this country by submarine to get information to be sent back to Berlin by radio.

Colepaugh and Erich Gimpel, 35, a German born electrical engineer, are accused of entering the United States Nov. 29, at Hancock Point, Me., after being brought here by submarine to commit espionage and sabotage. If convicted as spies, the death sentence is mandatory.

Told of Berlin Training.

The FBI witness, William O. McCue of Richmond Hill, N. Y., said Colepaugh told him he went to Germany a year ago and was trained in Berlin at various schools for instruction in radio operation, sabotage, the use of explosives, photography and micro-photography.

At one of those schools, Colepaugh met a man named Green with whom he came to this country, the witness related. Testimony earlier today was that Colepaugh and Gimpel had registered at several New York hotels as William Caldwell and Edward Green.

An army statement of the secret trial proceedings said, "Mr. McCue testified that Colepaugh told him his purpose in coming to this country was to gather information for the German government and send it back to Berlin by radio."

Suspect Talked Freely.

On cross-examination by Colepaugh's counsel, the witness said Colepaugh told him that sabotage was not part of his mission. He said Colepaugh talked freely and voluntarily.

Colepaugh's own description of himself as a man who had entree in 1940-'41 to the German consulate in Boston was entered in evidence earlier, as was the information that Colepaugh had been picked up before by the FBI as a draft violator in August, 1942.

Friends at the Boston consulate suggested to him, Colepaugh said, that he go to Germany to study at marine engineering schools.

Forest Polley, Ellsworth, Me., taxi driver, identified Colepaugh today as one of the two men he picked up in his taxi shortly after midnight last Nov. 30 about 30 miles from Bangor, Me. He left them in Bangor. He said he could not identify Gimpel as the second man.

PETRILLO SEEKS MUSIC TEACHER RULE: DR. MADDY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 7 [Special].—James C. Petrillo, czar of unionized musicians, has "stepped out of his field" and is trying to extend his dictatorial control to the teaching of music, Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, director of the National Music camp at Interlochen, Mich., charged today in an interview.

Dr. Maddy's accusation was in reply to the action of Petrillo's AFL American Federation of Musicians in placing the summer school on the union's "unfair list." The action, disclosed yesterday, will deprive the camp of about 25 union faculty members.

The ruling, said to be probably the most severe the union could impose, again brought to public attention the long controversy between Petrillo and the school, which was climaxed in 1942 when the union forced the school off a national radio program on the ground students' symphonies were depriving professionals of work.

"Trying to Control Teaching."

"Petrillo is now dipping into music education, which is not music performance," said Dr. Maddy, who also is professor of music at the University of Michigan. "Despite his previous denial that he is seeking to control music teaching, that is exactly what he is endeavoring to do in this case.

"The effect of his action is also to declare the University of Michigan unfair to organized labor since the camp is a part of the university and all of the union musicians at the camp are members of the university faculty.

"The only reason for listing the school as unfair is because I exercised the right of an American to free speech by criticizing Petrillo."

Leo Cluesmann, international secretary of the musicians' union, said the unfair listing of the school, ordered by the federation's international executive board on Jan. 19, resulted from "an antagonistic attitude" of Dr. Maddy.

The union official explained that Dr. Maddy had made statements against the union in his appearance before a senate committee during consideration of a bill by Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], passed by the senate last week, which would prohibit interference with noncommercial music programs such as those originating at Interlochen.

"I am antagonistic toward the dictatorial control of the union," Dr. Maddy said, "but my criticism is of Petrillo, not the union. I am not opposed to the union, of which I have been a member 36 years and have supported and aided on many occasions."

Seeks Action by House.

In Washington, D. C., Rep. Dondero [R., Mich.], said he would ask the house interstate committee to expedite action on the senate bill.

"It is time we found out just how much power Petrillo has," Dondero declared.

The union's unfair listing apparently was to circumvent the effect of the pending legislation, if it should become law. The action would prevent the school's approximately 25 instrumental instructors, all union members, from continuing to teach at the summer camp.

Should they continue to teach despite the edict, they would face union suspension and could not pursue their work with various symphony orchestras thruout the country and other commercial employment which provides their major income.

OLD OCRACOKE CAN DO WITHOUT REA'S 'GOOD LIFE'

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Ocracoke! It isn't a government agency. It's an island off North Carolina.

And it isn't merely underprivileged or poverty-stricken, in the eyes of the government planners who have been telling of the deplorable living standards of millions of Americans during hearings on Aubrey Williams' fitness to be head of the rural electrification administration.

No, sir. By their definition it's "medieval," because it's never had electric lights and the Ocracokers have been using "muscle power" to do their work for years when they might have had it done mechanically.

Project Foreclosed.

But Ocracoke didn't welcome its opportunity, Deputy Administrator Vincent D. Nicholson of REA told the senate agriculture committee today.

The REA lent $100,000 to extend the blessings of electric lights to 100 families of Ocracoke, Nicholson testified. But the Ocracokers never had been accustomed to electricity, and the whole project wound up in foreclosure proceedings.

Williams heard the story while waiting for the committee to make up its mind whether or not to recommend him for senate confirmation.

REA to Have Billion.

Senators Bushfield [R., S. D.], Willis [R., Ind.], Bankhead [D., Ala.], and Capper [R., Kas.] have been questioning Williams to satisfy themselves that a social worker accused of communistic leanings is just the man to head the "half billion dollar" REA lending agency.

Nicholson gave them something more to think about today. He said REA is planning to lend 600 million dollars more of the taxpayers' money after the war. Pencils scratched and senators said they figured this would make REA a billion dollar institution.

Sen. McKellar [D., Tenn.] will testify against Williams tomorrow. McKellar has indicated that he doesn't think Williams is either oke or Ocracoke.

PLEA TO UNION TURNS HEAT ON RATION BOARD

A dozen women employes and several members of ration board 6 at 6552 Cottage Grove av. yesterday sat in comfort at their work after an appeal to the janitors' union by Harry B. Meyer, 1803 Wabash av., the landlord.

John D. Norton, board chairman, closed the office when its thermometer read 42. He said the women wore their coats during December, and several stayed home because of illness.

Mayer said one janitor had quit Jan. 1, and that the present one didn't seem to know how to operate a stoker. Mayer appealed to the union after Norton had closed the office. He said he also asked the union for a new janitor who would know how to run a stoker.

MOVE TO CHANGE FM FREQUENCIES STIRS RADIO MEN

Hearings on Allocations to Start Feb. 28.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The lines are forming for battle over the federal communications commission's proposal to move frequency modulation [FM] "upstairs." The FCC proposes to shift FM, the high-fidelity, almost static free technique of broadcasting, from its present location of 42 to 50 megacycles to the 84-102 megacycle stretch, now largely occupied by television. The shift is urged on the ground that FM will be less subject to interference in the upper section of the radio spectrum.

The FCC has allotted time to Feb. 28 to engineers, economists and the public for expressions regarding proposed changes, which also include shifts for television. Final allocations are to be made at hearings starting Feb. 28.

Opposed by Broadcasters.

The Frequency Modulation Broadcasters, Inc., trade organization of FM station owners, is on record as opposing the FM shift on the ground that there is no good reason for moving FM to 84-102 meg. The FMBI members have a considerable investment in present plants. Comdr. E. F. McDonald Jr., president of the Zenith Radio corporation, has attacked the proposed shift upward on the ground that it would render obsolete the 500,000 sets incorporating FM already sold to the public. Of these some 50,000 are in the Chicago area.

"If this change goes thru," said McDonald, "50 million dollars' worth of the finest radio receivers will become useless for FM reception."

McDonald also asserted that the shift would delay FM expansion perhaps a year; that it would cost thousands of workers their jobs and be a severe blow to post-war employment.

No Tubes for Broadcasting.

"The industry has no transmitting tubes suitable for broadcasting FM on the proposed frequencies," he said. "We would have to mark time in making new FM sets until new transmitters were designed and constructed."

McDonald suggested that FM be assigned 46 to 70 megacycles. This change would provide an overlap of four megacycles, 46-50 in the present allocation, prevent obsolescence of FM receivers already sold, and give FM room for the additional space it will need for new applicants.

The FCC was told by its chief engineer that the higher frequencies of 84-102 were best suited for the propagation of frequency modulation. Dr. K. A. Norton, technical expert with the war department, supported the FCC proposal, which also included reallocation of television.

Receivers Obsolete Anyway.

"Part of the radio industry," Norton said the other day, "has begun a campaign to lead the public to believe their FM sets will become obsolete if the FCC makes this shift. Of course they will become obsolete. What this minority of the radio industry fails to add is that these receivers will be obsolete regardless of the position in the FM band in the radio spectrum."

Other engineers have indicated their belief that war time developments in FM have been so great that post-war receivers will greatly outperform the present models, already three, four, or five years old.

E. W. Allen Jr. of the FCC technical division has asserted that while the interference in the present FM band is already bothersome it will be worse when the maximum sunspot cycle is reached in 1949-'50 and that FM will have to be revised upward substantially.

Favored by Chicago Expert.

Dr. Daniel E. Noble, director of the division of research for Galvin Manufacturing company [Motorola] of Chicago and an expert in FM police radio communications, is on record as favoring the 84-102 FM recommendation. The state police systems operating in the 30 to 40 megacycle field have been suffering from interference. This bracket is just below the present FM field.

Maj. Edwin H. Armstrong, inventor of FM, is on record as favoring 48 to 70 megacycles as best suited. The Radio Technical Planning board, set up by the industry two years ago, recommended that FM be placed at 43 to 58 megacycles, an extension upward of the present range.

Manufacturers Are Divided.

Members of the Radio Manufacturers' association disagreed on the proposal. Bond Geddes, executive vice president, asserted that the proposed switch "in the long run will benefit FM because it will make better service possible." McDonald stated that General Electric and Stromberg-Carlson, who, like Zenith, have had long experience in building FM sets, oppose the change.

The Columbia network indorsed the proposed allocations. While NBC made no official statement, Niles Trammell, the president, expressed satisfaction with the proposals. Mutual Broadcasting system and the Blue network have made no public comment.

PRESIDENT PROPOSES MEXICO'S RAILWAYS BE OPERATED BY ARMY

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7 [Reuters]—As a result of the recent railway disaster at Cazadero station of Queretaro, when 127 pilgrims lost their lives, President Avila Camacho is proposing to the trade unions that railways and other transport should be militarized. He proposes that the unions should continue to exercise their rights and privileges but operate under a military regime.

The executive of the Mexican workers union met for five hours yesterday to consider the proposal, but declined to issue a statement.

The perturbed leaders of the union have wired their general secretary, Vincente Lombardo Toledano, who is attending the World Trade Union congress in London.

RANKIN, CELLER ARGUE DENTISTS' RACIAL ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—A house debate on the question of religious rights and beliefs ended today with Representatives Celler [D., N. Y.] and Rankin [D., Miss.] standing face to face, Rankin shaking his fist at the New Yorker.

The controversy started when Celler said the American Dental association has urged that religious tests be required for entrance into dental colleges. Such a requirement, he said, would be "unAmerican."

Rankin Gives Figures.

As Celler finished, Rankin jumped to his feet and shouted: "I am getting tired of the gentleman from New York raising the Jewish question in the house and then jumping on every man who says anything about it.

"Why attack the American Dental association? That organization has done what it had the right to do. I wonder if the gentleman knew that 90 per cent of the doctors who get on the civil service roll are Jews, and 60 per cent of the ones we are compelled to accept in our veterans' hospitals are Jews.

"Remember that the white gentiles of this country also have some rights."

DENTISTS MEET TOMORROW.

Dr. Harlan H. Horner, secretary of the council on dental education of the American Dental association, declined yesterday to reply to a protest made in New York City by Supreme Court Justice Meier Steinbrink, chairman of the eastern region of the anti-defamation league of B'nai B'rith.

Justice Steinbrink objected to a report submitted by Dr. Horner to universities and the American Dental association. He charged that the report urged adoption of a quota policy for students based on racial origins and that this policy was aimed at limitation of the number of Jewish students in dental schools.

Dr. Horner said he preferred to withhold comment until after a meeting of the council on dental education tomorrow in the office of the American Dental association, 222 E. Superior st. He said the statements by Justice Steinbrink would be among the matters to be discussed at the meeting.

WMC AID SAYS NURSES' DRAFT IS UNNECESSARY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 [Special].—Legislation for drafting nurses not only is unnecessary but might have a harmful effect on civilian health, Dr. Harvey Stone, vice chairman of the war manpower commission's procurement and assignment service, today told the house military committee.

Disagreement concerning the number of nurses needed by the army also was expressed by the official at the hearing, at which differences of opinion concerning the proposed nurse draft law came to the surface.

The navy can meet its nurse requirements without a draft, the committee was informed by Rear Adm. W. J. C. Agnew, assistant navy surgeon general. He said the navy is supporting a nurses' draft proposal because the army believes legislation is necessary to meet its own needs.

The bill, introduced by Rep. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military committee, provides for nurses to receive only a private's pay if inducted. It would require the registration of all qualified nurses between 18 and 45 years old.

2,500 WORD OPA WIRE ON TRIVIA STARTS INQUIRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—A house committee inquiry into the office of price administration's alleged extravagant use of telegrams was slated today, following disclosure that a 2,500 word wire was sent by a subordinate OPA official in Miami, Fla.

At the request of Rep. Church [R., Ill.], the committee on executive expenditures decided to call upon Price Administrator Bowles for an explanation of what Church called "misuse and waste of OPA funds" in sending the multipage wire.

Church, a member of the committee, said the message, sent Dec. 4, was merely a "progress report" by Miss Alice Tierney Scanlan, OPA information official in Miami, to her superiors in Washington.

ASKS U. S. TO GO EASY ON BRITAIN FOR LEND-LEASE

Crowley Doesn't Want to Push Payment.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Foreign Economic Administrator Crowley told congress today the United States should not press Great Britain "too hard" for payments on lend-lease items because our national interest calls for an "economically strong" Britain.

Appearing before the house foreign affairs committee to urge a one year extension of the lend-lease act beyond next June 30, Crowley said the program should be continued until final victory over both Japan and Germany.

He did not discuss possible reductions in lend-lease contributions after the fall of Germany. America's total lend-lease shipments have exceeded 35 billion dollars since the program began in March, 1941.

France Had Gold.

After committee questioning disclosed that France has paid us 123 million dollars in cash for a portion of lend-lease received, Rep. Vorys [R., O.] asked Crowley why greater effort is not being made to get cash payments from Britain.

Crowley replied that France has been able to draw on large gold reserves "frozen" in allied countries during the German occupation, whereas Britain has incurred huge debts in waging war since 1939.

"The United States," he continued, "wants Britain to be strong economically in the interest of fighting the common enemy. If we press her too hard for payment, we might cut off our nose to spite our face."

Crowley said reverse lend-lease aid, received by this country from allies is growing steadily, altho still small in proportion to our contributions to other nations.

Analyzes Reverse Aid.

He said almost all the reverse aid has, until recently, come from the British empire, which furnished 3.3 billion dollars' worth of goods and services as of last June 30. Crowley said the current amount of reverse aid from Australia and New Zealand exceeds our lend-lease contributions to them.

Since the liberation of France and Belgium, these two nations have also begun to contribute reverse help such as cotton duck, other textiles, and tires for army vehicles, the witness explained.

EDUCATORS SAY 'NO' TO MILITARY TRAINING PLAN

Groups Take Action on Compulsory Proposal.

[This is another article in a series on compulsory military training in peace time, expressing arguments for and against the plan and reviewing official action.]

BY HARRY McCLAIN.

American educators generally are opposed to compulsory military training in peace time. Among those who have not expressed downright opposition a majority are opposed to passage of legislation in time of war.

Because President Roosevelt, the army, navy, National Guard association and veterans' organizations recently have advocated compulsory military training for all physically fit males after they become 18 years old, various educational groups recently have taken definite action on the proposition.

Among these are the Association of Land Grant Colleges, and Universities, the National Association of State Universities, the Association of American Colleges, the National Catholic Education association, and the American Council on Education.

Act Expires May 15.

The executive committee of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities on Jan. 13 recommended to the presidents of the member schools that decision on peace time compulsory military training be postponed until expiration of the present selective service act. The act expires next May 15.

Clarence A. Dykstra, former president of the University of Wisconsin and now provost of the University of California at Los Angeles, headed the committee which advocated delay. Dykstra, on leave from Wisconsin, was the first director of selective service under the 1940 act.

"Land grant colleges," he said, "have had extensive experience with correlating education and military training. The post-war period may see further integration of military training in institutions of higher learning.

No Definite Views Now.

"Even the army and navy now have no definite and completely formulated views on the subject. Congress also is undecided on how to go about settling military-civilian differences on the subject of post-war military training."

Land grant colleges are schools built on public lands provided by the federal government. They receive federal financial aid and are required to teach agriculture and mechanical arts. Military training also is required for first and second year students. Each state has one or more.

Four years ago the Wisconsin legislature made R.O.T.C. training compulsory for first and second year students. Previously for some years the legislators had viewed the training as dangerous and flouted the federal requirement.

Vote 6 to 1 for Delay.

On Jan. 11 delegates to the 31st annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges heard Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, indorse compulsory military training in peace time and then voted 6 to 1 for indefinite delay of any congressional action.

The association pledged support of an adequate defense program, but opposed compulsory training on the theory that alternatives have not been fully explored and that peace time conscription should have more careful and extended study.

The National Catholic Education association wants congressional action delayed until men now in service have had an opportunity to voice their views on the ground that they are the men who actually will run the country in the future.

"May Be Other Methods."

"We are committed to the necessity of proper national defense," said the Very Rev. Percy A. Roy, president of the college and university department of the association and president of Loyola university, New Orleans, La. "However, we do not know definitely that the plan advocated by Gen. Marshall is the only solution. There may be other methods, and we advocate careful study to determine the best policy."

The Very Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, indorses continuation of military training after the war under the principles of the selective service act, with a more intensive use of universities and high schools.

The American Council on Education takes the view that men in service should have an opportunity to vote on compulsory military training as a permanent peace time measure for the nation, and that no such law should be enacted under war time emotional pressure.

Dr. Arthur C. Willard, president of the University of Illinois, definitely is for military training if integrated with education.

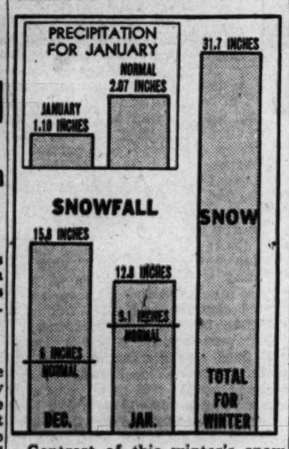
The University of Illinois is both a land grant college and state university. As a land grant college, Dr. Willard explained, the trustees always have believed that the land grant act makes military training compulsory. Illinois law also makes it compulsory for first and second year students, without exception. The school excuses the physically incapacitated.

4,000 Officers Supplied.

Illinois has $750,000 invested in its military department. It gives an advanced R.O.T.C. course which has supplied more than 4,000 officers to the army in World War II., of whom 23 are generals, and has the known addresses of 17,925 students and alumni in service. Three hundred seventy-three have been killed.

Dr. Willard, who was chairman of the military affairs committee of the association of state universities for a year and still is a member of the committee, does not believe the army and navy should take trainees for a full year. He believes, as a result of his long experience with a highly successful R.O.T.C. that training and education should be integrated.

Snowy Winter



Contrast of this winter's snow with the normal fall.

As a three inch snowfall whitened the city yesterday, the lake fended off a new cold wave covering the upper midwestern states and temperatures remained between 29 and 31 degrees. The cold air mass will remain north of the city and the zero weather originally predicted for tonight and tomorrow will not arrive, Forecaster H. L. Jacobson said yesterday.

Temperatures in Chicago today are expected to range between 18 and 25 degrees. The snowfall was expected to stop last night with possible light flurries this morning. Tomorrow a thaw should set in, with the thermometer touching 35 degrees, Jacobson predicted.

Weather bureau records revealed that the total snowfall for Chicago this winter, including yesterday's fall up to 4 p. m., amounted to 31.7 inches. Traffic at Chicago airport, almost at a standstill yesterday because of the heavy snow, began to move regularly last night but many incoming flights were late.

'POSSUM ROUTS POLICE DOG BY BITING HIS NOSE

Mickie, a police dog owned by Theodore Centner of 3333 Neenah av., lost an argument with a 11 pound 'possum before dawn yesterday when he stuck his nose outside his kennel to investigate a disturbance. The 'possum bit the inquisitive nose, and Mickie vacated.

The dog's yelping awakened Centner and his son, Elsworth, who reported to Jefferson Park police that a wild animal had chased their dog out of his home. Patrolmen Harold Onixt and Walter Baginski responded with a gun and lasso, uncertain as to what they were expected to capture. Onixt's lasso proved sufficient, and the 'possum was taken to the station.

The bewildered animal, rescued from a sack into which it had been thrown, was taken to the anti-cruelty society's headquarters yesterday afternoon by Ben Maringer, a society worker, and Mickie slept in his kennel again last night.

5,000,000 JEWS DIE UNDER AXIS, BRITON ASSERTS

LONDON, Feb. 7 [Reuters].—Five million out of 6,000,000 Jews who came under axis domination in Europe have perished, Strabolgi told the house of lords today.

Strabolgi, president of the newly formed Jewish Dominion of Palestine league, gave this figure in a debate on displaced and stateless people in Europe while urging that Jewish refugees be admitted to Palestine.

Hitler nearly succeeded by his treatment of the Jews in fulfilling one of his war aims, the peer said, adding, "We must not complete his work for him by neglecting the survivors."

Cranborne, dominions secretary and leader of the house of lords, replied it would be wrong to believe that Jews could be dealt with as a body distinct from those who had been deported or displaced. This was a matter to be handed internationally on a comprehensive basis, he said.

20 Million Possibly Displaced.

Another peer said it was officially estimated that 20 to 30 million displaced and stateless people were affected in Europe.

Hoare [Lord Templewood], former British ambassador in Spain, asserted allied measures were inadequate and called upon the big three to announce a common policy.

Perth, former British ambassador in Rome and one time secretary general of the league of nations, said he hoped the allied governments would give the problem immediate attention.

Cranborne, replying for the government, warned the house that it would be futile to expect a rapid or complete solution of the problem. "However it is tackled, it is going to be with us for years to come," he asserted. "It is one of legacies of the great world upheaval."

Many to Return Home.

Displaced persons would be encouraged or expected to return home as it became practicable, he added, and in a suitable order of priority. During the intervening period they would remain the responsibility of the united nations relief and rehabilitation adminstration [UNRRA].

The number of nonrepatriable displaced persons, Cranborne said, would probably run into hundreds of thousands. To these would have to be added a large proportion of those who, before the war, had been obliged to leave their homes for reasons of race, religion, or political belief. These might have to be resettled in the country of their refuge, he asserted.

A common policy on repatriation was agreed upon at Atlantic City, N. J., Cranborne added, but there were no detailed plans for settlement because it was not known how many people would have to be resettled nor what would be the areas at the end of the war suitable for their resettlement.

EXILED REGIME DISBANDS HOME ARMY IN POLAND

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz of the exiled Polish government in London announced tonight the disbandment of the Polish home army.

The leader of the London Poles issued an order of the day which said, "at the moment when the German invaders are being driven from Polish territory by the Red army, armed activities in our country have ceased and detachments of the home army have been disbanded."

The order wrote an official finis to the force which engaged in the heroic but fruitless Warsaw uprising, then was compelled to surrender to the Nazis when an expected Russian push on the Polish capital failed to materialize.

Raczkiewicz' action appeared to leave the members of the home army free to choose between the London government, recognized by the United States and Britain, or the Lublin provisional government, backed by the soviet union.

'WORK OR JAIL' BILL IS CALLED A FUTURE NEED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The senate military affairs committee was told today that the New Deal's "work or jail" bill was not needed now to increase war production, but that it should be enacted as insurance against future man power shortages. The bill would enable the government to force any man between 18 and 45 into war work.

Today's witnesses at the closed hearing were Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Undersecretary of the Navy Bard, and War Man Power Chairman McNutt.

Forrestal, it was learned, told the committee the navy's battle repairs program must not be endangered by lack of man power and that navy wanted the bill "to cure deficiencies quickly." Bard said the bill would reduce the turnover rate. McNutt supported the "work of jail" bill because, he said, it would enable the government to man urgent war plants more promptly.

OF 6 APPEALING ONLY ICKES WON LAND TAXES CUT

Owners of Nearby Areas Turned Down.

Records of the county board of tax appeals disclosed yesterday that altho complaints of high assessments for 1943 tax purposes were filed by the owners of six of the nine parcels of real estate on State street's east side, between Adams st. and Jackson blvd., the only cut in land values made was in behalf of Secretary of the Interior [Honest Harold] Ickes.

Ickes is the owner of a five story store building at 231-3 S. State st. The appeals board, acting on information from Ickes and his representative, Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, reduced the assessment of the property from $504,160 to $394,560, with the result that Ickes' taxes for 1943 were slashed by $4,265.

Assessor Cites Statements.

County Assessor Clark called attention to this on Jan. 25 and asserted the board had been "imposed on by erroneous statements." Among the statements were: The building was of three stories instead of the actual five, and that the annual gross income was $24,000 when it was actually $61,000.

Ickes signed the affidavit based on his demand for a lower assessment, but the "erroneous information" was filled in later by an employe of the board, who was advised by Mrs. Reinecke. Mrs. Reinecke later told the state's attorney she meant the $24,000 as a net figure and dismissed two stories of the five as of questionable rental value.

Others Get Small Cuts.

The record of the other complaining taxpayers showed that the board cut the building value for two parcels at 209 S. State st. by $22,156 from an original $671,000. Three other parcels at 235 S. State st. were cut a total [building value only involved] of $99,494 from the Clark assessment of $3,258,000.

For these, properties the land values were untouched at $11,500 a front foot while Ickes' valuation was reduced to $9,000. The usual assessment procedure is to keep land values the same for a block along one side of a street.

John Toman, member of the board, said that the Ickes building was 70 years old and was at the minimum assessment; therefore the cut was taken on the land. He added that Ickes had been "treated like any taxpayer."

Plans Collection Move.

Assistant State's Atty. Jacob Shamberg said that an effort would be made to compel Ickes to pay the $4,265. Following custom the county treasurer on Nov. 13 went to the county court and reduced all delinquent taxes, including Ickes' second instalment, to judgment. In December the board of appeals cut was ruled on. There must be a plea to the court by Ickes, Shamberg said, to have the judgment lien released. If there is such a plea the state's attorney will fight it. This would bring out the whole story in sworn testimony, it is said.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker and five other airmen were inducted today into the Sea Squatters club. The sole membership qualification: To have been downed at sea and saved by a rubber life raft. Rickenbacker survived 21 days afloat in the Pacific in 1942.

CLANG, CLANG GO 6 TROLLEYS —WITHOUT SAM

Samuel Schaeffer, 61, of 105 Austin av., owner of a roller skating rink at 1058 Washington blvd., is normally a patient man, he explained yesterday to Judge Harold P. O'Connell in Jury court, but when six street cars passed him up in a row Friday night it was just too much.

Schaeffer said he was waiting for a street car at the corner of Aberdeen and Madison sts. to go to Michael Reese hospital, where his daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Rasmussen, wife of a soldier, was about to give birth to his first grandchild.

Hurls Bottle at It.

The first street car clanged past him without even slowing down, Schaeffer asserted. This nettled him. When the second one clattered past the conductor's smirk caused him to see red. He hurled a pop bottle after the receding car. It struck it and smashed.

This was testified to by Martin Mullens of 1315 E. 62d st., who was also waiting for a street car. Assistant City Atty. Harry Iseberg asked the witness how he knew it was a pop bottle.

Can Tell One in the Dark.

"I am a garbage truck driver," Mullens replied. "After you've driven a garbage truck for a while you can tell a pop bottle even in the dark."

When the third street car continued past the intersection, Schaeffer ran out in front of it, and almost was run down, Mullens testified. The street car slowed down but didn't stop.

Three more street cars lumbered past, without so much as a glance from the conductors. Finally one stopped. Schaeffer scrambled onto the rear platform.

Berates the Company.

Upon the head of its conductor, Michael Matusso, was heaped the accumulated spleen of the irate Schaeffer, Matusso informed the court. So violently did Schaeffer express his opinion of the street car company that Policeman George Krull, a passenger on the car, decided it was a clear case of disorderly conduct.

Judge O'Connell agreed, and fined Schaeffer $10 and costs.

NEED NEW BASIC LAW TO EASE TAX BURDEN, HODES TELLS WOMEN

A new state constitution is needed to remove the tax load from the real estate owner and to modernize methods of raising revenue, Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, said last night at a forum of the South Shore League of Women Voters and the Bryn Mawr community council in the South Shore library at 73d st. and Exchange av.

Calling the present state constitution antiquated, Hodes said that today when most forms of wealth are intangible and when each of the 102 counties and 1,576 taxing districts has its own machinery for tax purposes, the result is chaos.

Real estate owners are so overburdened with local taxes that building progress will be crippled in the post-war period and slum and blighted areas in Chicago will grow unless some changes are made, he said. Many Chicagoans will move to the suburbs, he added, to escape the present heavy taxes of the urban areas.

Through READING came Victory in the CONQUEST of PAIN

Gentlemen, this is no humbug!" In the amphitheater of the Massachusetts General Hospital, almost a hundred years ago, a distinguished surgeon raised his head and addressed the close-packed audience of doctors and medical students who had gathered to see the first public demonstration of painless surgery.

It was a frankly skeptical audience. For up until that time every man, woman or child who had to have an operation had suffered untold agonies. Usually they were held down on the table by four strong men. But now the skeptics were convinced. They had seen a painless operation successfully performed.

This epoch-making new departure in surgery was made possible by the work of an obscure Boston dentist—Dr. William T. G. Morton. Morton had long dreamed of the abolition of pain. He had studied night and day, read everything he could obtain.

Finally, in Pereira's "Elements of Materia Medica," he read that ether fumes, when strongly inhaled, resulted in stupefaction. Apprehensively, but without hesitation, he tried it on himself . . . and lived!

Thus, from the rich soil of reading, grew "America's most important contribution to medicine." Mankind's long and tragic battle against pain at last was won.

Reading at Its Varied Best

To William Morton, as to many another unknown man, reading supplied that knowledge which is the wellspring of achievement.

Reading is the richest, most fertile source of knowledge. For only through the unhurried eye of the reader can ideas and information be absorbed fully, in detail.

When you read, you can set your own pace . . . go fast or slow . . . turn back and read again . . . start and stop as you please. Reading is not yours for a scheduled instant only. It is yours for all time.

In The American Weekly, you will find reading at its vivid, most varied best. All the color and stir of life are within these pages . . . tragedy and triumph . . . heartbreak and laughter . . . the march of science and medicine . . . the power and beauty of art, literature, religion.

So clear, accurate and authoritative are the articles in The American Weekly, that they are used widely in the classrooms of schools and colleges throughout the United States!

The American Weekly, distributed through a group of great Sunday newspapers, is read regularly in more than 8,000,000 homes from coast to coast.

Can anyone doubt that the manufacturer who associates his product or company name with such an influence is tying in with the most powerful known force in advertising?

AVERS SYPHILIS INFECTS 15,000 UNDER 15 IN 1944

Dr. Shafer Address Hits Church, Home, School.

BY ROY GIBBONS.

The most dangerous and prevalent source of syphilis in the United States is an infection pool of "children under 20" who are the principal spreaders of the disease in this country, it was asserted yesterday by Dr. Bertha M. Shafer, executive director of the Illinois Social Hygiene league.

In 1944, a total of 15,000 cases of syphilis among children under 15 was reported to health departments thruout the nation, Dr. Shafer disclosed in her address at the 32d annual conference of the American Social Hygiene association in the Morrison hotel.

Not a Complete Picture.

But these reported cases, she said, do not reflect an accurate picture of the number of infections among the 15 year old group. Other cases which would swell the total to an even greater number must be presumed to have been concealed because of ignorance and the youth of the victims, she declared.

Responsibility for this high incidence of juvenile infection, Dr. Shafer charged, must be borne by "church, home and school," which she alleged "have been quarreling among themselves" in attempting to fix the blame for what has happened.

Time for Sex Instruction.

Prostitutes today, she said, "are masquerading as pickup girls," and all pickup girls today are children, she declared.

The time has come, Dr. Shafer declared, when realistic sex instruction must be given the youth of the nation. A way has been found, she declared, to approach the subject skillfully.

Dr. Shafer, who was given a life membership in the association in recognition of her work in the prevention of venereal diseases, said the current number of adolescent syphilis victims stood as an indictment of the present generation, which, she charged, has "failed" the nation's youth.

Surgeon General Speaks.

Dr. Thomas A. Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, told the conference that America has completed only half the job in conquering venereal diseases.

In 1944, fewer new cases of syphilis were reported than in 1940, but more cases of gonorrhea have been discovered each year since the war started, he said.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Dante Cheisi, South Bend, Ind.]

THE QUESTION.

Have you ever had an accident as a result of trying to show off?

WHERE ASKED.

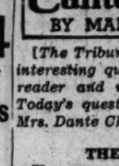
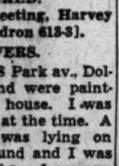
THE ANSWERS.

Howard Shipe, 14038 Park av., Dolton—Dad and a friend were painting our house. I was about 7 at the time. A ladder was lying on the ground and I was stepping from one rung to the other. "Look, Dad, I can walk this without falling off," I said. Just then I lost my balance and fell into a five gallon bucket of paint.

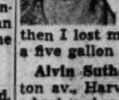
Alvin Sutherland, 14941 Washington av., Harvey—While we were in a barber shop, a soldier friend promised to send me an empty hand grenade. I wanted to show him that I already knew how to throw one. I swung my hand over my head and knocked a chandelier down. Glass showered all over the floor.



Donald Pierson, 2214 Prairie av., Blue Island—A gang of us were playing football in a vacant lot. The ball bounced into a neighboring lot behind a bush. I leaped over the bush to show how high I could jump. In my haste I had forgotten about the pile of garbage and broken glass on the other side of it.



Ray Gebauer, 14209 Chicago rd., Dolton—I was 10 when I got my first bicycle. I was showing my envious friends how fast I could ride when my pant leg caught in the chain and sprocket. I stooped down to get it loose and crashed into the back of a car. The blow knocked me unconscious for five hours.



Joan MacDonwell, 15030 Lexington st., Harvey—When I was a little girl I was always doing things that I thought were brave and daring. One afternoon I told every one to watch while I climbed to the roof with my eyes shut via the roof ladder. Half way up I missed a step and fell. Fortunately, the fire escape caught me.

'KNOCKOUT' DROP CHARGE TOLD IN SLAYING TRIAL

Princeton, Ill., Feb. 7 (Special).—Andre Driessens, Sheffield farmer, testified today in the murder trial of Lucille Dhamer, 27, and her husband, Harry, 42, that he heard the husband accuse Charles Neufcour last April of giving "knockout drops" to Lucille.

The Dhamers are jointly accused of murder as the result of the fatal shooting of Neufcour by Lucille last Oct. 14. Neufcour, 32, was Driessens' brother-in-law and was employed by him on a farm which Driessens rented from Dhamer.

Under defense cross-examination today Driessens stuck to his story that the shooting took place in a soybean patch on the farm after Lucille, with a revolver, had interrupted an altercation between Dhamer and Neufcour. He said Dhamer urged his wife to "shoot him again" and struck Neufcour several times after the farm hand had suffered his fatal wound.

The "knockout drops" charge was made by Dhamer when he visited the farm after hearing reports that Neufcour and Lucille had carried on a love affair while Dhamer had been in a hospital the previous month, Driessens said. He testified Dhamer told Neufcour to leave the community.

A few nights later Lucille came to the house alone about midnight and asked for Neufcour, Driessens said, and the couple spent several hours in the parlor.

NAVY UNIFORM JAILS BOY, 16, FOR 2D OFFENSE

Frank George Jenny, 16, of 3142 S. Avers av., who was released Friday from the National Training School for Boys at Washington, D. C., after serving a six months sentence for illegally wearing a sailor's uniform, yesterday was back in custody, charged with a similar offense.

Jenny was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, who held him to the federal grand jury under $500 bond.

Assistant United States Atty. Jack Welfeld told the commissioner that Jenny had been arrested Tuesday at the United Service Organizations center on Washington st.

GIRL WHO TRIED TO KILL MOTHER BEGS LIBERTY

Blonde Bernice Reynolds, 16, of Aurora, who attempted to kill her mother, Lottie, with gas because her romance with a soldier was thwarted, admitted in Kane county jail yesterday that "I've had enough of this."

Glancing around her cell, where she is held on a charge of assault with intent to kill in lieu of $10,000 bond, Bernice asked Sheriff George E. Powell how soon she would be released.

"As soon as I get out," she explained, "I want to marry Clarence and live with his folks until he gets out of the army." Clarence is Pvt. Clarence Swope, 18, of Ottumwa, Ia., who met Bernice while working in Aurora. She followed him to Ottumwa and was brought home. Then she turned on the gas in an attempt to kill her mother.

Mrs. Reynolds, 39, who detected gas four hours later and opened the doors, refused to sign a complaint against her daughter, indicating that she would not press charges.

Acting Fire Chief Burned in Service Station Blaze

Anderson, 34, of 4240 Monticello av., a gasoline pump repair man, were burned on their hands and faces in a fire and explosion yesterday at a service station owned by Elwood M. Davis at 3333 Iron st. Fire Capt. David Brown and Fireman Frank Denware suffered superficial burns. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

FATHER STABBED BY BOY, 17, GIVEN CHANCE TO LIVE

A 17 year old boy who quit school to become a riveter at the Douglas Aircraft plant was held without charge by Jefferson Park police yesterday pending the outcome of seven stab wounds he had inflicted on his father early in the day. The boy said he had stabbed his father with a pair of scissors after responding to a call for help from his mother as she was being attacked.

William Bishop.

The boy, Robert Bishop, who said he had been praying for his father's recovery, seemed to be cheered when policemen told him physicians at Oak Park hospital had said the father, William, 41, had better than an even chance to recover. The stabbing occurred in the Bishop home at 3411 Osage av.

Mrs. Josephine Bishop, 36, told police she and her husband had quarreled Tuesday night when the father refused, in response to Robert's request by telephone, to drive to a movie theater to pick up the boy. The quarrel was resumed about 5 a. m. yesterday, and the stabbing occurred soon afterward.

DOCTOR'S AUTO LOOTED.

Dr. Charles J. Smalley, 1342 N. Dearborn st., reported to police yesterday that a bag of instruments valued at $200 and the spare wheel and tire were stolen from his automobile in front of 30 E. Elm st.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FAMED LINCOLN ADDRESS IS PUT ON DISPLAY HERE

One of the five original copies of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address, written in the Civil war President's own hand, arrived at the Chicago Historical society's headquarters, Clark st. and North av., yesterday, escorted by Illinois state police.

The famed document was purchased last year for $60,000 by Illinois school children and presented to the Springfield historical library, whence it was brought yesterday.

It was placed immediately upon display, where it will remain thru Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN HELPS KEEP PROPER IRON LEVEL IN BLOOD

One-ounce dish of this famous cereal gives over 1/3 of your daily minimum iron needs

AS LONG as you live, your body will be making new blood to replace the blood it is constantly wearing out. If you don't get enough iron, this new blood will not be as good as it should be. Your vitality may then be threatened.

The best place to get iron is in foods. But not many foods are rich in available iron. In fact, it is not easy to get an abundance of this important mineral in the ordinary diet. And your iron need is far too important to be left to chance.

Fortunately, there is a rich source of ready, assimilable iron that is easy to get and inexpensive. It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, made by the Kellogg folks of Battle Creek. Ounce for ounce, this famous cereal gives you 50% more iron than calves' liver—11 times the available iron of spinach. In addition to iron-richness, this toasty, nut-brown cereal is an important source of calcium, phosphorus and essential vitamins. That's because ALL-BRAN is made from the vital outer layers of finest wheat.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is made from THE VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat

You know that Nature makes a habit of storing the larger share of protective food elements in the skin of the potato and the peel of the apple. In the vital outer layers of wheat, too, Nature stores some of the grain's most important nutrients. ALL-BRAN is made of these vital outer layers, and is more abundant in many food elements than whole wheat itself.

America's Great Regulating Cereal

Besides being a storehouse of iron and other important food elements, delicious KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a great natural regulating cereal. Millions of people eat it regularly. Just a one-ounce serving eaten daily is usually adequate for satisfactory laxation. ALL-BRAN, which is triple-milled for golden softness, does not interfere with the process of normal digestion.

Serve KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly—and help your family get adequate amounts of iron and other important food elements.

DONOR OF 7 PINTS OF BLOOD
THOUSANDS OF HEALTHY PEOPLE DONATE BLOOD
Miss Dorothy D. Ficker of Old Greenwich, Connecticut, has donated 7 pints of blood to date. She is one of many persons who donate blood regularly. These patriotic men and women can tell you that anyone can be a donor without discomfort. The fluid part of the blood is restored in a few hours. Maintaining the body's proper iron level helps to replenish your good red blood.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with fruit, in muffins or on other cereals

SPORT PALACES OR SCIENCE?

Gov. Green has earmarked the surplus in the state's general fund, accumulated during the war, for an improvement program for various state institutions.

Since the state appropriates money for biennial periods, and no one knows when the war will end, the proposed appropriations have been set up by the post-war planning commission named by the governor to take effect in the first, second, and third bienniums after the war ends. Over the six year post-war period expenditures of more than $30,000,000 for new buildings and equipment are proposed for the University of Illinois.

The university has done little building since the onset of the depression in 1930. Its facilities were overstrained before the war and, unless rapid additions are made, will be inadequate to accommodate the large increase of students that can be expected when veterans begin to take advantage of the educational opportunities of the G. I. bill of rights. Money devoted to the upbuilding of the university can be a great investment for the people of Illinois—if the funds are spent for the right things.

A committee of the faculty spent a number of months considering the more pressing physical needs of the institution and submitted to the university trustees a well integrated program. The trustees approved this faculty program without change except that, unwisely as it now develops, they added a recommendation for a so-called health and physical education building, to cost $2,300,000. The different projects were assigned priority numbers in the order of their importance. The health and recreation building was 40th on the list, which meant that neither the faculty nor the trustees thought it should be built before the fifth year after the war, if at all.

The building is misnamed. While, it is true, it will contain swimming pools and other facilities desirable for physical education and intramural sports, the major part of the expenditure is intended to provide an oversized basketball stadium in which to hold the state high school basketball tournament during three days each year.

The seating facilities of Huff gymnasium, in which the Illinois basketball team plays its home games, are far too limited to accommodate all of the high school fans who want to watch the state tournament, and every year the wails and gnashing of teeth of disappointed ticket seekers resound from one end of the state to the other. The sports center will thus have considerable popular support. It is being promoted actively by a group of alumni and business men of Champaign and Urbana. One argument for the proposed appropriation is that, if the university does not provide the building, citizens of Springfield are prepared to nick the state treasury for the price of one and kidnap the tournament.

These arguments seem to have prevailed upon the post-war planning commission. It has approved the "health and physical education" building for construction during the first post-war biennium. Still worse, the commission, finding it necessary to reduce other appropriations to make way for the basketball stadium, knocked out the appropriations for four badly needed laboratories.

These were a new chemistry laboratory, which the faculty and trustees had placed second on the priority list; an animal husbandry laboratory, fifth in priority; dairy husbandry laboratory, sixth; and a mechanical engineering building, ninth. All of these buildings would replace laboratories now more than 40 years old.

It has already been necessary to restrict enrollment in chemistry, in which the university does perhaps its most distinguished teaching and research, because of lack of laboratory space. The old Noyes laboratory, built in 1902, is ill ventilated and a fire hazard if used for chemical experiments, altho it still has some years of useful life if transformed into classrooms, as is proposed. Lack of a new mechanical engineering building would stultify the university's plans for instruction in aeronautical engineering, among other things. Facilities for research in animal and dairy husbandry, which has paid Illinois farmers millions of dollars yearly, are now wholly inadequate.

The change in the recommended program throws the whole building program out of balance. Numerous other arguments could be adduced against the change, including the fact that facilities for public athletic contests ought to be provided out of athletic receipts and the gifts of alumni, as they have been in the past, rather than from public funds.

The matter boils down, however, to the question whether the state of Illinois is to appropriate money for an educational institution at Champaign and Urbana or for a sports club. We hope the members of the legislature will look kindly on education.

SCHEME FOR BETRAYAL AT JEFFERSON CITY.

A returned American expatriate named Humber is hanging around the lobbies of the Missouri state capitol, buttonholing legislators in an effort to have them call on Missouri members of congress to subordinate the American form of government to a world super-state.

Humber went from his birthplace in South Carolina, by way of Harvard and Oxford, where he was a Rhodes scholar, to Paris. There he practiced as an international lawyer for 16 years until the Nazi invasion in 1940 forced him to skeedaddle.

Since then he has been agitating for a world state of his own invention, which he calls the Federation of the World. Some idea of the plan may be gained from a portion of the resolution he is trying to get passed in Missouri, which declares that "it is better to be ruled by an international sovereignty of reason, social justice, and peace, than by diverse national sovereignties." Like other utopian programs, this one is most definite in its intention to destroy the American government, but wholly indefinite in assurances as to where the reason, social justice, and peace are to be found in the successor world state.

Two things about this proposal are worthy of remark. The first is the essential deviousness of going to state legislatures, which have no responsibility in the conduct of foreign affairs, to procure pronouncements on foreign policy. Lacking such responsibility, it is an easy thing for legislators to check their brains in the cloakroom and vote for some scheme to please a vociferous minority such as Humber seems to have recruited in Missouri. The honest way to proceed would be to present the scheme to congress directly.

A second circumstance worth noting is Humber's background. It is characteristic of virtually all of the schemes to destroy American sovereignty in favor of a world state that the principal backers are people who, by reason of education, long residence, or business connections abroad—Humber has all three—have had their attachment to America attenuated, if not destroyed. It is not the Americans who have lived and prospered under our present government who wish to destroy it.

Humber would, no doubt, be most indignant if he were classed with the Communists, yet the only difference between the world state agitators and the communist agitators is that of method. The former depend upon intrigue and propaganda, the latter upon intrigue and the eventual use of force. Both are bent on the destruction of the Republic.

Benedict Arnold, arraigned before the bar of history, might conceivably plead that he had only betrayed a new loyalty to a young and uncertain institution in order to resume an old one to the British crown. After the demonstration for more than a century and a half of the benefits of the Constitution, those who today would betray American sovereignty have not even that flimsy excuse.

WHAT IS CALLED PEACE IN EUROPE.

Gen de Gaulle, unsuccessful in his bid for an invitation to the present conference of Stalin, Churchill, and Roosevelt, declared himself in from the outside. In a radio speech he was resentful. No arrangements, he said, would be valid without the consent of France and such arrangements would have to include the occupation and retention of the Rhineland and the Ruhr by the French military. Whatever other partitions were made of Germany he didn't care.

The Lublin provisional government of Poland, the one of Russian nurture, has proclaimed its jurisdiction in Silesia and Pomerania—the eastern areas of Germany in which the soviet armies have the upper hand. Mr. Churchill has not recognized the Lublin government. He may even now be getting a compromise out of Stalin. That we'll know when the conferees see fit to talk about it. He has, however, conceded German territory to Poland in compensation for what Russia has taken and will keep.

These, as the world knows, are the rankling things which create a long term sense of injury and a smoldering desire, easily aroused by agitators, for retaliation and recovery. To guarantee title to lands so possessed requires the use of force sufficient at all times to hold down the damaged country. The present theory of peace is that Germany must be deprived of the resources which could be used for war. That's Mr. Morgenthau's idea of making the land a country of nothing but family sized farms.

Gen. de Gaulle has an alliance with Russia. He expects to get one with Great Britain. Then if some world organization for peace wants to decorate this system of alliances and accept the map which has been drawn it may be admitted as a sustaining member. These ideas confess that Europe has insoluble problems. It can't make peace. Its difficulties are permanent. It can't put the sword back and hang up the gun. It conceives of peace as a permanent alert maintained around a concentration camp. American relations to this situation are not good now and they are bound to get worse.

Mr. Roosevelt may be the last to admit that no one in Europe has paid any attention to his sermons except as they happened to fit other purposes for the moment. What the present conference will bring forth to improve the situation, or make it worse, is awaited. The conferees will have to be good, they'll need genius, to put a better face on what is to be called peace in Europe.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

In his message to congress the President made strong commitment for national service and it may be assumed that his new attitude was considerably influenced by the German counter-offensive. On the basis of available information the German success seems to stem from a miscalculation by allied military intelligence and from German qualitative, not quantitative, superiority in tanks and other mobile weapons. No one has shown that our soldiers suffered from a shortage of weapons. No one has asserted that our generals lack man power or that home front conditions prevented soldiers from being transported to Europe. Would the operation of national service have changed the military picture?

If there is a real need for a draft of civilians, that need has not been clearly demonstrated. Some two months ago Mr. Roosevelt, the candidate, recited records of production attained without compulsion. He now advocates compulsion on the basis of an event which, so far as the country has been informed, has no relation to the quantity of production.

Since the German breakthru occurred, Washington officials have shown a disposition to scold and crack down on the home front. On the face of what has been divulged their course seems illogical. Either they know bad news not generally known—which we doubt—or else the knowledge of their own miscalculations has rendered them slightly panicky.

THE GOOD NEIGHBOR.

When the Baskervilles, Chicago chapter of the Baker Street Irregulars, assembled for their annual dinner in honor of Sherlock Holmes about a month ago, the papers in the hands of the chairman included a letter from Dr. Irving S. Cutter. He had attended the dinner of the year before and had remained until the last argument was settled, holding his own with the sharpest adepts in the cult. But he could not join us this year, he stated, because of a slight illness that was keeping him indoors. Nevertheless he would lift a glass that evening, about the time when the ritualistic toast, "To the Woman," would be proposed, and thus would be with us in spirit.

* * *

Dr. Cutter knew then, of course, what all of his readers know now, but it was characteristic of him that no shadow of final parting touched his letter of regrets. No doubt he drank the toast, for he was a good Holmesian, learned in all aspects of the saga of the detective who had a doctor for his Boswell.

* * *

He was also a member of the Westerners, a less frivolous and more active dinner group, devoted to the lore, traditions, and history of the pioneer period in the middle west and far west. Such studies had been among his hobbies for years, and his collection of source books was of library dimensions. About a year ago he gave this valuable assembly of Americana to THE TRIBUNE, and a room that faces the western sky was set apart for its housing.

* * *

This column called Dr. Cutter's its good neighbor, and admired the touches of humor that often marked his sound and readable advice on how to keep well. So in our turn we pay tribute to the memory of a congenial colleague, a distinguished leader in medical science, and an eminent citizen. Eyes right to salute a master in two professions!

NOW WINTER SLEEPS.

Walk softly now, and patiently and slow,
For winter sleeps within her white cocoon;
In silken floss of silence and of snow
Her chrysalis reflects a frosted moon.
Into the shining coverlet is spun
November mists, and fog, and bonfire smoke,
Pale thistledown, and milkweed silk, and sun
Hushed into slumber by the whispering oak.
Out of the nymphal matrix, still and white,
The spool of springtime shall uncoil her skein
Of amber sunshine, tenuous and bright,
And silver loops of tangled, beaded rain.
Out of her careful, muffled coverings

The Lace Paper Valentine.

I was the only boy in the whole one-room schoolhouse to receive a 5 cent valentine. In those days, five for a penny valentines were standard. Of course, if you didn't have the pennies you cut, colored, and decorated your own.

The girl who gave me the talk of the class love token was rich. Each day she had a whole nickel to spend. I vividly remember this valentine. It was a creation of paper lace, embossed gold, and red hearts, with a Cupid aiming his bow and arrow at a lovely damsel. When it was opened and displayed, it stood 8 by 12 inches high. How the kids O'd and Ah'd it. Another thing that made it extra special was the red envelope in which it came.

We deposited valentines in a big paper box on the teacher's desk. In the late afternoon the box was opened and the valentines were given out. But she didn't do it that way. She gave it to me personally the first thing in the morning. She quietly slipped it over her shoulder while we were singing the morning hymn. She sat just in front of me, and many times her inviting, long yellow braids were mischievously dipped into my inkwell, but not that day. I was too entranced by the message she had written on the envelope, "To my darling." For weeks I walked in the happy cloudland of puppy love. But I was rudely awakened when she turned her charm on another classmate. Alexander Belfuss.

Are sadly overpainted, too. Hig.

The Notorious Mr. Beadle.

Linemaster: The old Beadle fan who remarked [Jan. 27] that Beadle never left his readers hanging in the air with "To be continued in our next" has another guess coming. Beadle's most successful venture was his weekly story paper which, as Saturday Star Journal, Beadle's Weekly, and Banner Weekly, appeared without missing an issue for 27 years. In it appeared for the first time many of the stories which were later reprinted, often in abbreviated form and with only a single illustration, in Beadle's Dime Library and Half-Dime Library.

The full name of the late president of Germany [Jan. 26], before Hitler messed things up, was Freiherr von Beneckendorf und Hindenburg. In every day custom, however, only the final name was used. Incidentally, before Hindenburg accepted the presidency of Germany he made a trip to the woodchopper of Doorn in order to be relieved of his oath to the emperor, which every officer had to give upon his election to a lieutenancy. I wonder if the veterans' administration would consider my occupancy of one of the flats as 'income'? That is, would my occupancy count the same as so much income on a pension application?"

No. The only thing that would count would be cash receivable from various sources.

HOW TO KEEP WELL by Dr. Irving S. Cutter

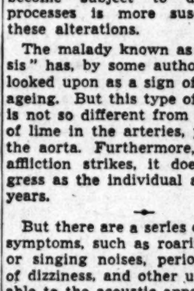
[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MUST OLDSTERS BECOME HARD OF HEARING?

ONE of our recent discussions on the desirability of growing old gracefully brought a large number of inquiries. Many questions referred to deafness. As one writer put it, "Almost every one who passes his 65th birthday expects to become hard of hearing. Is this true and, if so, why?"



As most of us know, the external structure [the shell] shows little change with the passing of time, altho it may become less elastic, exhibit an increased growth of hair, and become the site of more pigment deposits—discoloration of the cuticle. The drum proper, instead of thickening, may be thinner than normal. Perhaps this is nature's way of rendering it more sensitive, compensating for the fact that the canal is likely to narrow.

Because hearing is dependent upon the state of the circulation, the output of the endocrine glands, and the efficient performance of all vital organs, we have good reason to expect some loss in sound perception. The integrity of the blood vessels and the heart is a factor. If the regions of the middle and the inner ears are deprived of adequate nutriment, the whole auditory machinery will slow down. Thus we have the explanation for the fact that with senescence the sense is less acute. Sometimes this is demonstrated by a modification in the pitch of the voice; at others, by loud talking. The one whose arteries, kidneys, etc., have become subject to degenerative processes is more susceptible to these alterations.

The malady known as "otosclerosis" has, by some authorities, been looked upon as a sign of premature ageing. But this type of hardening is not so different from the deposit of lime in the arteries, particularly the aorta. Furthermore, when this affliction strikes, it does not progress as the individual advances in years.

But there are a series of annoying symptoms, such as roaring, hissing, or singing noises, periodic attacks of dizziness, and other upsets traceable to the acoustic apparatus. The best the ear specialist can do in the circumstances is to work in collaboration with a competent medical man who will restore elimination, in so far as possible, and relieve the body of all overloads. In addition he can make certain that nutrition is established at a basic level. The victim can see to it that the canals are clean and free from infection; that chronic catarrh [sinusitis] is treated; and that the heart is doing its part to keep the structures well nourished.

In many instances the patient is not given the benefit of every aid which good medicine can furnish because it is assumed that nothing can be done. He is asked to purchase a hearing device and let it go at that. While these gadgets are of the greatest value, striking improvement may be brought about by a balanced diet, better circulation, and efficient hygiene involving the mechanism of hearing.

As we all realize, many cases of deafness arise in childhood because colds or other infections have been neglected. A running ear is an alarm of fire. Unless the thriving germs are destroyed they in turn may injure vital parts which control the clear understanding of sound.

SEESAW.

D. V. writes: What is Eve's method of resuscitation?

REPLY.

Dr. Eve, of England, described a plan of artificial respiration which is used on many British ships. The victim is placed on a board and is given a ride, teeter-totter fashion. When the head is down, the diaphragm pushes air out of the chest. When the feet are low, the lung cavity enlarges, whereupon air rushes in.

NUMBNESS.

J. K. writes: My arms become numb after I have been asleep three or four hours. Is this due to middle age?

REPLY.

The immediate cause is pressure due to posture or constricting clothing, combined with sluggish circulation. With activity and the restoration of the blood flow, all should be well.

SAC AND TRACK.

Mrs. W. writes: Is a fistula the same as a cyst?

REPLY.

No. A cyst is any sac which contains a liquid or semi-solid substance. A fistula is a canal or opening leading from an abscess to the surface or to an internal hollow organ.

IT SLITHERS.

W. Y. writes: What is a serpent ulcer?

REPLY.

One that creeps, or spreads.

Home.

The soldiers, both sergeants, dragged heavy barracks bags behind them as they trudged slowly toward the gate of the army's Vaughan General hospital. One wore the metallic Burma-India-China shield on his shoulder. The other wore the 9th air force patch. The one from Burma was slight and dark, with a sensitive, withdrawn face. The one from Europe was tall and gangling, with amiable, rugged features and a large mouth. "Goin' by the La Salle st. station?" drawled the big one. Both were on their first convalescent leave.

"Goin' home to see my little ol' mom," began the big one. "Haven't seen her since I enlisted three years ago this month. Called her last night and said, 'Mom, have them hamburgers ready. I'm comin' home.' Boy!" and he whistled happily. "I been tastin' my mom's hamburgers for three years. Every Saturday night she used to make them. Thick ones, full of onion. Hamburgers and beer. Some guys dream about other things. Me, I dreamed about my mom's hamburgers. They sure carried me along. Flyin' over that Ruhr valley where old Jerry's anti-aircraft fire is sure deadly, first they box you with it, then they try to catch you by firin' crosswise thru the box, I'd say to myself, 'Listen, brother, forget them boys down there. Remember mom's hamburgers. . . .'"

"It's good," the quiet, dark one began. "Just riding along is good. Just looking at the snow is good. I came back by way of Miami. The first man off my plane knelt down and kissed the ground. Kissed it."

"Kissin' ain't enough." The big one took over the conversation. "All thru Europe I carried a penny, just an ol' copper penny. I left home with it and I said to myself, 'Brother, if you ever get home, throw that copper penny in the ocean.' Boy, that penny sure saw the world. Saw things I don't want no part of ever again. When that boat I was on come into New York, just at dawn, I'm tellin' you there wasn't a sound on it. Everybody just stood there and stared. After we got off some of the men just planted their big feet on the old U. S. ground and bawled. The boy right behind me stood with his mouth open. A Red Cross lady come up to him and said, 'Want some ice cream, soldier?' He didn't even look at her. He just said 'Unh-unh,' shaking his head. Then all at once he realized what she'd asked him. 'Ice cream?' he yelled. 'Ice cream?' And he raced after her. Me, I had that ol' copper penny in my hand and I just closed my eyes and flipped it back over my head. 'Boy,' I said, 'you're a damn lucky son of a gun!' A general right beside me reared back. 'What was that you said, soldier?' he bellowed. I gave him my snappiest salute and I said, 'I said I'm lucky, sir, and I think I am'."

The quiet, dark one had been alternately smiling and gazing, rather broodingly, out the window as the car drove between rows of homes. Suddenly he turned, startled. "Why," he said, "there's really no one in this country untouched by the war, is there? I've been looking at the windows. Every window has a service star. I've seen some with three, four, and five stars. I had no idea it was like this. Is it like this everywhere?" He was told it was. "Well," he said slowly, "you have to hand it to America. It must be tough on mothers, and not a peep out of them. Just passing thru from hospital to hospital I've been amazed at the patience everywhere, the long rows of people standing in line, just standing in line and waiting a turn."

"Yeah," said the big one. "All the time I was gone not a squeak from my little mom. Just hoped I'd be home soon."

When the car drew up before the railroad station, the two soldiers pulled out their barracks bags. "Gotta be careful with this," the big one said, indicating his. "Got valuables in it." "Champagne," explained the other, smiling. "Two magnums. He carried them all the way from France." "Yes, sir," the big one said. "We're not gonna have beer with mom's hamburgers this Saturday night. We're gonna have champagne, boy, and plenty!"

HER SON GAVE HIS LIFE.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—On Jan. 7 at 2:30 p. m. Yellow Cab No. 1490 was engaged by a Mrs. Ned Ganson and Mrs. Sheldon Harris for a trip to Austin av. and Lake st. Two other passengers were also in the cab.

The driver became abusive to the passengers immediately after leaving the depot, stating that he was losing money and that they should all be taking street cars for points outside the loop. He drove them to 22d and Cicero and collected $1 from each passenger.

Mrs. Ganson and Mrs. Harris were then forced to engage another cab to the Lake st. "L" station at Austin av., where they boarded the "L" train and they were forced to again engage a Blue cab at Marion st. in Oak Park for the trip to their home.

Had the driver followed the instructions given by the cab starter and the police officer present, they would have been able to meet a Blue Cab at Austin av. for the remainder of their trip.

Now, the reason for writing is that Mrs. Ganson was returning from my home, after having received word that her 19 year old son had been killed in France, and was under the doctor's care and near collapse when this mercenary driver and careless supervision caused this shameful occurrence. I consider the driver one of the most un-American people that we have had the misfortune to encounter.

MAIL TO THE PACIFIC.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Every package we sent our boys in the Pacific was delivered in fine shape, and we feel the postal service did a fine job. Of course, we did not send 20 or 30 packages.

We do have a little fault to find with the air mail service in that direction. Air mail letters we sent with our Christmas packages still had not reached their destination, last we heard. Recently I was in San Francisco and made inquiries about air mail letters. I gather that everybody is sending air mail and I was given to understand that they are literally swamped, with hundreds of bags of mail waiting to be shipped. Apparently there is no permanent staff at the fleet postoffice, but is made up of fellows about to be shipped to other ports. It would seem to me, that the navy and army postal service should have available to them the best and most experienced of post-office help; surely, there must be any number of older men in the army and navy who have had such experience and could be stationed here permanently. Mail to our sons is as important as Christmas packages, be it V-mail, air mail, or regular.

But—use V-mail if you want speed. I found that out. PAUL V. G.

DR. CUTTER'S HELPFULNESS.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—I am taking this occasion to testify to the great kindness of Dr. Irving S. Cutter, whose recent death has been a great loss to your readers as well as to others.

Some time in the past I had at different times occasion to write Dr. Cutter for personal advice and he always replied promptly and courteously, sparing no pains to give me the information I needed. I am sure that there are many others who can testify to similar kindly services of Dr. Cutter. This seems all the more remarkable knowing how busy a man he was.

MAYBE IT'S JUST IGNORANCE.

Fort Thomas, Ky., Feb. 2.—Perhaps it is asking too much to expect the Democrats to respect the Constitution. It is hard for one to respect a thing one knows little or nothing about.

Several days ago telegrams were sent to the two Cincinnati members of the house of representatives in Washington requesting that they both vote in favor of the confirmation of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce. The messages were signed by a defeated Democratic candidate for congress who has just been appointed industrial relations director at $6,500 a year by Ohio's new Democratic governor, two Democratic mayors of suburban towns in the greater Cincinnati area, and the ex-Democratic mayor of Norwood, O., as well as by various CIO and AFL officials.

It remained for one of the representatives, both Republicans, to enlighten these Democrats on the fact that under the Constitution it is the senate and not the house of representatives which has the power to pass on Presidential appointments. Heigh-ho!

THEFTS FROM SOLDIER'S MAIL.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—A soldier friend, who has been in the South Pacific several years, wrote that he was sending his footlocker home. It came Dec. 5, but empty, altho its label said it contained "wood carvings, bracelets, necklaces, scarfs, postcards, etc—and some clothing."

I found out you have to leave the key on a footlocker if it is sent parcel post or goes thru the customs office, and parcel post was the only way it could be sent. The key was fastened on by a very thin string that could not have been on all the way from the South Pacific. I filled out papers, etc., at the Roseland postoffice where it had been stamped "Received Empty," but have received no answer. All they say is: "It takes time." Well since Dec. 5 is quite a while . . .

The soldier is now in a hospital in San Francisco—"nerves shot," he called it when he last wrote from the South Pacific—and how can I tell him his gifts for his friends are gone?

While history shows that the Indians were definitely the first "scalp specialists" in America, it also shows that science has come a long ways since those pioneer days. The modern "scalp specialists" have no flair for the Wild West —in fact they are expert in the art of bringing soothing, restful, relief to scalps that itch and burn because of local irritation (such as dandruff).

Thomas experts have treated more than a quarter-million persons during the past 20 years (and never lost a scalp)! Such popularity IS deserved . . . deserved because Thomas quickly removes those aggravating dandruff scales and leaves your scalp feeling fresh, clean, and healthy. NEW STATE MAP DRAWN, SHIFTING VOTE DISTRICTS

Would Give Chicago Half of 26 Congress Seats.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—Gov. Green said today he has hopes of seeing the legislature pass a congressional reapportionment bill giving Cook county 13 seats and downstate 13 seats. Under the 1901 law Cook county has 10 seats, downstate 15, and the 26th congressman is elected at large.

Rep. Virkus [R., Riverside] reported to the governor that 11 of the 14 downstate Republican congressmen are supporting the remapping plan. Virkus was in Washington last week-end and talked by phone today with Rep. Reed [R., West Chicago], chairman of a Republican committee to deal with the subject.

Asked to Prepare Bill.

The governor disclosed that he has asked Virkus to prepare a bill for reapportionment of legislative districts. Offhand, he said, it appears that it would be impossible to pass such a bill unless it was based upon a compromise of Cook county's claim to a majority of seats in both houses.

The Illinoisans in Washington drew up 15 forms of redistricting, finally selecting one, which is expected to be changed a good deal. Virkus plans another trip to Washington Feb. 16.

On the map now in Virkus' hands, two Republican congressmen downstate would be thrown into districts with other G. O. P. members. Rep. Heidinger's 24th district would be divided between Rep. Vursell [R., Salem] and Rep. Bishop [R., Carterville]. Jessie Sumner [R., Milford] would be placed in a district with Rep. Arends [R., Melvin].

Heidinger Seriously Ill.

Heidinger is seriously ill in a hospital and is not expected to run again. Virkus said Miss Sumner had told her colleagues she did not intend to seek reëlection but after the mapping job had been done, changed her mind. He said he will try to find some solution of this problem.

Rep. Church [R., Evanston] was reported to be opposing the plan because it would remove Lake county from his 10th district, third largest in the state, with 625,000 population. Virkus said no legal redistricting can be done with Lake county included in Church's district.

Legislators here said they are puzzled by Church's attitude because he usually wins by majorities of around 60,000 and would have nothing to fear even if he were to lose the heavy G. O. P. margins of Lake county.

Aids G. O. P. in County.

It is reported the setup of 13 Cook county districts would virtually assure Republicans of winning five congressional seats there, where in 1944 they got only one, and in 1942 got three.

Use would be made of suburban territory to increase G. O. P. chances in the Chicago area. At the worst the Republicans would pick up two Cook county seats to offset the loss of two downstate seats, according to one proponent of the plan.

Virkus said the project would create districts with population ranging from 287,000 to 326,000 in Cook county, and from 270,000 to 306,000 downstate. The 44 year old present map has districts ranging in population from 112,000 to 914,000 in Chicago and from 162,000 to 385,000 downstate.

Illinois now has both the largest and the smallest congressional districts in the United States.

Plan Termed Fair.

Because Cook county has 53 per cent of the state's population it would have 14 of the 26 seats under an apportionment based upon total population. But taking into account the 186,000 aliens over 21 years of age in Cook in 1940, the "13-13" plan is fair, according to its sponsors.

In 1931 the legislature made a congressional reapportionment which had districts ranging in population from 158,000 to 541,000. The Illinois Supreme court held the act unconstitutional on grounds that it violated a provision of the Illinois organic law that all elections shall be free and equal.

There no longer exists any federal restrictions upon state legislative action in setting up congressional districts.

In 1941 a "13-13" bill was defeated in the house, 77 to 59, but its provisions meant that four seated congressmen would be deprived of their positions.

PLAN STAINLESS STEEL HOSIERY AS NYLON RIVAL

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Stainless steel hosiery may compete with nylons after the war, says Walter Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel institute.

The industry also plans to market colored steel which would reduce the cost of paint jobs in automobile factories, Tower told the association of customers' brokers at the New York Stock exchange.

"Probably the most spectacular new product which some steel executives mention as a possibilty is stainless steel hosiery," Tower said. Some companies already are producing stainless steel wire comparable to silk or nylon threads, Tower said. "You have heard of suits made of milk, ties of glass fiber, so why not stockings from steel?" he added.

16,000 OF THEM
—at your service day and night

Here are neighbors of yours. Just a few of the 16,000 of them who work night and day to keep Chicago's Surface Lines rolling.

Frankly, nowadays these men are not always happy about the service they can give—but under present emergency conditions that is easily understood.

Upwards of 4,000,000 riders a day are stepping on and off Surface Lines street cars and buses as America's second largest city travels to and from war-essential jobs.

To care for this expanded transportation demand Chicago Surface Lines is forced to operate more route miles than at any previous time. This is being done despite more than 2,000 of our trained workers having been called to the armed forces, as well as the disturbing effect of the war on employment and a critical manpower shortage.

Many of these 16,000 neighbors of yours give up rest days and work extra hours other days to make sure Chicago's war workers are at their battle stations when needed. Depend upon it—they will keep right on doing all within their power to provide the best possible service despite the handicaps of the times.

WANTED—AT ONCE: 1,000 TROLLEY PILOTS

Once the Surface Lines main aim was to obtain new buses and street cars for the comfort of our passengers. But just as the war made new vehicles scarce, so has the war made necessary changes in our immediate aim. For more than a year we have been seeking enough men to keep present equipment in operation. If this equipment is to be kept rolling, upwards of 1,000 conductors and motormen are needed right now. Steady jobs, good pay.

CHICAGO'S CITY-WIDE TRANSIT SERVICE

GIVE DOWNSTATE GREEN LIGHT ON OWN AIR PLAN

Still Undecided on What Chicago Needs.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—While compromise efforts slowed legislative progress of the revised airport authority bill, Chicago spokesmen said today they are ready to offer an amendment making it applicable only to downstate cities.

Sen. Daley [D., Chicago] said Mayor Kelly and other Chicagoans haven't decided what type of airport control the metropolitan district will want, and that meanwhile the downstaters should go ahead with their own plan for new governmental bodies which would permit cities to construct airports in rural areas.

Downstate interests failed to compromise all their differences and indications increased that the bill might not be enacted in time for a Supreme court test before the 64th general assembly adjourns June 30. The pending bill, by Senators Peter [R., St. Joseph], Giffin [R., Springfield], Carpentier [R., East Moline], and Lohmann [D., Pekin], is a substitute for a 1943 law held invalid by the high court.

Suggests Compromise.

Paul Mathias, Illinois agricultural association attorney, proposed that only cities of 15,000 or more population be permitted to form airport authorities. As drafted by Hugh Dobbs, Springfield corporation counsel, the bill set the population minimum at 5,000.

With reluctance Dobbs suggested a compromise under which any city of 10,000 could use the proposed plan of airport acquisition and operation, while several senators insisted that the 5,000 figure be retained. Sen. Crisenberry [R., Murphysboro] said abandonment of the 5,000 population minimum would prevent airports at Murphysboro, Carbondale, and Chester, all of which have expressed interest in the bill. Aviation officials said they expected federal aid would be made available for airports in cities of more than 5,000 population.

To Vote Next Week.

Dobbs agreed to a demand by Mathias, in which the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois had joined, that at referenda on formation of an airport authority the ballots clearly inform the voters that the proposition involves a tax levy of not more than 1½ mills and power to issue bonds up to 1 per cent of the assessed valuation.

The amendments proposed at the senate hearing today will be voted upon next week. Both houses adjourned until Tuesday.

ILLINOIS SENATE TO PROBE RAIL TICKET SCALPING

Pullman Space Black Market Charged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—The senate voted today to create a special committee to investigate charges by Sen. Libonati [D., Chicago] that scalpers are collecting from $5 to $50 extra for Pullman reservations.

Libonati's resolution, adopted without dissent, said standard scalper rates, added to regular prices for space, are, upper berth, $5; lower berth, $10; roomette, $25, and drawing room, $50. The scalpers operate in "certain hotels in Chicago, the resolution set forth.

"It has been common knowledge that thru official channels Pullman space has been hoarded and, further, that Pullman reservations have been frozen by means of fake diagrams and fake number charts," the resolution said.

Libonati said that while Pullman space theoretically is made available 30 days before departure time, actually the accommodations are diverted from ticket sellers to a black market. He said the traveling public has been forced to deal with scalpers, agencies, and hotel porters.

Lt. Gov. Cross appointed the following to the investigation committee: Senators Libonati, Wimbish [D., Chicago], Bidwill [R., River Forest], chairman; Thompson [R., Galesburg], and Knox [R., Chicago].

Libonati said he would subpena witnesses to support contentions that civilian travel is unnecessarily handicapped.

SCALPING DOUBTED.

Action of the Illinois senate brought statements yesterday from passenger officials of Chicago railroads that repeated investigations had failed to show a black market in railroad tickets here.

"The railroads will be glad to get any help they can from the Illinois senate committee in stamping out any black market in railroad reservations that may exist in Chicago," said H. W. Siddall, chairman of the Transcontinental Passenger association. "The railroads, in fact, have been doing everything they can to keep the black market out, including employment of two detective agencies. They also have had the assistance of the FBI.

COUNCIL OF AFL TAKES UP LEWIS RETURN TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor will grapple tomorrow with the old issue of readmittance to the AFL fold of John L. Lewis and his 600,000 United Mine Workers. The council is holding its midwinter session here.

The question is before the council on a communication from Lewis in reply to an invitation to return extended by William Green, AFL president, on orders from the AFL national convention held last November in New Orleans.

Green said today he has had two talks on the subject with the mine boss since the New Orleans convention. The return of the miners is expected to get strong opposition from Daniel Tobin, head of the powerful teamsters' union and close friend of President Roosevelt. AFL leaders here insist that Tobin's stand is dictated from the White House.

"If I had known, when I was your age, what I know now, I wouldn't be running for this bus. There was a war on then, too—World War I. When we went in, I got turned down for the Army, and I took a job as a machinist at the Navy Yard.

"We worked overtime a lot and wages were high—higher than most of us had ever made before. I had a couple of buddies in the shop, and we had a good time. Hardly a night passed that we weren't out somewhere, throwing our money around.

"I knew one fellow in the shop who had enough sense to save his money. It was Jack Harris. Every pay day he bought a Liberty Bond. When the war ended, he had saved enough to start a small business. Some of us were as broke as when we began."

"He's practically retired now. Before the war he used to go South every winter; and when it's over, he'll probably go again. I don't begrudge him that—wish I could, myself. But it makes me sore to think what a fool I was!

"So take a tip from the Government, Jim—and Jack Harris—and put every cent you can into War Bonds, life insurance, and a savings account!"

THE financial health of America as a whole depends upon the financial health of every individual. This in turn depends largely upon how much each of us knows about the part he must play in the general economic picture, for his own best interests and the best interests of the country.

Recognizing this, America's Life Insurance Companies are sponsoring this educational program as a public service to the 68,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American citizen.

On the Aisle

Exit the "Widow."

Negotiations to keep "The Merry Widow" at the Civic Opera house fell thru yesterday and the show ends its engagement and its season Saturday night, leaving the big house dark until "Blossom Time" rushes to the rescue Feb. 26. The management might spend some of that time thinking up a new name. The tag "Civic" has quietly been dropped, and hardly any one knows what you mean when you say just plain opera house. Sounds too much like the "op'ry house" of rustic jokes.

Refund, Please.

Ever want to talk back to the radio? I'll bet a lot of people did when "Information, Please!" called Clifton Webb wrong in saying that "Madame Butterfly" qualified as being first a play, then an opera, then a movie. Many people remember the Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant remake, but how many remember the old one with Marshall Nielan as Pinkerton and no less than Mary Pickford as Cio-Cio-San? Miss Pickford didn't commit hara-kiri. She drowned herself picturesquely by walking down the steps of a deep pool.

Hymns and Heresy.

Many of the New York reviews on Margaret Webster's revival of "The Tempest" leap right on the bandwagon, but there are sour exceptions. Jack O'Brian of the AP decided that Miss Webster's ectoplasmic rapport with the Bard had blown a tube, and George Jean Nathan, writing that the $50,000 spent on the production was too much for the simple, intelligent staging it should have had and not anything like enough for the ornate staging it got, added, "It costs from $30,000 to $40,000 these days to put on even a simple one-set play in any fully reputable manner. I know of one such play, indeed, due next month, which not only has just the one set and only four characters and which, to be staged handsomely, has cost from $5,000 to $8,000 more than the $40,000." Sounds like "The Glass Menagerie" to me.

Notes.

At yesterday's matinée of "The Voice of the Turtle," when Hugh Marlowe finished with K. T. Stevens' telephone, a woman in the audience said, "My, that girl's going to have a terrible telephone bill." . . . Margaret Sullavan couldn't get decent flying weather, and Florence Rice is back in the New York show. I won't mention it again unless Alfred de Liagre or John Van Druten goes on as Sally. . . . Jarmila Novotna sings her first Mélisande at the Metropolitan in New York Feb. 14, and Martial Singher sings his first Met Figaro Feb. 17. . . . Phil Spitalny's Hour of Charm orchestra will play a special concert at the Chicago service men's center at the Auditorium at 8:15 tonight. Convalescents from hospitals will be guests, as well as service men and women in this area. . . . John Carter, formerly of the Metropolitan, is soloist with Désiré Defauw and the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Great Lakes Feb. 13. . . . Did you hear about the man who ran for the "Oklahoma!" train and arrived in Milwaukee instead of Tulsa?

Infant Welfare Care Given to 11,300 in 1944

In 1944 more than 11,300 expectant mothers, infants, and pre-school children in the poorer sections of Chicago received free medical care thru the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago. This report was made yesterday at the 34th annual meeting of the society, attended by 400 persons, in the La Salle hotel.

Three thousand volunteers of 34 centers of the women's auxiliary, 6,000 contributing members of the society, and the 41 nurses, four nutritionists, one mental hygienist, and 14 physicians working in the society's 21 infant welfare stations extended the health service.

Involved in the thousands of cases were 53,220 conferences between mothers and doctors, and 71,303 home visits by nurses and nutritionists, in line with the society's policy of preventing illness among small children of families financially unable to afford private medical care.

Dr. Heyworth N. Sanford, medical director, told the session that prenatal care was given to 678 expectant mothers, with no maternal deaths. Among the 5,569 infants cared for, there were only 18 deaths, or a death rate of 3.2 per 1,000 babies. The greatest single death factor, he said, was pneumonia, which accounted for approximately half of the total infant mortality.

The society operated with a budget of $163,632 last year, Donald B. Douglas, treasurer, told the members. The cost of providing health service for one year is $12 for each expectant mother or her child, he said.

Philip D. Armour, president, described the difficulties of the society's work under war time conditions. "The calling of doctors and nurses into military uniform has made it necessary for remaining staff members to double their efforts," he said.

Officers elected or reëlected to head the society in 1945 are Lucius Teter, one of the founders, chairman; Mr. Armour, president; Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot and Gaylord A. Freeman Jr., vice presidents; Erskine Wilder, secretary, and Mr. Douglas, treasurer. All directors were reëlected.

The women's auxiliary raised $124,002 thru benefit events, made 11,762 infants' garments, and gave 5,481 hours of volunteer service last year, Mrs. Pope Dodge, reëlected president, reported.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 7.—Ginger Rogers' next will be an original story by Vicki Baum entitled "Mexican Honeymoon," with music and dancing which Warren Duff will produce at RKO. Both Ginger and Charlie Koerner are pretty excited about her homecoming. . . . Paul Draper will arrive in three weeks to work out dance routines with Joan Caulfield for "Blue Skies." . . . Paramount has signed John Lund, leading man from "The Hasty Heart," but can't get him till July. . . . Charlie McCarthy claims it's corny, but he's heard his pappy, Edgar Bergen, will marry on Valentine's day. "He better had," says Charlie, "'cause the ring has worn a hole in Ken Murray's pocket, where it's been for four months. Had I gotten the ring, the wedding would have been over long ago."

Whole Crosby Clan Gets Together.

Universal has a wonderful story it wants Merle Oberon to do. It's a Bruce Manning script called "As It Was Before." I hear Metro's offered $200,000 for it, but Universal won't sell. . . . Bob Crosby was here one day from the South Pacific, and his older brother Ted came down from Washington, so the whole Crosby clan got together for an old-fashioned tintype. . . . When Mike Todd arrived here, he went to see Joe Schenck and beg his forgiveness for not producing his picture under the 20th Century banner. They're great friends. Mike's going to produce Edna Ferber's "Great Son" himself. . . . After Sam Goldwyn saw "Central Park" he turned to Lee Shubert, with whom he was standing, and said, "Early tomorrow morning I'm going to sign that leading lady." Lee replied, "You'll have to get up mighty early, 'cause Todd has signed her for seven years."

Hold Your Horses! No Betting!

When Fred MacMurray and Leslie Fenton do "Pardon My Past," they have to put on a horse race, or will, if they get permission. They've already got Charlie Howard's okay to use his horses. Any number of jockeys are itching for a chance to ride. Grandstand would be filled with friends, and of course no betting. But I've got a better idea: Why not charge admission, give the money to a war charity, then see if those folk who bleat "It's a crime to stop racing" [and I'm not one of them] will attend—when they can't bet. . . . Norman Taurog finally goes to work. He'll direct "The Hoodlum Saint," with Cliff Reid producing.

The Bell Ringer Makes Some Noise.

Leo McCarey wanted to call "Going My Way" "Bells of St. Mary's"—Paramount wouldn't have it. So now he's got his bells and belle, meaning Ingrid Bergman. . . . The picture "Tomorrow the World" is being used for educational tests. In Pasadena, the Los Angeles county board of education is showing the picture in schoolrooms to learn whether children are up on world affairs. They find the kids' parents should hang their heads in shame. The kids know more than grownups. But our city board of education wouldn't go for it.

Here Comes the Navy.

Gilbert Miller was here one day, escorted by navy gold braid. They called on Elsie Mendl. She received him in her bedroom, while gold braid waited. Elsie had just come home from the hospital. . . . Elia Kazan, who directed "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," couldn't be located for an interview. He's in the South Pacific to establish service men's little theaters on the islands. He was sent by the secretary of war. . . . Ramon Novarro is studying music composition at the University of Southern California. He wants to be a composer. . . . Carleton Morse's mystery stories which have been made at Columbia by Wally McDonald [formerly Clara Bow's leading man] are so popular the studio has bought two more.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
1 clubs	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 spades	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of diamonds.

The bidding of today's hand was very sound. West naturally opened with a spade, and East responded temporarily with two hearts. West now jumped to four clubs because a mere bid of three clubs at this point is not absolutely forcing. It is true that it is a new suit but the responder is not under obligation to respond to a new suit if there was something wrong with his first bid. Therefore, the jump shift is necessary to guarantee another chance and to force a game contract.

East, of course, did four diamonds and West rebid his six card suit. No further delay was necessary and East, having a good opening bid of his own, partner having opened the bidding and jumped, naturally bid the slam himself. The opening lead by North was the five of diamonds, which West won with the king. He now recognized the desirability of leading the trumps from dummy, which he entered with the ace of hearts. South ducked the spade and West won with the queen. There was now no safe way to enter dummy to lead another spade. Declarer might attempt to ruff the third round of clubs, but there was grave danger of an overruff.

Hoping that North's play of the jack was a false card and that the 10 would drop next time, West led a spade and was defeated one trick. It was too late for him to do his thinking. The place for him to have taken time out was on the opening lead. West was living from trick to trick instead of forming a campaign. He should have recognized that it might be necessary to lead spades twice from the dummy, and therefore the ace of diamonds should have been played to the first trick.

West was ruined by his parsimonious instincts. It is a strange thing that if West had held the deuce of diamonds instead of the king, he could not possibly have lost the hand.

Murder Story Handled with Skill in Movie

"THE SUSPECT."

By Mae Tinée.

As you might gather from the title, this is a murder story—not a mystery in the ordinary sense of the word, inasmuch as the audience has a pretty good idea of the culprit's identity while Scotland Yard is tracking him down.

Mr. Laughton is the manager of a London tobacco shop and the husband of a shrew, a woman with a vile temper who alienates their only child and makes their home a place of misery. Her spouse is a patient and long suffering man, but there comes a time when the shrew is tamed—but good!

There are two deaths in the film, but I will let the British inspector, as ably portrayed by Stanley Ridges, unravel them via the screen.

Mr. Laughton gives his usual smooth performance, but he has a long, curly hair-do that makes him look a bit like a sulky kewpie. That a young and beautiful girl whom he has befriended falls madly in love with him seems a bit incongruous. Rosalind Ivan is so good in her role that you'd like to swing on her yourself, and Miss Raines seems more natural and less rigid than she has in other films. Henry Daniell quite equals Mr. Laughton with his version of an aristocratic cad. Suspense is neatly built up with many clever touches, and the story is handled with finesse.

It's not one of the best tales of sudden death I've ever seen, and seemed a bit old-fashioned and lacking in punch, maybe because the sleuth relies on psychology rather than handcuffs to capture his culprit, but I doubt if you'll go to sleep while you're seeing it.

Russian Niece of Voevodskys Gets Welcome

BY JUDITH CASS.

RECEIVING a royal welcome in Chicago is Mrs. Ned Russell, the Russian beauty whom Mrs. George Voevodsky's nephew married in London in October, 1943, and who is the first member of his family that Col. Voevodsky has seen since he emigrated to the United States 22 years ago. Col. Voevodsky went to New York to meet his niece, who is the former Mary Voevodsky, when she landed on her first trip to America.

After seeing the sights of New York and calling on the new arrival's cousins, Prince and Princess Sergei Belosselsky and their infant daughter, Marina, Col. Voevodsky, Mrs. Russell, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Greeley Russell, came to Chicago Tuesday. They had a family reunion dinner that night with Mr. Russell's grandmother, Mrs. Edmund A. Russell, who is staying temporarily in the Palmer House, and then Mrs. Ned and Mrs. Greeley Russell went to the Lake Forest home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Ellsworth Faris.

The younger Mrs. Russell shortly will go to the Libertyville farm of Col. and Mrs. Voevodsky, where she will make friends with her only blood first cousins, their young sons, Peter, 9, and Jackie, 7.

Young Mr. Russell, who has been overseas as a war correspondent for five years, serving first in the African and Italian campaigns and later in Normandy, lately has been head of a news bureau in London. He is expected soon in New York, where his wife and mother and Col Voevodsky will meet him. Meanwhile young Mrs. Russell, whose father, Nicholas Voevodsky is in Spain, and whose mother, Mrs. Mary Perovsky Voevodsky, lives in London, will be meeting her many American connections here, as well as some old friends from Chicago whom she met while serving with the Red Cross in London. Col. and Mrs. Voevodsky have had much first hand news of her from Maj. Graham Aldis and Col. Kingman Douglass, among others, who had met her there.

Here and There.

Returning to Chicago for a visit next Monday are Mr. and Mrs. Tharp S. Roberts Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla. To welcome them, Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fitzmorris, will entertain at cocktails Monday afternoon.

To welcome home their son, Lt. James J. Dingman of the navy, after 18 months of combat duty in the Pacific, Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Dingman will entertain at cocktails at home Sunday afternoon. Lt. Dingman participated in 24 major engagements.

In Lake Forest for a month's visit with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Preston, is Mrs. Henry A. Preston. The younger Mrs. Preston is living in New York while Lt. Preston is on duty with the navy overseas.

Engagement News.

Of interest is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Kenworthy Jones, daughter of Mrs. Jesse R. Jones of Highland Park and the late Mr. Jones, to David T. Sanders III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanders, also of Highland Park. Mr. Sanders is at home on a 30 day furlough from service in the merchant marine. He also has served a year in India with the American field service.

Miss Jones, whose brother, Lt. Tom Jones, is serving in the Pacific with the marines, attended Rockford college, at which her younger sister, Dorothy, now is a student, was graduated from Northwestern university. She has a twin sister, Mrs. Robert Earhart. Mr. Sanders attended Lake Forest academy, Dartmouth college, and Northwestern university.

Mrs. Margarita Weaver of W. Elm st. announces the engagement of her daughter, Suzanne Seymour, to Laurence H. Brink Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Brink of Oak Park. Miss Weaver, daughter of the late John Weaver, attended the Girls' Latin school, the University of California,

The Thing for Spring in Black and White Checks

Individuality Achieved with New Suit Trio

BY REA SEEGER.

That triumphant combination of suit and topper again is a foundation costume for the well planned wardrobe. The suit is a two-piecer with a slim straight skirt, and the jacket, this spring, is beautifully cut and fitted. The companion topcoat follows the same general line and detail. These three pieces are separable and interchangeable with other important models in the wardrobe. Or they can be combined with new extras.

Many a smartly dressed woman achieves a reputation for individuality with such a trio. This spring you'll see not only exciting new color combinations but also the classics made all of the same material or pattern.

The first arrivals are the slim, softly tailored suits and knee length smart coats, in fine wool, with superb tailored details managed by all the designers. Already unpacked are the checks in every known width and size, the stunning plaids (which come in neutral tones and in vivid strong colored contrasts), the monotones, and the three shades of one color.

Dramatic tricolor combinations also are featured. One model consists of a blue skirt, a beige jacket, and a red topper. There are many other variations on the theme. For example, there is the plain solid color skirt, teamed with a checked jacket, and topped with a solid color topcoat considerably darker than the skirt. It is a smooth example of a triparty agreement.

Spring navy blue, that perennial charmer, is here again. You'll find stunning two-piece navy blue suits worn with the newest excitement—the jaunty short topcoats of off-white. They also are effective with the longer coats that swing low around the hemline of the suit skirt. Dull moss-green with off-white is another idea. Beige shades are outstanding contrast colors for topcoats to be worn with solid colored suits, with suits of small patterns or with distinctive tweed mixtures.

Secretarial Duties.

To complete the study of a private secretary's duties made by Prof. Frederick G. Nichols of Harvard university, a list was circulated among secretaries and employers enumerating 35 duties with the request that they be numbered in order of importance. The 15 leading duties in the combined opinion of secretaries and employers were:

1. Take dictation.
2. Transcribe shorthand notes.
3. Handle callers.
4. Write original letters.
5. Organize facts.
6. Answer letters.
7. Organize office routine.
8. Note information on letters.
9. Handle incoming mail.
10. Read and release letters for mailing.
11. Organize files and systems.
12. Take care of personal accounts.
13. Consult reference books.
14. Make appointments.
15. Do banking for employer.

That Ol' Inferiority Complex.

"The central problem of most people is their feeling of inadequacy for life. How many of us have been almost overwhelmed with an appalling sense of inferiority! . . . The main thing, therefore, is to try to see yourself as you actually are. . . . The least of us can say, 'I can't do everything, but I can do something, and I'm going to do it with all my mind, heart, and soul.' . . . In the great scheme of things, whoever you are, there is only one of you. . . . There is some place only you can fill; there is something only you can do. . . . That is the only healthy minded way to look at yourself in the face of life's unequal endowments."—From "Take a Look at Yourself," by John Homer Miller.

Who's Calling, Please?

If you'll take the word of Telephony, Barbara Fritchey of Cleveland, O., recently called for John Paul Jones. Miss Fritchey of the Cuyahoga county war finance committee wanted to inform Mr. Jones of Youngstown, O., that Daniel Boon, Paul Whiteman, and George Washington were to be speakers at a meeting.

Unholy Smokes.

I sit and storm and fume and fret
Because of my pet gripe,
Since cigarets are hard to get
My boss has bought a pipe.

Some pipes are good and some are bad
And some are simply so-so. . . .
But you should get a whiff or two

BETSY OF LA SALLE-WACKER.

Noon Hour Observations.

The man, or woman, who will "get it out on time" is the one who eventually will give the boss a neck and neck race for his job.

Glowing enthusiasm, even tho misguided, is better than languid unconcern.

We are being sized up when we least expect it.

If all the brooms in the world were laid end to end, most women would leave 'em lay.

Tell Job Fields for Women in Transportation

BY JUNE GESERICK.

A report on permanent job opportunities for girls and women in the transportation industry was released yesterday by Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, chairman of the women's executive committee of the state office of public instruction.

The report, said to be the only detailed study of its kind, was made under the supervision of Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of schools. It is the first in a series of 26 such surveys covering the nation's most important industries and was based on a study of 102 transportation companies.

A summary of the report follows:

In the railroad and air line companies, the educational and training requirements have been lowered, and some positions eliminated or merged. Three new types of jobs, however, now are listed for women in the air lines. They are accounting clerk, dictaphone operator, and dietitian. The operation of teletype machines has been made a function of the communication clerks. There will be no more women publicity representatives. Seamstresses have been eliminated.

Changes in job requirements in the air lines are typified by the changed age category of stewardesses. Prior to 1941 they were required to be from 21 to 27 years of age, but now they may be from 21 to 28 years. Previously, air lines hostesses were required to be from 5 feet 1 inch to 5 feet 6 inches tall, but they now must come within the limits of 5 feet 2 inches and 5 feet 7 inches. Maximum weight for a stewardess formerly was 120 pounds, but it now has been increased to 127 pounds.

A new job in the air lines is that of passenger agent. Young women seeking such positions are required to have natural sales ability, a pleasing appearance, personality, and voice. Some college training or public contact work experience is preferred, and employers usually seek fairly tall girls. Passenger agents may not wear glasses.

In railroading, some 23 new types of jobs have been added for women since 1941. Seventeen of these are classified as executive positions, and the berth of assistant to the general traffic manager has been added as that of a company official. The position of tour director has been discontinued. Some of the new executive opportunities are: advisor, feminine personnel, city passenger agent, convention traffic agent, travel counselor, general freight agent, manager of reservation bureau, and press representative.

In regular job listings, new places are those of women conductors, ticket takers and sellers, rate clerks, reservation clerks, and cashiers.

There have been no changes in jobs or job requirements in the steamship lines or bus companies.

The survey, which was made by women in the transportation industry for those who seek jobs in that field, shows that of the 98 different jobs women hold in transportation, 52 are in the railroads, 21 of the jobs are in air lines, 16 in motor, and nine in steamship lines. In 1941 the railroads opened 23 new job opportunities for women. The air lines opened two.

The transportation survey was directed by Miss Mary T. Hughes of United Air Lines. She was assisted by Miss Marion A. McKinney, of Union Pacific railroad, Mrs. Mary C. Richardson of the Cleveland and Buffalo Steamship comany, and Miss Nina Baker of the Chicago Motor club.

Boy's Favors Deserve Only a 'Thank You'

(Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.)

It can happen every time. Take one boy, take one gal, give them a few dates together and then stand back to watch what happens. It may be the fellow, it may be the girl, but one inevitably moves into the starry-eyed, hand-holding department, ready to make this thing go on forever, while the other is still looking the field over.

on the SOLID side

While one-half of the dating duet is completely enchanted with the other, making with the affections and small attentions, the No. 2 character may begin to wonder if all this consideration will bring more obligation than the usual "thank you." And this time it's a gal, singing the blues:

"Within the last year I began dating a very nice boy. He did several favors for me, such as going to a dance, a party, and a picnic to which I asked him. He's definitely not a wolf, but recently he asked me for a good night kiss, and I refused. It's not that I am a 'holy joe,' but I'm not the kind of girl who kisses every boy good night. The fellow gave me a very nice Christmas present and a beautiful corsage for the dance, altho he needn't have done that. Now this is what I want to know—in return for his favors, gifts, and friendship, does he, or any other fellow, expect to be paid off with a kiss?"

Even if a fellow brought you an orchid a day and three on Sunday, took you dining and dancing four times a week, and was willing to give you his watch, his wallet, and A-card, there still would be no "kissing" obligations involved. If his friendship is truly sincere, if you feel gratitude but not affection, then all the appreciation you have to show is a truly sincere "thank you."

8,000 Sought as WAC Aids for Hospitals

Boyle Heads Drive

Brig. Gen. Leo M. Boyle, adjutant general of Illinois, yesterday was appointed by Gov. Green as state chairman in a campaign to recruit WACs for service in army general hospitals. The state's quota in the one month drive, which will begin Feb. 16, is 405 WACs.

BY DOROTHY JOHNSON.

Because the wounded returned to the United States from the battle fields for treatment and rehabilitation must have care—women's care—the army now is in the midst of a nation-wide program, under the sponsorship of 48 state governors, to recruit 8,000 qualified women by May 1 to serve as medical technicians in the WAC.

In the two and a half years preceding the invasion of France, total American battle casualties were 224,693. From D day last June to Jan. 1, 1945, casualties on the western front in the army ground forces alone were 332,912, of whom 232,672 were wounded.

These men, as well as large numbers returning from Pacific war theaters, need trained women soldiers to assist doctors and nurses in the wards and operating rooms of army general hospitals. The women also will give bedside care, keep daily records, check diets, make beds, and transport patients to operating rooms and clinics.

The hospitals need trained women in army uniform to perform these tasks so that they may be used where acute shortages of help exist. However capable civilian technicians may be, the army says, they can, if they wish, leave the job, whereas women under army oath would be prepared to go on duty where and when required.

To meet the emergency created by mounting casualty lists, and the shortage of army nurses, Gen. Marshall has assigned to the WAC the recruiting and training of women to form 103 medical units for assignment to 60 general hospitals in the United States.

The training is by platoons to facilitate basic and advanced instruction and to make it possible to assign groups to a hospital as rapidly as they become available at the technicians' schools. The full complement of a WAC hospital company is 100 women.

Illinois procurement officers are charged with recruiting technicians for hospitals in this state as well as in Texas, Michigan, Utah, California, Washington, and Missouri. Women from Illinois will train as units at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and at any of several medical department technicians' schools. Units then will be sent to hospitals for which they were recruited. One company will be assigned for each 1,000 beds at a general hospital.

Women 20 thru 49 years of age, with a minimum of two years of high school education, are eligible, provided they can pass physical tests, for enlistment as WAC medical technicians. They may select the hospital at which they wish to do initial duty. Friends joining the army together may remain together during training and initial assignment.

Among Chicago area women who recently enlisted as hospital WACs at recruiting headquarters, 175 W. Jackson blvd., are Miss Albina Sruoginis, 5227 S. Sawyer av., Miss Evelyn Almquist, Rockford, Ill., and Miss Frances Johanson, Argo. All three expect to leave soon for Fort Oglethorpe.

Miss Sruoginis, a woman with college training, was a laboratory technician at the University of Illinois and a Red Cross first aid volunteer instructor before enlisting. Because of her civilian training, it is likely that she will be a laboratory technician in the WAC.

Miss Almquist, a secretary for several years after graduation from high school, studied nursing in the Peck Memorial hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., and subsequently worked as a floor nurse in the North Rockford hospital. When her three brothers went into uniform she signed up with the WAC to make her family's enlistment complete, even tho she knew that her civilian hospital work was regarded essential.

Miss Johanson, who had some nursing training in high school in Argo, enlisted in the WAC when she learned that her brother, an infantryman overseas, had been wounded at Anzio.

Thru the Looking Glass

The bobby socks set is going to go stark raving mad with enthusiasm over the latest lipstick. It's so-o-o dark, resembling purplish flame, that it might even displace Sinatra in their affections.

And don't think their mothers and sisters and aunts won't be almost as daffy about it. It's new, beautiful, and different—a very rich, warm, and deep red with fuchsia notes. For the woman who likes the sultry shades, it's a find for this winter and the coming spring.

There is a nail polish to match it exactly. The polish is a jewel—deep but not darkly depressing, and not the blood-red that is unappetizing. It's beautiful in a new way, and it's going to be one of the highest of high kites in the fashion sense.

There even is a face powder to wear with this brand new and dramatic lip and nail coat. The powder, too, is interesting and wearable and gives the face a new kind of finish.

But the lipstick, we expect, will be the sensational success, and the nail polish will tag right along. The color is something super with almost any costume color. If you're the woman who likes dramatic accents and can wear them it's very much your dish. The youngsters, who like the deep shades to contrast with their smooth, white skin and who believe that stark shades are synonymous with oomph will be flashing it in no time.

None of the items is terribly expensive and all are good. The lip rouge is smooth and sticks well. The polish has everything—body and luster and durability. With all this and fashion flare, too, what more could you ask?

'Private Investigator Maclain'. . . . . By Baynard Kendrick

(Copyright: 1945: By Baynard Kendrick.)

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

AN ENCOUNTER.

Maclain made a second encircling survey, following the wall and hesitating a second at every window and door, then he went under the arch and into the alcove.

Davis grunted, then ambled under the archway and stretched himself out on the floor. The captain stooped and felt the inspector's head, feet and hands.

"Okay."

Maclain sat down at the kidney desk and began to toy with the head of a brass key in the kidney desk drawer.

"Have you a list of the articles found on Sybella?" The captain asked Davis.

"I always have everything," said Davis as he read off, "In her bag, 20 dollars cash, a gold pencil and notebook, vanity case and lipstick, gold wrist watch not running, 84 cents in change in the change purse, handkerchief, shopping list, two opened letters."

"Somebody tried to kill her," said Duncan Maclain. "What for?"

"Well, why didn't he get out? What's the matter with the door? You wouldn't admit, would you, Larry, that this man might have been up here searching for something, which would clear Larmar Jordan?"

"No, I wouldn't," said Davis morosely. "You wouldn't be admitting, would you, captain, that that was what Sybella was looking for?"

"Yes, I would," said Duncan Maclain, "and I think she found it. That's what makes me sore. That person who hit her was in the closet, Larry."

"Let me look over the rest of the place and I'll tell you."

He got up and took the inspector's arm, and with Dreist sticking close to his side, inspected the bathroom, bedroom, and kitchen. In the kitchen he felt the open window and said, "Take a look out there, Larry. Shoot your flashlight around."

The inspector leaned out and said, "Fire escape, with a ladder to the roof made for burglars." He pulled back inside. "That's probably how the man got in."

"I doubt it. I think he had a key to the door, but I think that's how Sybella got in."

"Your bedtime stories interest me, captain. Tell me more."

"I think the man who hit Sybella had a key to the place," Maclain stated flatly. "I think he knew about this fire escape and opened the window as a means of exit in case some one came to the door. Sybella had no key. Take a look in that waste basket by the kitchen sink, Larry."

"You just got thru rummaging around in it," said Davis, but he crossed nevertheless and shined his flashlight in it.

"There are three damp paper towels in there," said Duncan Maclain. "Are they dirty?"

"Very."

"Sybella climbed down by the ladder, got in here and washed her hands in the sink. The man was in the living room and so intent on something that he didn't hear her. As a matter of fact, I don't think he heard her until she was close to the living room door. There's no place to hide in that living room, Larry, except in the closet. I think he hid in there and took a chance that she wouldn't stay long."

"If she was searching the place, why didn't she find him?" the inspector asked.

"That's an old fashioned closet," said Duncan Maclain. "It locks with a key. The key's inside the door. I think Sybella found something in that kidney desk that took her a long time, so long that the man in the closet got nervous. I think we may have trouble, Larry. Switch off the light, but don't pull your gun with Dreist around."

Dreist drove in like a big brown comet, snaked up sideways, and jumped before the man with the deep cleft chin could raise his arm to fire.

"If you move he'll tear you to pieces," said Duncan Maclain, and spat a quiet order to Dreist.

"I'll tear you to pieces if you don't get that dog off of me," said Gallagher. "What right have you to be prowling thru my wife's apartment? What are you and that copper looking for?"

"What about it, Larry?" the captain asked, "shall I let him up?"

The inspector grimaced. "He's doing us no good where he is. Maybe he knows something."

Maclain gave the dog a sharp command. Dreist reluctantly backed away from the prisoner and took his post at the captain's side. The inspector took a step forward and Maclain warned, "Wait! Don't pick up the gun. Slide it near to me where I can get it myself."

The captain leaned over, picked up the revolver and put it in his pocket. "You'd better give him a once-over, Larry. He may have another."

Gallagher said, "Who do you think you've captured, Billie the Kid?"

"Okay, let him up," said Davis.

Gallagher got up slowly, rubbing his arm and eyeing the place where Dreist's teeth had ripped the cloth of his blue serge coat. "The law works both ways. I've a permit for that gun and I have a right to use it in defense of my home."

"You've been reading too many books," Davis told him. "Right now you have the permit, but we have the gun. Let's go into the living room and sit down."

"I came up here to find out something," said Gallagher, as they moved off down the hall. "You've nothing on me. I don't need to run."

Patterns by Clotilde for Spring Fashions Are Offered in Book

Its 24 pages, illustrated in color, offering scores of designs for new fashions, the spring edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Patterns now is available in plenty of time for Easter sewing. It may be purchased for 15 cents at the counters of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and Tribune Tower lobby, or for 12 cents if ordered with a pattern from Chicago Tribune Clotilde Patterns, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, New York City.

Included are patterns for every age, including prize winning designs in THE TRIBUNE'S 1944 American Fashions competition, adapted for simple sewing. Other smooth, modern fashions are youthful and gay dresses with classical lines, patterns for blouse and skirt twosomes, and several patterns for sports clothes.

Under the apt title of "silhouette sorcery" is a group of designs styled to lend the illusion of slimness to the overweight figure. Special patterns for smart cottons also are featured, as are aprons, children's and infants' clothes, and designs for handmade lingerie.

Cakes made with sirup never are quite as fluffy and tender as those made with sugar, but it is possible to make a very good cake using honey or corn sirup, nevertheless. Such a cake must be beaten thoroly, at each stage in the mixing.

This orange cake is made with sirup only. Not a bit of sugar is used in cake or frosting.

Orange Sirup Cake.
[Two 8-inch layers.]

- 2¼ cups sifted cake flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup margarine or vegetable shortening
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 1 cup light corn sirup
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- ½ cup orange juice

Sift flour, measure and add baking powder and salt. Sift together three times. Cream fat with orange rind. Add corn sirup gradually, mixing very well after each addition. Add a fourth of the flour and beat until smooth and well blended. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add remaining flour in thirds, alternately with orange juice in two parts, beating well after each addition. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans at 375 degrees for half an hour or until done. Put together and frost with seven minute icing made with sirup.

ICING: Place 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1½ cups light corn sirup, and a sprinkle of salt in the top compartment of a double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until thoroly mixed. Place over boiling water and beat constantly for 7 minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Peanut Butter Chocolate Cake.
[Two 8-inch layers.]

- 1¾ cups sifted cake flour
- ¾ teaspoon soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 3 tablespoons peanut butter
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, measure, add soda, salt, and sugar. Sift together three times. Cream shortening and peanut butter until well blended. Mix in melted chocolate. Add sifted dry ingredients, milk, and vanilla. Stir until flour is dampened. Beat vigorously for 1 minute. Pour into two greased layer pans and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until done. Frost with confectioners' icing or boiled frosting, and drip with bittersweet coating, if desired.

BITTERSWEET COATING: Melt 2 squares chocolate and 2 teaspoons margarine over hot water and blend. Cool slightly and pour over frosted cake, coating top and letting chocolate drip down sides.

Recent Movie Fine Portrayal of Family Life

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you happen to have been reading recently a certain type of cut-and-dried book on child training; if you're trying to make every act of your child fit a certain ideal of correct behavior and manners which you have built up; or even if you may suspect you're getting to be what we call a little "stuffy" as a parent—go to see "National Velvet," the recently released movie.

Rarely do we see anything comparable on the screen, altho we sometimes do in a book. Some years ago I ran across a novel by Enid Bagnold [the author of "National Velvet"] which was called "Birth"; and it came again to my mind last night when looking at the picture, because in both books she shows that she has great insight into a mother's heart—and that of a child.

The mother in "National Velvet" is a fascinating characterization; she understands each of her different children, in the deepest sense of the word, and handles them skillfully, unconventionally, and tolerantly, while her treatment of her husband is priceless. Her response to the ardent, exquisite child's [Velvet] dream about the glorious horse, Pie, is something many of us who are parents might well carry around in our hearts.

Well, I won't say more, because I think it is more interesting to meet a book or play without too much being known in advance. Only, go to see "National Velvet."

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Take a Hint From Grandmother

Old Man Weather surely keeps us humping these days and it's a full time job to fill the empty cavities inside us with good "rib sticking" food—the kind Grandmother used to feed her family. Take a hint from her menus and serve nourishing meat and vegetable stew often. It will help stretch those precious red points, too. Grandmother added dumplings to her delicious stew which helped make it go-round. A good tip for today, too.

Old-Fashioned Stew and Dumplings—A Grand Point Saver

- 2 lbs. boneless veal
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 4 tbsp. Wilson's Bake-Rite
- 8 cups boiling water
- 4 tsp. Wilson's B-V
- 6 med. potatoes, quartered
- 8 small onions
- 6 medium carrots
- 1 cup lima beans, fresh, frozen or cooked
- 6 stalks celery

Cut veal in cubes, dredge with flour, mixed with the salt and pepper, and brown in hot fat. Add boiling water and B-V. Bring to a boil and simmer 1 hr. Add potatoes, onions, carrots, lima beans and celery. Continue cooking until vegetables are tender (about 40 min.). Meanwhile mix drop dumplings, using your favorite recipe. Drop by teaspoonfuls on top of the meat and vegetables (not in the broth). Cover tightly and steam 15 to 18 min. for small dumplings—longer for larger ones. Don't lift the cover for a peek if you want light, feathery dumplings. When done, remove meat, vegetables and dumplings and thicken liquid by adding ¼ cup flour mixed to smooth paste with an equal amount of water. Serves 8.

Clip Recipe Here

SAVE TIME

If you want to save time—and who doesn't these days—make enough stew for two meals. Serve it the first meal with light, fluffy dumplings. For the second meal, place left-over stew in a margarined baking dish (add more B-V gravy if needed) and top with fluffy, mashed potatoes. Bake at 375° F. until golden brown (about 20 min.) and presto! a delicious Shepherd's Pie.

SAVE POINTS

Clip the point value chart when it appears in your newspaper. Extra copies are hard to get now due to the paper shortage.

Budget your points carefully for each week, making sure to build up a small reserve for an emergency.

Study the point value chart carefully, and use point-free and low-point meats as much as possible. Plan second and third choices in case you can't get your first choice. You are less likely to splurge if alternate plans are made.

One of the easiest ways to save points I know of is to use margarine on the table. For a real taste treat, use Wilson's Certified Margarine. It is mild and sweet—just what you want in a spread.

Sincerely yours,
George Rector

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament has been a going concern now for 18 years. Its territory back in 1928 was modestly confined to a few midwestern states with comparatively small communities furnishing the bulk of the competition.

Since that first tournament, expansion has been necessary year after year as public clamor brought more towns and cities into the organization until it became nationwide in scope—extending from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic seaboard and from the Canadian line to the Mexican border.

Milwaukee Among Pioneers.

It was in 1931, three years after Chicago launched the venture, that Milwaukee, this pulsing, thriving industrial capital of Wisconsin, came into the picture on a small scale and became one of the pioneers of the great undertaking. This start, sponsored by the Milwaukee edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and directed by a vigorous young man named Charles Nevada, provided for three shows, the first consisting of eight bouts, the second of six, and the finals of seven.

Last night the 15th annual Milwaukee tournament, now sponsored by the Milwaukee Journal but still directed by Nevada, swept thru its semi-final program. Thirty-six bouts were scheduled and 30 were fought to the cheers of a capacity crowd of 8,000 in the Auditorium. Several hundred fans were turned away, and advance ticket sales point to the same situation Friday night, when eight novice and eight open champions will be crowned, the latter to make the trip to Chicago for the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium Feb. 26, 27, and 28.

Maintain Gym for Amateurs.

The Journal, thru the energetic direction of Nevada and the wholehearted coöperation of the Wisconsin state athletic commission, particularly Len Kenney and Jerry Schramm, and the Wisconsin A. A. U., represented by Peter Murphy Jr., has given Milwaukee fans what they demand—good boxing, and lots of it. Before the war the attendance, receipts, and entries had mounted annually and some Golden Gloves shows produced as many as 65 bouts.

A Golden Gloves gymnasium is maintained, free to amateur boxers and with an able coach, Fred Saddy, in charge. Saddy, secretary of the athletic commission and chairman of the rating committee of the National Boxing association, has focused his attention primarily on novices. He has worked out a system of public tryouts to enable the lads to gain experience and confidence.

Maier Only Champion.

Results of the backing by Golden Gloves officials have been noteworthy, tho the city has been able to send only one boy all the way thru the finals in Chicago. He was Dave Maier in 1928. To them, however, championships are of secondary importance. The pleasure the boys get out of the Golden Gloves setup comes first.

Then, too, charity gets its share of all Golden Gloves activity. In the last two years the Red Cross has been given $15,000 as $20,000 went to other welfare organizations. The monetary purpose of this year's tournament is to raise $5,500 to be given to the Milwaukee Boys' club to equip a boxing room in the club's new building and $1,500 to be advanced on the purchase of an organ at the Waukesha Industrial School for Boys.

THINKS OF LEATHER FLURRY

C. Y. O. Hopes to Dethrone Savoy Boxers

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Eight of the 32 finalists in the city Golden Gloves tournament in Marigold Gardens Monday night are members of the Catholic Youth organization, which is making a strong effort to dethrone the Savoy Athletic club as team champion.

The Savoy club, which captured the 1944 team trophy by scoring 21 points to the C. Y. O.'s 11, has nine candidates remaining in the meet, one of whom will be contending for the novice light heavyweight title.

Savoy and C. Y. O. boxers will be pitted against each other in only two open bouts—light heavyweight and heavyweight. In other matches on the 16 bout card—eight each in the open and novice classes—they will fight sectional champions representing the Madison Athletic club, Fort Sheridan, 87th Street Naval Training school, Duncan Y. M. C. A., Elgin Boys' league, or South Chicago Y. M. C. A.

Here Are C. Y. O.'s Hopes.

Open division—Joe Lindsay, heavyweight; Art Raby, 175;. Joe Plummer and Salvador Melendez, 118, and Don Uyeda, 112.

Winners in the open class will qualify for competition against 27 out of town squads in the Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium Feb. 26, 27, and 28, while the city novice title holders will end their fighting Monday until next year when they will be eligible to compete in the open division.

However, results of all contests Monday are equally important since

BASEBALL PUTS $2,630,460 IN WAR AID CHEST

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Earl Hilligan, American league press agent, yesterday took some of the sketchiness out of tabulations and supplied figures to prove that baseball in the war period has done something more tangible than build up military morale on hotdogs and peanuts. According to the audit just completed by Hilligan the American and National leagues have raised $2,630,460 for war relief during the last three seasons.

In addition to the hard cash, of course, baseball has participated in various bond selling drives.

The last three world series have raised a total of $1,062,918. Other contributions have come from war relief games, three All-Star games, and the major league-service team game in Cleveland in 1942.

A total of $345,449 has been given by the majors for the purpose of supplying service teams with baseball paraphernalia. Last season the All-Star game in Pittsburgh yielded $81,275 to this fund, to which was added $25,000 from the two leagues and the commissioner's office and the $25,000 radio fee.

World series and radio	391,619
National league war relief games	122,771
Baseball equipment fund	131,275
Total	$ 851,405
1943.
American league war relief games	$ 151,439
World series and radio	308,373
National league war relief games	175,118
Baseball equipment fund	90,174
Total	$ 725,104
1942.
American league war relief games	$ 238,205
World series and radio	362,926
National league war relief games	267,895
Baseball equipment fund	124,000
War relief from All-Star game at New York and service game at Cleveland	60,925
Total	$1,053,951
Total	2,630,460

There was unusual action in the Cub clubhouse yesterday when it dawned on Trainer Andy Lotshaw that the Cubs will depart for their training camp in French Lick, Ind., a month from last night. Andy, who also is the team baggage master, immediately began packing his trunks.

Tho the White Sox contracts have been out for 10 days, the signing of none of the south side stalwarts has been announced. However, Vice President Harry Grabiner opened one letter yesterday that elated him even more than he will be with the signing of Gordon Maltzberger. It was a letter from Capt. Ted Lyons of the marines informing him that the team's long-time pitching ace is coming back to the United States from the South Pacific and expects to be here for the opening day of the baseball season as a spectator.

BRUCE SMITH SIGNS TO PLAY WITH PACKERS

He'll Report After Leaving Navy.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Ensign Bruce Smith of the navy, a pre-war star half back at the University of Minnesota, has signed a two year contract with the Green Bay Packers. This was reported yesterday to the National Football league by Earl [Curly] Lambeau, coach of the professional champions, who is in Los Angeles. Smith's contract becomes operative upon his return to civilian life.

Lambeau had his eye on the Gophers' all around back during his brilliant Western conference career and selected him in the 1941 league player draft. This is the second major post-season transaction by Lambeau, who recently added Walter Kiesling, former coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, to his staff.

Starred for Gophers.

Smith, who is 24, played at Minnesota in 1939-'40-'41 and participated in the Gophers' string of 17 consecutive victories thru the 1941 campaign. He was the kingpin of the team's attack as a passer and runner.

Before entering the navy early in 1942 he underwent an operation for a knee injury. While an apprentice seaman at Great Lakes, Smith was elected to the 1942 College All-Star squad and started in the back field. The Stars were beaten by the Bears, 21 to 0, but Smith's play was so outstanding that he was voted the outstanding player on his squad.

Wins Two Awards.

In 1942 Smith was the back field star of the Great Lakes eleven and the Washington [D. C.] Touchdown club selected him as the outstanding service player of the year. While at Minnesota he had won the Heisman trophy, emblematic of the top college player of the year.

Smith's home is in Faribault, Minn. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 195 pounds. He now is based at Green Cove Springs, Fla.

Ralph Brizzolara, who is pinch hitting as the Bears' general manager during the absence of Lt. Comdr. George Halas in the South Pacific, said last night that the team has not signed any big name players now in the service whom they have selected in draft meetings since the war. Brizzolara believes that the quality of personnel in the National league next season will be at least slightly above that in 1944.

Doug McEnulty, who was used at full back, right half, and guard by the Bears last season, has been inducted into the army, according to reports from Wichita, Kas., his home town. Large Doug, father of three, was sent to the induction center at Fort Leavenworth. There he reports seeing Clyde [Bulldog] Turner, the Bears' all-league centers. The Bears are expecting to hear any day that their freshman guard, Ed Sprinkle, has left for the army.

A Broken Cue Adds to Woes of Greenleaf

Ralph Greenleaf enlivened last nights' world's pocket billiard title match with Champion Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia by breaking his cue in a fit of temper after missing an easy shot. This happened in the 12th inning, after which the fans at Bensinger's 131 S. Wabash av. recreation watched Mosconi take the match, 125 to 82, in 29 innings. Greenleaf had won the afternoon session, 125 to 73.

Mosconi now has won five of the six blocks played in Chicago and has increased his lead in the challenge match to 1,898 to 1,551. The rivals will play afternoon and night thru Sunday, it having been decided to stretch the Chicago engagement an extra 24 hours before transferring to Detroit.

Greenleaf, noted for his temperamental outbursts, had another stormy period after the cue-shattering incident. He scratched in three consecutive innings, the 21st, 22d, and 23d and this cost him 16 points.

Mosconi had high run for the day, with 37 in the seventh inning of the afternoon duel. Greenleaf clicked off 32 in the 10th inning of this engagement. In the night play, Mosconi ran 29, Greenleaf 28.

The Yankees' failure to win the flag might be charged to their futility against the Athletics on double header days. . . . The A's swept three with the New Yorkers.

Babe Ruth Hits 51st; Pop Time Is the Pitcher

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Babe Ruth hit No. 51 today. The big guy is creeping up on the record of 60 he set in 1927, but this time the measuring stick is years, not home runs.

"I'm just having a little birthday party tonight," he wheezed, punctuating the words with hoarse barks resulting from a heavy cold. "Twenty people? O, there'll be more than that."

Picks 1927 Yankees as Best.

"Nearly 20 years since I made that record," he mused. "Seems like four years ago. When did I hit my 51st home run that year? I'll tell you exactly." He hoisted his great bulk out of the chair and waddled from the room, returning in a moment.

"It was Sept. 13 in Cleveland, off Willis Hudlin," he said. This seemed like a phenomenal memory feat until a big framed picture was observed on the wall of his den, the photo of the Babe surrounded by drawings of 60 baseballs, each listing the number, date, place, and pitcher of a home run in that record string.

He thinks the 1927 Yankees were the best all around club he ever played on, but says the Boston Red Sox of "1915 or 1916" was the best defensive club. As for baseball this year, he thinks the major leagues will force their way thru somehow.

Time Flies for Babe.

He's worried right now about his lack of exercise. He hasn't been able to do much since an operation on his knee eight months ago.

"Can only bowl about three games a day," he explained. "The knee's getting better all the time, tho. When I can get out to play golf I'll be all right. Weigh 260, but don't eat much. Just my nature to get fat, I guess."

It was remarked that in his glory days he would be wrangling over salary about now, and trotting down to Artie McGovern's gym to get boiled out. The Babe rubbed his scarred knee thoughtfully and again focused a dreamy gaze on the frigid Hudson. He was silent a long time. Finally he spoke:

"Nearly 20 years. I can't believe it."

LEWIS LEADS BOILERMAKERS WITH 21 POINTS

Hoosiers Drop Into Tie for Cellar.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 7 [Special].—Purdue assured itself of at least a .500 rating in the final Big Nine basketball standing as it went on a scoring spreed in the second half to defeat Indiana tonight, 62 to 48. It marked the sixth victory in 10 conference starts for the Boilermakers, and the fifth loss in seven Big Nine games for the Hoosiers, who dropped into a three-way tie for the cellar.

In scoring their 55th triumph in 73 games in the long series Purdue was forced to come from behind after Indiana had taken a 33 to 29 half time lead. Bob Lewis led the Boilermakers with 21 points.

Purdue Comes to Life.

The Boilermakers, who had been caught napping during the first 20 minutes of play when the Hoosiers were breaking loose for easy shots under the basket, suddenly found their stride as the second period got under way. Paul Hoffman, Lewis, and Charlie Haag scored baskets to give Purdue the lead for the first time, 35 to 33.

Purdue's comeback seemed to dishearten the Hoosiers, and midway of the half the Hoffman-Lewis-Anderson triumvirate was largely responsible for increasing the margin to 44 to 37. The Boilermakers, with Dean Trump, rangy reserve forward, replacing Anderson and controling many of the rebounds, then went into high gear and romped ahead, 56 to 44, on brilliant under the basket shooting that found Hoffman, Lewis, and Trump taking turns dropping in field goals.

Indiana Can't Slow 'Em Down.

Indiana did its best to slow the Boilermaker basket barrage with a host of substitutions, but the Purdue speed attack was not to be denied. Purdue's driving game, centering around the brilliant floor work of Hoffman, coupled with some expert marksmanship, was responsible for the victory. Indiana beat Purdue earlier this season, 51 to 50.

Big Leagues Rush Hunt for Commissioner

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—League offices will be used as a clearing place for discussion and investigation of baseball commissioner candidates, it was reported today amidst rumors that three-man steering committees had been named to comb the field for possibilities.

Altho no call for another joint session is expected before March 15, league owners will be in continuous contact even to the point of a possible telegraphic poll on candidates.

Under the new major league agreement, 12 of the clubs must favor the czar who is to succeed the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis. Only nine votes were needed under the old regulations.

J. Edgar Hoover shot to the top of the list on his statement in behalf of war time baseball but the group demanding immediate action was looking elsewhere for a man who could take charge as soon as he is named.

James Farley, prominently mentioned for the post for the last five years, appeared to be gaining support, altho he had not gone on record as being "available."

Altho the boom for President Ford Frick of the National league appeared to have collapsed, the former newspaperman still had a block of votes.

Once the Petersen Classic was won with a tabulation of 1,588. This was in 1922 and Louie Levine of New York was the winner. When the 40th of 54 squads which will bowl in the Classic now in progress at the Archer-Thirty-Fifth recreation left the drives late last night the 1,585 posted Sunday by Charley Boehm of Detroit still was high.

C. Y. O. GLOVERS TO BATTLE SAVOY FOR TEAM CROWN

three points are scored for each winner in both the open and novice classes. Each losing finalist will earn one point.

It's Irish vs. Irish.

One of the most promising prospects among the novice qualifiers is Tom Hickey, 16 year old sophomore at St. Rita's High school. Hickey, south side champion, will meet Glenn Murphy, north side victor from the Madison A. C., for the featherweight championship.

Tom, who lives at 9312 S. Ashland av., started boxing in the C. Y. O. tournament last December, winning two preliminary fights before being eliminated in the finals. But he was given considerable teaching in the fundamentals of the sport before that time by his dad, Dan, and three older brothers—Lt. Lawrence Hickey of the navy, Dan Jr. of the coast guard, and Eddie. He also has been given pointers by the Rev. John Lehan, his religious teacher at St. Rita, who used to be a professional fighter.

They're in Tom's Corner.

In addition, Tom, one of the most popular pupils at school, will get an impetus at Monday's big test by moral support from his mother and sister, who will be at the ringside, as will the Rev. Lehan.

Lt. Hickey, who played right half back on the Cornell football team last season while a student at the V-5 school there, sent his good wishes, along with regrets he will be unable to attend because of duties at Iowa Pre-Flight, where he is a member of the boxing and track squads.

BIG 10 DIRECTORS MOVE MEETING BACK TO FEB. 15

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 7 [Special].—Postponement of the special meeting of Western conference athletic directors, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, until Thursday morning, Feb. 15, at 10 o'clock at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, was announced today by Guy [Red] Mackey of Purdue, chairman of the directors' group.

The postponement, according to Mackey, came when it was decided more time was needed to complete the proposed revision of the conference code relating to the conduct of intercollegiate athletics and the powers of the commissioner.

Mackey said it was impossible to state whether a new commissioner to succeed the late Maj. John L. Griffith will be elected at the Feb. 15 meeting. "We are anxious to arrive at a decision as soon as possible," said Mackey.

SLUM AREAS VIEWED AS GARDEN SPOTS IN POST-WAR PROGRAMS

An example of how a blighted area between Chicago and Grand avs. from Ashland av. to Ogden av., could be rebuilt after the war by private construction into a garden type community of curving streets, parks, playgrounds, and homes, was shown to the city council committee on housing yesterday by H. Evert Kincaid, executive director of the Chicago plan commission.

The area, which has been designated by the plan commission as blighted, occupies 109 acres and has a population of 10,000. Rents average $13 or $15 a month per housing unit. These properties, which Kincaid said are overcrowded and insanitary, could be condemned by private builders under the new neighborhood redevelopment act.

All existing streets except the boundary streets were missing from the tentative plans shown to the housing committee, of which Ald. Lindell [9th] is chairman. The two public schools now in the area would be replaced by one modern school. Street areas would be reduced by half, eliminating traffic hazards, and 2,000 housing units would be erected.

SURPLUS SALE CASH DIVERTED TO AUCTIONEER

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Some of the receipts from auction sales of government surplus property were diverted "by error" into the bank account of the politically sponsored auctioneer, Jacob Goldberg, William Margulies, Goldberg's accountant, told the senate war investigating committee this afternoon. Margulies also admitted under cross examination that $2,500 of this was taken by Goldberg for incidental sales expenses, including coffee and sandwiches for auction spectators.

"He had no right to take any of these receipts," Sen. Hatch [D., N. Mex.] lectured the witness.

Says All Can Be Explained.

"But there is no shortage until the accounting has been completed," the accountant pleaded. "Everything can be explained."

"You can't change facts by changing the books," the senator retorted.

Don F. Brown, in charge of construction material for the Defense Plant corporation, earlier had admitted the government lacked an independent record of Goldberg's sales figures as divulged previously in the inquiry.

Margulies disclosed that the day the committee opened its investigation on Jan. 5 DPC employes worked thru the night copying from Goldberg's books to complete what purported to be a DPC record of the sales.

"It is obvious that this loose system must be improved," said Committee Chairman Mead [D., N. Y.]. "Government property and government money must be kept under government surveillance."

Amount Switched Not Disclosed.

The senators were left in the dark as to how much government money got into Goldberg's personal bank account. One figure of $9,000 was mentioned. It was also indicated that the federal authorities may have difficulty in learning all of the negotiations of sales figures at the two auctions under inquiry.

"The government is going to have to accept your accounting?" asked Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.].

"Yes," said Margulies.

The senators heard more about the political sponsorship of Goldberg in testimony by Walter E. Joyce, DPC vice president. Joyce admitted that he had made a favorable written report to his board of directors about Goldberg, altho he had adverse information about him which he said he had given the board orally.

Not Influenced by Letter.

Joyce testified that he was not influenced by a letter from Goldberg's partner, Herbert Brandt, saying that Jesse Jones had introduced Goldberg and Brandt, and another letter saying that their reliability could be certified by Bernard Baruch and by Herbert Bayard Swope, former New York editor now a consultant to Secretary of War Stimson. Joyce said that Jones had not introduced Godlberg or Brandt.

Ernest L. Olrich, president of Munsingwear, who for a time last year was in charge of surplus disposal, telegraphed the committee to repudiate Brandt's testimony that Olrich had asked the team to work for him.

Ferguson called to Joyce's attention a memorandum from DPC files on a report from a private investigator verifying the fact that Brandt's son was married to Swope's daughter. "Did you consider that fact significant enough to order an inquiry for verification?" he asked.

He Learns a Lot.

"It didn't mean anything to me," Joyce replied. "I thought Goldberg had something to offer, a merchandising approach to the disposal of surplus property. It was my error in judgment."

URGES REVISION IN U. S. SYSTEM OF CONTRACTING

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7 (AP).—A bill to substitute negotiated lump sum contracts for the present cost-plus and other systems of contracting for public construction was introduced today by Rep. Wasielewski [D., Wis.].

"There has been an erroneous impression," he said in a house speech, "that Uncle Sam is a sucker, that the federal government should be scalped at every turn, that because of our government's great wealth, it should be obliged to pay far more for the performance of services than a private citizen or corporation.

"Because it lacks a check on excessive costs and waste of man power and material, the cost-plus contracts have been grossly unfair to our government. The present competitive bidding leads to various unsavory practices and evils which result in bid peddling, chiseling, price cutting, inferior work, impeded progress, litigation, bankruptcy, economic waste, overcharging, and other unpardonable profiteering."

RUN OF LIGHT CATTLE NEARS RECORD LEVEL

Cattle feeders of the cornbelt again sold short-fed steers and heifers in near record volume at the stock yards yesterday. Receipts were 16,500 head, largest for a Wednesay since August, 1934, the drouth year, excepting one week when Tuesday was a holiday, and largest for a February Wednesday.

Farmers shipped 30 per cent more cattle than the average of the last four weeks and 41 per cent more than on the same day last year. Selling swelled the three day receipts to 44,600, largest for three consecutive sessions in February in 19 years. Chicago handled 26.6 per cent of the total at the 20 biggest markets this week. Prices held relatively steady.

Steady prices were paid for sheep and lambs. The $16.65 lamb top equaled the highest since last May. Hog receipts remained small and prices of nearly all stock held at the ceilings.

REAL SILK VOTES $8.50 PAYMENT ON 7 PCT. ISSUE

Real Silk Hosiery Mills yesterday declared a dividend of $8.50 on the 7 per cent preferred stock, which reduced the arrearage to $23.25. Central Illinois Public Service company authorized a $4 dividend on preferred to reduce its arrearage to $4.

A dividend of 15 cents was voted by Braniff Airways, payable Feb. 28, but representing a payment for the last quarter of 1944.

After three years of heavy restrictions, prospects for companies producing durable and consumer goods grow increasingly brighter due to the tremendous back-log of accumulated demand, which is constantly increasing.

Our Research Department has prepared a list of 23 well-diversified Common Stocks whose post-war prospects are important factors in their selection.

Demands End of 90 Pct. Rule by Burocracy

New York, Feb. 7 [Special].—Ninety per cent of the multitude of regulations issued in the name of the federal government to govern individual and business activities are the product of executive burocracy and less than 10 per cent stem from acts of congress, David A. Simmons, president of the American Bar association, asserted today.

Simmons' statement was prepared for the 26th midwinter conference of the trust division of the American Bankers' association, which is being conducted by mail because of war time restrictions on travel.

A rearrangement of federal power by congressional enactment was demanded by Simmons to reëstablish the checks and balances between the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government and maintain them without detracting from the present enormous power of the federal government.

Termed Dangerous, Growing.

He said he recognized that the congress itself unwittingly had defaulted in its obligation to the people by creating and maintaining the vast system of government agencies whose actions and policies are under direct control of the executive department.

To correct this "dangerous and growing tendency" Simmons suggested three steps:

1. "Let congress recapture its legislative power by the creation of its own bureau of legislation, under the immediate direction, supervision, and control of congress and its committees, to investigate and draft all subordinate rules and regulations needed to supplement any action of congress.

Unified Policing Urged.

2. "Create a system of minor federal courts. Localize them thruout the country in federal courthouses to be available for the prompt hearing of complaints involving the thousands of minor governmental regulations.

3. "Create a department of federal police headed by a cabinet member, placing in it all the necessary police officers, experts, and investigators now scattered thru the departments and agencies.

"With their detective forces, their legislative powers, and their judges and magistrates stripped away and placed where they belong, the remaining function of most of the agencies would be administrative."

CORN AND OATS FUTURES CLIMB; WHEAT IS EASY

Corn and oats futures rose yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade to new highs since mid-January on reports that 1½ million bushels of cash corn had been sold for shipment in the last few days, and on big premiums prevailing for cash oats compared with the May option. Corn futures closed ⅛ to ¼ cent a bushel higher and oats ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher. Wheat was unchanged to ¼ lower, rye ¼ higher to ½ lower, and barley ⅛ to ¼ higher.

Cash corn handlers reported an almost unlimited eastern demand and asserted sales were being made at ceiling prices for shipment as far ahead as next November.

STORMS IN EAST UPSET WESTERN RAILS' TRAFFIC

Box Car Shortages Become Acute.

Snow storms and persistent frigid weather in the northeast and east—particularly in the Mohawk valley in New York state—have upset both the freight and passenger departments of the western railroads by delaying returns of box cars and causing many persons to miss train connections in Chicago, officials of western railroads said yesterday.

J. J. Mahoney, Santa Fe railway general superintendent of transportation and chairman of the contact committee of the midwestern shippers advisory board, said that the weather plus the large increase in cars needed to transport munitions and other war material have reduced greatly the supply of available box car equipment.

Demand Rises in January.

"The Santa Fe box car situation as compared with a year ago would have been more satisfactory had it not been for the increased demand for this type of car for loading in January," he said. "Our records show an increase of nearly 4,000 box cars available Jan. 1, as compared with the same date in 1944, but on Feb. 1 there was a decrease of more than 5,000 cars from Jan. 1."

Mahoney said complicating factors in the tight box car situation have been the record 1944 grain crop, the big grain carryover, and increased demand from terminal mills and grain elevators for cars for domestic grain loading. At the same time orders have been large for similar cars to handle export wheat movements. An unusually heavy demand for box cars to move grain occurred at a time when the eastern storms were delaying the return of cars belonging to western railroads.

Hope to Relieve Shortage.

The box car shortage last year was most acute during the week ended Jan. 29, recalled Mahoney. By March 18 plenty of cars were available. He said it was hoped that various measures adopted to start freight cars moving in storm areas soon would relieve box car shortages on western lines. Measures taken include freight embargoes and curtailment of passenger service.

Passenger department troubles have been nearly as vexatious because storms have made trains from the east one to six or more hours late. Many of them carried passengers with reservations on western trains to the Pacific coast. Difficulty has been experienced in obtaining reservations on other trains for groups of passengers whose west bound trains left before they arrived.

Space Juggled; Hotels Full.

Frequently it was possible to find sufficient space on the later trains the same day to take care of many of those who had missed connections. Passengers detained overnight by late arrival of trains from the east sometimes have obtained space reserved the next day to California for other passengers whose trains did not get in Chicago in time for them to make connections that day.

The crowded hotel situation has made it difficult to obtain accommodations for passengers forced to remain in Chicago overnight.

One passenger official said some improvement had occurred in the hotel congestion since the ban on conventions, but that train space remained tight. He said that train reservations on the west coast were becoming increasingly scarce as men on leave from Pacific war areas came back home "with lots of whiskers and money and in a big hurry."

Retailers Protest OPA Plan for Uniform Price Markups

J. T. Meek

If the office of price administration should force a national average mark-up on merchants in an attempt to absorb price increases to manufacturers, retailers probably would find it necessary to seek congressional action to upset the edict, J. T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, warned yesterday.

"We cannot accept nation-wide averages to determine what part of this subsidy to manufacturers the individual merchant must pay to help hold the price line," he said. "OPA persists in its belief that all stores operate in the same way, provide the same services, sell the same type of merchandise, have the same costs.

"It has, for example, suggested to hardware retailers that shotguns should be priced on an estimated basis which would yield them only the average cost of doing business for the retail hardware trade for 1943. Yet at least 50 per cent of the hardware retailers have selling cost percentages higher than the average published by the OPA."

The federation recognizes that prices may be high in some lines, but believes these situations should be changed by consideration of individual store records, Meek said. An effort to "plaster the entire trade with average mark-ups," he asserted, "would tend to destroy competition and certainly penalize certain types of retailers on which consumers depend heavily.

Juggle Stock Sales to 'Beat' Number Game

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—The so-called "numbers racket" received a setback today when the nation's two largest stock exchanges revised their methods of reporting sales.

The revisions were worked out in compliance with a suggestion to the New York Stock exchange and Curb exchange by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, who said the figures were used as the pay-off for the numbers game, thereby hampering the work of police in halting gambling.

Use Approximate Figures.

The "big board" will revise its methods starting Thursday by printing on its tickers only the first two or three actual figures in the sales total with the remainder ciphers. As an illustration, if the total at the end of any hour or day was 1,586,430 shares, the ticker would print sales as "about 1,590,000." The same would apply for bond totals in dollars. The last figures have always been the "pay-off" group in the numbers game. Odds as high as 600 to 1 are reputedly paid winners who guess the right numbers.

Held Ruinous to Racket.

Exchange official said operators of policy games would be deprived of all except the first three figures and, because these could be determined in advance with some degree of accuracy, their use would be ruinous to the racket.

In his letter to Emil Schram, president of the stock exchange, La Guardia described his request for a revision of the figures as one "of great importance and social and economic significance."

APPROVE HIGHER TAX SALE PRICE IN WESTCHESTER

Judge William V. Brothers of Circuit court yesterday approved the sale of 800 lots in the village of Westchester to satisfy taxes and special assessments. The Gladstone Real Estate company paid $100,111 for the property.

The lots were bid in at auction Jan. 10 by Gladstone for $35,575. Objections were filed to the sale and Atty A. B. Manion informed the court he was willing to pay $100,000. He told the court yesterday he would not meet the higher bid of the Gladstone firm. The county was represented at the hearing by Assistant State's Atty. Julia Hagerty.

STOCKS RECOUP LOSSES, CLIMB TO 7½ YEAR TOP

Rails Are Leaders in Comeback.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—The stock market today made a slow turnaround after early heaviness and closed with most leaders moderately higher. The Associated Press 60 stock average reached a new 7½ year peak.

Rails were subjected to a little selling early in the session, but came back to spearhead the general recovery after a 3 point rise in Atlantic Coast Line. Firmness of American Telephone and comparative steadiness of industrials in the war group, despite more good battle news, also helped swell buying near the close.

Advancing Group Is Varied.

Up a point or more were Boeing, American and Foreign Power second preferred, and du Pont.

Fractional gainers included Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, New York Central, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Western Union "A," Pepsi-Cola, Sparks-Withington, International Telephone, Armour, General Motors, and United States Steel.

The 60 stock composite closed at 60.1, up 0.2 to a new high since Sept. 16, 1937. The rail average advanced 0.4. Transactions amounted to 1,499,470 shares, compared with 1,598,120 yesterday. Of 955 issues traded, 413 advanced, 282 declined, and 260 were unchanged.

On the Curb market prices were strong in smaller trade.

B. & O. BONDS ACTIVE, RISE.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—The bond market moved narrowly today, but the trend was higher among rails, utilities, and foreign dollar issues. A few carrier and foreign loans rose 1 to 2 points. Trading was relatively quiet at $9,457,300, compared with $9,975,700 yesterday.

Interest remained strong in obligations of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Turnover in its 10 listed bonds amounted to about $1,250,000 and gains ran from ½ to 1⅛ points.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange rose yesterday as turnover increased to 50,000 shares. Active issues included Commonwealth Edison, unchanged, and Raytheon preferred, Armour, and Chicago corporation, common, all fractionally higher. Sixteen issues set new 1944-'45 highs, including Goodyear, up 3¾; Dayton Rubber, up 2¾, and Peoples Gas, up 1½.

"Why Did You Appoint a Bank As Your Executor?"

"Because an executor is called on to do so many technical things, and my bank has the men who know what to do and how to do them."

When you appoint this bank as your executor, it will perform, among others, the following duties:

Take physical possession of and receive title to all assets other than real estate,* doing whatever is necessary, such as collecting debts, even by legal action, or winding up a partnership;

Inventory all assets of the estate—both real and personal property—and determine the value of all assets;

Estimate the cash necessary to satisfy claims and to pay taxes and expenses, liquidating weaker assets and such other assets as may be needed for the purpose;

Determine the money needed by the widow and any minor children, and arrange with the court for an allowance during the period of probate;

Determine the validity and propriety of any claims against the estate, and investigate any litigation to which the decedent was a party;

Do whatever is required, during the period of probate, in connection with the management of any business that is part of the estate, manage real estate if the Will so directs, and collect maturing principal and income;

Examine recent income and other tax returns of the decedent to determine if any refunds are due, and, if so, file claims;

Conduct necessary litigation to prevent the collection of any improper taxes;

Prepare estate, inheritance, income and other tax returns, both Federal and State, and make the necessary tax payments;

Take or continue such legal action as may be necessary to collect and protect the assets of the estate, and defend the Will, if contested;

Keep records of all transactions and obtain receipts for all disbursements;

Review all assets periodically, to determine if any should be disposed of to protect the estate;

Distribute the estate as directed by the Will, and submit a final accounting and report to the court.

*Real estate passes direct to those designated in the Will, subject to sale for debts, taxes, or expenses.

All legal and court duties are performed by counsel for the estate in cooperation with the executor.

This bank does not draw Wills. Your attorney must draft your Will. But by naming this bank executor, you can be sure that the duties of an executor will be performed by an organization that is experienced and financially responsible.

52 SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS TO START SOON

Supt. Johnson told the Chicago board of education yesterday that his office is processing the applications of 52 persons not holding Chicago Teachers college certificates for substitute elementary school teaching positions. Within a week 100 newly certified substitutes should be ready for jobs, he said. Assignments will be made as soon as credentials are cleared, he said.

The board approved the plan which is expected within a few weeks to supply teachers for the day-to-day absences of teachers which have left at times as many as 200 teachers absent a day due to illness.

Will Be Welcomed.

Applicants for substitute jobs will be welcomed at the board offices, 228 N. La Salle, Supt. Johnson said. He said applicants should present official transcripts of credits from a four year liberal arts or teachers' college with 15 hours of "education," or show evidence that they formerly taught in Chicago schools. The latter will be given preference in assignments, Johnson said.

Appointments Listed.

The board approved several educational department appointments and advancements:

Dr. Sophie Theilgaard, principal of Lucy Flower Technical High School for Girls, was elected superintendent of district 2 in place of Miss Lillian M. Tobin, retired; Miss Mary E. Marks, supervisor of household arts, was named director of household arts to replace Miss Frances L. Swain, retired, and Robert E. Lakemacher, principal of Moos Elementary school, was elected principal of Tilden Technical High school in place of Frederick E. Price, retired.

Clifford Campbell, assistant director of Dunbar Vocational school on the south side, was named director of the school; Clarence Carey, assistant director of Jones Commercial High school, was elected director, and Martin Brauns, acting director of Washburne Trade school, was named director.

NEGROES TELL TUOHY OF VICE ON SOUTH SIDE

Attention of State's Atty. Touhy was brought, yesterday to alleged vice and gambling conditions on the south side by a group of Negro ministers and civic leaders who called on him.

Members of the delegation included F. T. Lane, director of the civil education department of the Chicago Urban league; Mrs. Irene M. Gaines, president of the Chicago Council of Negro Organizations; the Rev. Joseph N. Evans, pastor of the Metropolitan Community church; the Rev. W. H. Griffin, pastor of the Grant Memorial African Methodist church; Mrs. Fannie M. Carter of the Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, and Morris Lewis, representing the Community council.
